Toward Candidates For State Offices

For Senatorial Candidates to Monopolize Officers?

Asks Mr. McCreary In Reply To Gov. Beckham.

Says Law Gives Each An Equal Proportion.

CONFERENCE WITH M'QUOWN.

Richmond, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Replying to a letter addressed to him by Gov. Beckham, Senator James B. McCreary to-day addressed a letter to the Governor, in which he agrees to one of the propositions made by the Governor, but declines to agree with him on the other. Senator McCreary agrees with Gov. Beckham that all the candidates shall be present when the State Committee arranges the order in which the names of candidates to be voted for at the coming State primary are to appear on the ballot.

As to the selection of election officers and the proposition made by Gov. Beckham, that he and Senator McCreary divide them equally, Senator McCreary asks the Governor if he thinks this would be fair to the candidates for the other offices. He suggests to the Governor that each of the candidates for any office, from the lowest to the highest, has the same and equal right to participate in the selection of the election officers, and declines to agree with the Governor that the minor candidates be ignored.

Senator McCreary says he is willing at any time that may be convenient to them both to go before the State Executive Committee with Gov. Beckham and confer with that committee regarding the plans for the primary, accepting an invitation given by Gov. Beckham.

The letter, which Senator McCreary completed yesterday afternoon, is as follows:

Richmond, Ky., July 21, 1906.—Hon. J. C. W. Beckham, Frankfort, Ky.—My Dear Sir: Your letter dated July 19, 1906, was received yesterday evening. It is true, as you state, that I have said that I am anxious that the Democratic primary, which is to be held in November for the purpose of nominating a Democratic candidate for United States Senator, and also for the purpose of nominating Democratic candidates for the various State offices, shall be fair and honest. I suppose every true Democrat in Kentucky will indorse this position, and I am glad that you so candidly say you unite with me in your desire to do everything in your power to guarantee that the primary shall be so fair and honest that neither you nor I can have just cause to complain of its conduct.

At a recent conference of my friends at Louisville, Ky., an Advisory Committee was selected, and that Advisory Committee, with my knowledge and consent, appointed a subcommittee to have a friendly consultation with Hon. Louis McQuown, chairman of the State Executive and State Central Committees, and also chairman of the subcommittee having in charge the details and conduct of the primary election. There were several questions connected with the primary election on which the members of the committee were not sufficiently advised, and as the primary election was for the purpose of determining in a harmonious manner who should be the nominees of the Democratic party, it was deemed best to consult Judge McQuown, but nothing was said about making a demand, the general desire being that all might understand the details of the primary by consulting with the chairman having the details and conduct of the primary in charge.

On many occasions I have publicly stated that I respect and admire Judge McQuown, and that I have great confidence in his ability, integrity and party loyalty, and I believe he will never consent to any unfairness or injustice in the holding of the primary election. The other members of the committee, of which Judge McQuown is chairman, are equally entitled to respect and confidence, and I cannot believe that either of them will knowingly permit injustice to be done any candidate.

I note your statement, that in order that a definite and tangible understanding between us should be reached, you suggest that you and I agree upon two propositions:

"First—That we shall request the committee that in the arrangement of names upon the ballot for that primary the candidates for Senator and for each other office to be voted for, shall be present at the drawing for places on the ballot for the office for which he is a candidate, so that all possible doubt may be removed as to the imagined advantage as to whose name shall be first."

As I understand this proposition, the candidates are to be present, and the place on the ballot of each candidate is to be determined by the drawing. As a candidate for United States Senator I consent to this proposition.

Your second proposition is as follows:

"Second—That we shall request the committee to provide that in the selection of election officers throughout the State in that primary, you and I as the only two announced candidates for Senator, and as that is the first office upon the ballot, be allowed to divide the election officers equally and fairly between us."

While it would certainly be giving you and me unusual privileges if we were allowed, as you propose, to divide the election officers equally and fairly between us, would that be just and fair to the various candidates for State offices whose rights under the primary election law are clearly defined, and I have no information that they consent to your proposition.

Sec. 121, Kentucky election laws, and Sec. 1,560, Kentucky Statutes, are as follows:

"The officers for each election precinct, in all primary elections held under the provisions hereof, shall be of the same number as is required and designated by law to hold regular State elections, and their duties and responsibilities shall be precisely the same as those of legally appointed and regularly qualified officers of regular State elections. They shall be appointed by the regularly organized and constituted committee or governing authority of the political party holding such primary election, and shall, before entering upon the discharge of their respective duties, take the same oath required to be taken by officers of regular State elections. The officers in each primary election precinct shall be selected from lists furnished by the various candidates, such lists to be furnished by the respective candidates to the committee or governing authority at least ten days before such primary election, and shall be as nearly equally divided as possible as to judges, clerks and sheriffs among the various candidates. The officers of all primary elections, held under the provisions hereof, shall have the same powers and privileges as officers of regular State elections, and shall be subject to the same restrictions, limitations and conditions. Any act or deed denounced by general law as an offense in the case of officers of regular State elections is hereby declared to be an offense in the case of officers of such primary elections, and shall be punished in the same form and manner as is prescribed by general law."

And Section 127, Kentucky Election Laws, is partly as follows:

"In all primary elections hereafter held in this Commonwealth, at which the whole number of candidates to be voted for does not exceed five, each candidate shall be entitled to designate, by written notice to the chairman of the county committee or governing body of the party, holding such primary election, not less than five days before the day fixed for holding such election the name of one person for each voting precinct in the county, to act as challenger and inspector for said candidate at the primary election at which he is a candidate. If there be more than five candidates to be voted for at the primary election, one-fourth of the entire number of such candidates may unite and designate, by written notice to the chairman of the county committee or governing body of the party holding such primary election, not less than five days before the day fixed for holding such primary election, the name of one person for each voting precinct of the county to act as challenger and inspector for all of the candidates so uniting: Provided, That no candidates shall be entitled to participate or unite in designating more than one inspector and challenger for each voting precinct."

I am not willing to request the committee to divide the election officers equally between you and me when such action would not be in accordance with the law, and would be unjust to the candidates for State offices.

I earnestly desire that the primary election be held according to the primary election law under which it is called, and if any modifications are made, the consent of all candidates should be obtained.

You suggest in your letter to me, that if I will meet you and go with you before the committee, all questions can be easily settled. I with pleasure state that if deemed necessary, I am willing to go with you before the committee at any time convenient to us both and agreeable to the committee. Respectfully,

JAMES B. M'CREARY.

CONFERENCE WITH M'QUOWN.

McCreary's Subcommittee Discusses Selection of Election Officers.

Frankfort, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Congressman A. O. Stanley, of Henderson; Representative Virgil McKnight, of Maysville, and Willa Viley, of Lexington, members of the committee named at the Louisville conference of friends of United States Senator McCreary to call upon Chairman Lewis McQuown, of the Democratic State Central and Executive Committees, and urge that the primary election to select nominees for Senator and State offices be fairly conducted performed that duty to-day. They spent several hours with the chairman in friendly chat and returned to their homes late this afternoon saying that everything will be done to secure what they and those they represent desire in the matter. John S. Rhea, of Logan, and Judge E. Barry, of Marshall, the other two members of the committee of five, were unable to be present.

The meeting between the McCreary committeemen and Chairman McQuown was held in the law offices of the latter, and following its close it was stated that there had been an agreement to give nothing to the press for the time being, except that the committee would later file with the chairman a brief setting out their views as to the proper construction of the primary election law, under which Mr. McQuown stated yesterday the election will be conducted.

* * *

No Disagreement.

It was announced that there was no disagreement as to the method as to the selection of positions upon the official ballot; but that the chairman believed that it would be illegal to allow the candidates for United States Senator to select all of the officers of election to hold the primary.

It is understood that the matters of difference, which are to be briefed and submitted to the chairman and the State Committee, are as to the selection of primary precinct officers by the State Executive Committee, instead of by the County Committees of the several counties, as was done in the first State primary, that held in May, 1903.

Chairman McQuown finds authority, he thinks, for his position as to the selection in the Section 1,560 of the Kentucky Statutes. That section reads as follows:

EMPEROR DISSOLVES RUSSIAN PARLIAMENT

St. Petersburg Placed Under Form of Martial Law.

Mailed Hand Laid On Large Portion of Kieff.

New Elections To Be Ordered In Later Ukase.

Troops Being Massed In the Centers of Population.

PREPARING AGAINST RIOTING.

St. Petersburg, July 22.—3:15 A. M.—An imperial ukase has been promulgated dissolving Parliament and fixing the time for the convocation of the newly elected Assembly as March 5, 1907. The conditions for the new elections will be published later.

A second ukase places St. Petersburg in a state of extraordinary security by the declaration of a minor form of martial law.

A large part of the province of Kieff, where armed uprisings are anticipated in consequence of the dissolution of Parliament, is placed under martial law.

UKASE WAS DRAWN UP ON THURSDAY.

Final Momentous Conference On the Matter Was Held At Peterhof Last Night.

St. Petersburg, July 21.—As the week closes, the dissolution of Parliament, with all the grave possibilities involved in such an event, is staring the country in the face. The Emperor, discouraged by his failure to form a coalition ministry and the distinctly revolutionary paths which Parliament has chosen, has apparently been persuaded to risk a final appeal from Parliament to the people, or, in other words, to dissolve Parliament and order new elections on the basis of universal suffrage. It is positively asserted that Thursday an imperial ukase authorizing the dissolution of Parliament was actually signed, but, in view of the manifest efforts of the Constitutional Democrats to nullify the effect of the resolution, action was postponed.

To-night, however, it is learned that the delay did not mean the abandonment of the decision to dissolve Parliament, and that a final momentous conference on the subject is being held at Peterhof. Exactly who is present cannot be learned, but it is understood that the Grand Dukes Gen. Trepoff and other court officials and one or two Ministers are at the palace.

* * *

Troops Being Massed.

Evidently the Government is not blind to the fact that the dissolution of Parliament will be accompanied by tremendous excitement, riots and bloodshed, if nothing worse. Troops are being massed at St. Petersburg, Moscow and other centers, prepared to apply physical force, and in addition to the guard regiments, which were hurriedly marched into the capital Thursday night, the entire Twenty-third division of infantry arrived here this afternoon from Pskov. This imposing military array is expected to overawe the masses. The Socialists and the Group of Toil in Parliament have prepared for an emergency. They have drafted an address for issuance to the country the moment the dissolution is declared.

Bloodshed Probable.

Bloodshed on a large scale, with a dictatorship in the background, is considered to be the inevitable sequel of a dissolution of Parliament, but the supporters of a dissolution claim that the Emperor must take the risk, arguing that new elections may give different results, and, in any event, that it is better to fight than to abjectly surrender to the revolutionary Parliament.

A prominent minister said to the Associated Press this evening:

"What alternative is left? Parliament has demonstrated its incapacity for constructive work, and has been engaged in simply inflaming the population to anarchy. Last night the police dispersed a nest of terrorists in which they found two members of Parliament actually discussing a list of persons condemned to be assassinated. We believe the Russian people are growing tired of anarchy and political murder. The price of a policeman's life at Warsaw has fallen to thirty copeks (fifteen cents), and it is easy to hire an assassin for that sum. Russia is not like foreign countries; America, for instance, where, when one Government falls, another is ready to take its place. Here, the masses are politically uneducated. The Government represents the thin veneer of civilization which covers the country, and if removed there is nothing to replace it. The Government must hold on until a stable regime is assured, or anarchy will supervene."

Situation Critical.

M. Yermoloff, former Minister of Agriculture and leader of the Conservative Centrists in the lower house, who several weeks ago vainly tried to form a coalition Ministry, in conversation with the correspondent of the Associated Press to-night declared that the situation was extremely critical, but he refused to believe that the Emperor had taken an irrevocable decision to dissolve Parliament, though he considered that such a step might become necessary. He was without hope, however, that a conflict could be avoided.

"The situation is so complicated," he said, " that it is impossible for any man to predict the course of future events, but I feel safe in predicting two things—first, that Russia will come to a constitutional basis; second, that there will be no great revolutionary cataclysm in the sense that foreigners anticipate. People abroad talk of the coming revolution in Russia, while failing to understand that a passive revolution has been in progress for forty years. The active revolution began with the assembling of the first Zemstvo Congress, a year and a half ago.

New Order of Things.

"The present travail is only a natural accompaniment of the birth of the new order of things. The main obstacle to the work of the peaceful reconstruction of the State is the implacable attitude of the different elements which are fighting the Government. Of course, it is useless to expect anything from the extreme revolutionists, whose object is not reconstruction, but the destruction of the whole fabric of the government. The more intelligent of the Constitutional Democrats, however, from whom much has been expected, instead of accepting the elementary principle of practical politics, that progress is made by a compromise, committed the mistake of thinking that they could ride on a revolutionary whirlwind into power. Two weeks ago they could have had the ministry if they had been willing to discard what was impractical in their programme. Now, that the extreme left has definitely broken with them, they begin to appreciate their blunder. If their prestige is not destroyed by their tactics and they have at last come to their senses, perhaps it may not be too late to tide over the present situation with a mixed ministry representing the Liberal and Conservative factions and in which they could participate. Otherwise they are bound to share the fate of their prototypes, the Girondist doctrinaires of the French Revolution, and the Government might be driven to a dictatorship. There is much truth in the contention of the Government that Parliament no longer represents the real sentiment of the country.

* * *

Masses Not Revolutionary.

"The masses are not revolutionary, as represented. The peasants, it is true, are 'land mad' and the Socialists are filled with dreams of an unattainable land Utopia. The occasion imperatively calls for practical men and practical measures. The people must not go on harboring false hopes. If the agrarian programme of the extremists was adopted there would not be enough land in Russia to satisfy the peasants, and the projected socialistic labor laws would ruin the country industrially. Personally I can see little hope of a reconciliation or real constructive work either with the present Parliament or the Goremykin ministry. With the new Cabinet and a new Parliament, a settlement is possible. The future is fraught with sad and deplorable possibilities. Riots and other disorders in the cities and agragarian excesses in the country will continue to characterize the political readjustment, but the country is too big for a general simultaneous uprising."

Czar's Message To Kaiser.

Berlin, July 21.—The Associated Press was semi-officially informed today that Emperor Nicholas has sent a message to Emperor William informing the latter that the internal situation in Russia is such that he has determined to forego his intention to meet the German Emperor beyond the frontiers of Russia, as previously agreed upon.

Attack On Police.

Mitau, July 21.—An armed band today attacked a detachment of police near Tukum, the scene of the massacre of dragoons last December, and killed a private and seriously wounding two officers. A squadron of cavalry relieved the hard pressed detachment.

Stripped of Court Honors.

St. Petersburg, July 21.—Prince Rutskoliubitski, Chamberlain of the Court, and one of the descendants of Rusik, the reputed founder of the Russian monarchy, has been stripped of all court honors on account of his revolutionary connections.

An Editor Arrested.

Ekaterinburg, July 21.—The editor of The People's Voice has been arrested for reprinting a reactionary article originally appearing in the Moscow Viedomosti, and the paper suppressed. The article incited the population to rise against the Liberals.

Anti-Jewish Disturbances.

Kaluga, July 21.—Anti-Jewish disturbances broke out in the village of Spasdelensk to-day. A mob beat Jews and plundered their houses. The troops fired a volley, killing two of the plunderers, and wounding many others. Order was restored.

Approved By Emperor.

St. Petersburg, July 21.—Emperor Nicholas has approved the plans of the Finnish Diet for the establishment of the new Uni-Cameral legislative body, which is to be elected on the basis of universal suffrage, without distinction of sex.

Russian Baron Assassinated.

Riga, July 21.—Baron Kampinhausen, a wealthy land owner, residing near Volmar, was killed by unknown men while inspecting his fields. He is the second Baron Kampinhausen that has fallen a victim to revolutionists this year.

Says He Is a Russian.

St. Petersburg, July 21.—The murderer of Gen. Koslov, of the headquarters staff, who was shot and killed in the English Park at Peterhof July 14, denies that he is a Jew. He says he is a Russian named Vassilieff.

ANNUAL SHAKE-UP

SALVATION ARMY OFFICERS BEING SHIFTED.

Ensigns W. C. Crawford and Mrs. Crawford Recalled—Camp-Meeting For Louisville.

The local Salvation Army corps, in common with all the other corps in this province, of which Cincinnati is headquarters, is undergoing its annual exchange of officers, and Ensign W. C. Crawford and Ensign Mrs. Crawford, who have commanded the corps for the past year, have reported to Headquarters for reassignment elsewhere. In the meantime Envoy John Heavey is in charge of the local forces. He will be relieved to-day by Lieut. Margaret Cramer and Envoy Minnie Kack, both of Owensboro, who will have charge of the operations against the enemy until the new commanding officer is sent from headquarters. Envoy Heavey, who will leave for Dayton, O., to-morrow morning, has a plan for a great camp meeting in Louisville similar to one now being conducted in Cleveland, which he will lay before his superiors.

It is the custom for officers commanding local corps of the Salvation Army to hold one post for one year, it being the belief of the commanding officers that the best results are obtained if a new man with fresh zeal is placed over each corps each year. Shake-ups similar to the one in progress in Louisville are going on in all the cities of the province, and envoys, who may be called ambassadors, usually are to be found temporarily in charge of the various corps.

The work of Ensign and Mrs. Crawford in Louisville in the year just completed is held in high esteem by the officers of the Army, according to what Envoy Heavey said last night. He said that he had found everything in connection with the work here in the best of condition and the spirit of harmony well developed. Ensign Crawford is not in the best of health and it is believed that, on that account, he will be given relief or some similar work to do in Cincinnati or elsewhere. Mrs. Crawford, who had an active part in the work in Louisville, and who had the same rank as Ensign Crawford, probably will be made an Envoy, which is a sort of an Inspector.

Envoy Heavey will go from Dayton to Cleveland, which is the center of the interest of the Soldiers of the Lord, just now. A tremendous camp meeting is in progress there. All the chief officers in the province are in attendance and Cleveland's sinful are stirred to the core.

"Louisville," said Envoy Heavey, last night, "ought to be stirred up. There is too much sin here and too little effort to save sinners. We saved one soul to-night, but there are hundreds and hundreds of others that are unsaved. The Cleveland camp meeting crowds one of the biggest parks every night and the same thing could happen in Louisville. I have a plan for a similar meeting here and will lay it before my superiors very soon and endeavor to prevail upon them to order a similar movement here.

BOWLES RESIGNS.

LEAVES AGRICULTURAL COMMISSION TO BECOME FAIR SECRETARY.

Guthrie M. Wilson, of Nelson County, Succeeds Him On the Board.

J. B. Bowles, of Nelson county, who yesterday resigned as a member of the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration, will be elected secretary of the State Fair, which will be held in Louisville September 17-22. The resignation of Mr. Bowles was accepted by Gov. Beckham yesterday and his successor named in the person of Guthrie M. Wilson, of Nelson county. Lawrence Jones, W. B. Moorman and W. T. Harris were selected at the meeting of the State Board Friday to select a secretary. This will probably be done to-morrow, as it is necessary to begin work at once on preparations for the approaching fair.

Lawrence Jones, W. T. Harris, W. B. Moorman and M. A. Scovell, appointed from the State Board as members of the Board of Control of the State Fair, will meet at The Seelbach at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. A resolution was adopted giving Peter Lee Atherton, Marion E. Taylor and Charles B. Norton, of the Joint Committee of the Louisville commercial bodies, the power to name four men from Louisville to serve on the Board of Control. The members of the Joint Committee will probably meet to-morrow morning and name the four members of the board, so that they can meet with the State Board members at 11 o'clock to-morrow morning. The names of Gen. John B. Castleman, Charles B. Norton, Ernest Norton, Marion E. Taylor and Lytle Hudson have been mentioned in connection with the appointments.

The meeting of the Board of Control to-morrow morning will be one of importance from the fact that the work on the fair to be held in Louisville will begin. Lawrence Jones will likely be elected chairman of the Board of Control, as he is the resident member of the State Board of Agriculture, Forestry and Immigration.

TOWN ATTORNEY SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Shoshone, Wyo., July 21.—Warren Moody, Town Attorney, was shot from ambush and killed about midnight last night. He was a son of the late United States Senator Moody, of South Dakota.

Moody had been rather active in suppressing the "sure thing" gambling in Shoshone during the registration for the drawing of homesteads on the Shoshone reservation.

PARLIAMENTARY UNION WILL OPEN TO-MORROW

WILLIAM J. BRYAN ONE OF THE DELEGATES.

MR. BARTHOLDT'S PROPOSITIONS ARE IMPORTANT.

MODEL ARBITRATION TREATY.

London, July 21.—The fourteenth conference of the Interparliamentary Union, organized to promote the arbitration of peace, will open Monday in the royal gallery of the Parliament building. Upwards of 600 delegates will attend. They represent the Parliaments of twenty-two countries, including Russia and Mexico and many of the Central and South American States which heretofore have not participated in the conferences. The union extends a specially cordial welcome to the Russians, as representing the world's youngest Legislature. The United States has a dozen delegates under the leadership of Congressman Richard Bartholdt, of Missouri, including Theodore C. Burton, of Ohio; John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi; Ebenezer J. Hill, of Connecticut; Ollie M. James, of Kentucky; Daniel L. D. Granger, of Rhode Island; Henry M. Goldfogle, of New York, and William J. Bryan, as a former member of the United States House of Representatives.

The most important business of the conference centers around two propositions of Mr. Bartholdt, submitted in behalf of the American delegation to the Brussels conference of 1905. The first proposes a ninternational congress and the second a model arbitration treaty to be submitted to the next conference of The Hague. The reports of the two committees appointed at Brussels, just issued, favor both propositions with certain modications. The arbitration treaty favored represents a compromise between the proposals of Mr. Bartholdt and those of Ernst von Plener, formerly Austrian Minister of Commerce, and make arbitration or an appeal to The Hague committee obligatory in a number of specied cases. It excludes questions affecting vital interests, national independence or sovereign authority. The Americans insisted upon the specification of these features in order to meet the objection of the American Senate to granting the executive unlimited authority to arbitrate.

The Americans intend to submit a resolution calling on all Parliaments to make appropriations to support the peace propaganda.

The council will debate the resolution before submitting it to the conference.

Many entertainments have been planned in honor of the delegates. King Edward will receive the chairmen and secretaries of each national group at Buckingham Palace at noon Thursday, and the conference will present the King with a gold medal struck in honor of the occasion. Each of the delegates will receive a silver medal.

CRUSHED TO DEATH ON TOP OF ELEVATOR.

Henderson, Ky., July 21.—Johnnie Davis, aged twelve years, son of Adolphus Davis, a hackman, was instantly killed at 1 o'clock to-day by the elevator at the Ohio Valley Banking building. Young Davis was on top of the cage without the knowledge of the elevator boy. When the cage reached the top of the building the lad was caught in the rope and the top of his head cut off. He was killed without making a sound. He was found a few moments later by passengers seeing the cage go down.

"WILD CAT" WELL PROVES GOOD ONE.

Campton, Ky., July 21.—The Postal Oil and Gas Company, of Lexington, which has been drilling for oil on the Isaac Hollon farm, about seven miles from this place, this morning brought in its well No. 1, at a depth of about 1,400 feet, and is said to be good for about twelve barrels per day. This well was drilled in what is termed "wildcat" territory, and a number of wells will be drilled between this place and that well in the near future.

NASHVILLE MAN SUCCEEDS JOHN HETTERMAN.

Nashville, Tenn., July 21.—[Special.]—At a meeting of the stockholders of the Nashville Union Stock Yards Company, W. J. Cummins, of Nashville, was elected president to succeed John Hetterman, of Louisville. It is believed these changes foreshadow the sale of the property to Chicago parties.

Treaty of Peace Signed By Central American Republics

Provides For Negotiation of Compact of Friendship, Commerce and Navigation Within Two Months.

Washington, July 21.—American Ministers Merry and Combs to-day advised the State Department that Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador had signed the following articles of peace:

Article 1—Peace established; withdrawal of armies within three days; disarmament in eight days.

Article 2—Exchange of prisoners; the release of political prisoners; general amnesty recommended.

Article 3—Vigilance of emigrados in order to prevent abuse of asylum.

Article 4—To negotiate treaty of friendship, commerce and navigation within two months.

Article 5—Any difficulties over treaty and all future concert complaints between the three countries shall be submitted to arbitration by the President of the United States and the President of Mexico.

Article 6—This treaty is made with the moral sanction of the mediating nations and others assisting at the conference, namely, Costa Rica and Nicaragua.

The State Department has no advices as to just when and where the three Central American nations will hold their meeting to negotiate a formal treaty of friendship in accordance with the articles agreed upon. Neither has Mr. Munoz, the Guatemalan Minister, any advices on this subject further than the mere statement in the article that the conference shall be within two months. It is believed by diplomatists that these negotiations may be conducted either in Mexico or the United States, because of the formal recognition by the Central American countries of this country and Mexico as arbitrators of their difficulties.

The recognition in the articles of Costa Rica and Nicaragua as constructive parties to the peace conference is regarded by State Department officials as being very significant, in that it really makes all five Central American Governments parties to the peace negotiations, and will prevent any complaints these Governments might offer as to the terms had they not been recognized by the conference.

The State Department has not had advices which indicate positively that Honduras was represented in the conference by its own conferees, but it is assumed that such was the case. It is not yet known whether Costa Rica and Nicaragua were represented by their own conferees or delegated their interests to Mr. Merry, United States Minister, accredited to those countries.

AMERICAN CONFERENCE WILL BEGIN TO-MORROW

Reorganization of the Bureau of Republics the First Thing On the Programme.

Rio de Janeiro, July 21.—The American delegates to the International American Conference, with the exception of Van Leer Polk, have arrived here.

Secretary Root is at Pernambuco on board the United States cruiser Charleston and will reach Rio Janerio on July 26.

The reorganization of the Bureau of American Republics so as to greatly enlarge the usefulness of that institution is the first article on the programme of the conference. It is proposed to erect a magnificent building in Washington for its accomodation; to open a commercial museum in connection therewith and, a suggestion based largely upon Latin-American suspicion, to limit the life of the bureau to a ten-year period. Some of the nations have failed to supply their pro rata assessments for the maintenance of the bureau with regularity—this is to be corrected.

A strong effort is to be made to bring about unanimous action of the American Republics to agree to settle by arbitration all future disputes arising between them, and to endeavor to have the approaching Hague Conference apply this principle generally to the nations of the world.

Difficult To Draft Codes.

An almost impossible task is to be set for a committee of jurists of high repute who are charged with the duty of drafting "a code of public international law and private international law" for this is by no means an exact science at the present movement and the greatest variance exists between the schools of international lawyers. Still it is hoped that if the complete code cannot be secured at least agreement may be had upon some useful principles of international law.

The conference is to endeavor to limit the period—it is suggested to two years—within which a naturalized citizen may remain in the country of his nativity without forfeiting his naturalization. Latin-America has always been jealous of these returned citizens, and they have given the United States much trouble, so that the subject is even now being considered by a special board, meeting at the State Department in Washington.

Rapid Communication Wanted.

It will endeavor to increase rapid communication by additional cable and telegraph lines and fast mail lines; new commercial treaties are to be proposed and commercial and industrial statistics are to be freely exchanged. Another effort is to be made to bring into uniformity the customs and consular laws relative to the entry and clearances of shipments of merchandise; an effort is to be made to secure uniform patent and trade mark and copyright laws, and the Pan-American project is to be pushed forward. Present regulations and laws make it impossible in many instances for physicians, lawyers and dentists to practice their professions outside of their native country, and some uniformity of practice in this respect will be sought. Finally, consideration will be given to the sanitary convention signed ad referendum in Washington a few years ago, a subject of growing importance, in view of the necessity of protecting the projected Panama canal from yellow fever carried on shipping from the tropical regions of Central and South America.

It has been arranged that this third conference shall be held in the building originally erected by the Brazilian Government at the St. Louis Exposition, which, with only six weeks' life before it, for it is specially provided in the programme that the conference must terminate not later than September 1 next, it is also limited to thirty meetings, and it is probable that not even that number will be held, because the delegates must have time to deliberate privately over projects that are of special interest to them.

The conference will be formally opened at 8 o'clock next Monday evening.

SEYMOUR CITIZENS RECEIVE MR. WALSH.

Grateful To Chicago Man For Giving Them Fine Transportation Facilities.

Seymour, Ind., July 21.—[Special.]—John R. Walsh, of Chicago, and several friends were given a warm reception here to-night. Addresses were made by leading citizens and Mr. Walsh was told that the people of Seymour were under great obligations to him. After the operation of the old Evansville and Richmond Railroad was discontinued about 1890, the residents of Seymour were greatly inconvenienced because of poor transportation facilities. Mr. Walsh was finally induced to take hold of the property and has made such a success of it that an extension of the road to Chicago will soon be in operation.

SUES FOR DAMAGES AND FORFEITURE.

St. Louis, July 21.—Quo warranto proceedings were begun to-day in the Circuit Court by Circuit Attorney Sager against the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel Company to compel a forfeiture of its charter on account of the alleged unlawful consolidation of seven companies. The writ also asks $72,100 damages for the time that the consolidation has been in effect.

PRICES HIGH.

Graft In Evidence In the Canal Zone.

RAILROAD CONDUCTORS ARE WEARING DIAMONDS.

MACHINIST SAYS THERE IS NO SYSTEM IN MANAGEMENT.

NEW PLACE FOR MAJ. SCOTT.

Washington, July 21.—[Special.]—A telegram from Baltimore to-day includes an interview with H. Lee Russell, a master machinist for the Panama railroad. He says conditions in the canal zone are deplorable. The Government, he declares, is paying out more money for less results than the French ever did and progress on the canal is not at all what it should be.

"There is great complaint," says he, "at the commissary department.

"The prices are just twice what they should be. As I understand it the department, when it was established, intended to make simply a profit of 10 per cent. to cover the expense of bringing the goods to the Isthmus. But I honestly believe that on some articles a profit of 200 per cent. is made. Why, here the other day, just after I reached Baltimore, I saw in a store window on Baltimore street a steamer trunk marked $3. The one I bought at the Canal Commissary cost me $7.50 and the one I saw here was a better one. I don't understand who gets the money. As for graft, there's plenty of it there. Why, those conductors on the Panama railroad are wearing diamonds as big as pigeon eggs. One of them drifted in not long ago from Costa Rica almost without a pair of breeches, and now he's wearing diamonds and building a row of houses in Colon. There's no system in the railroad management."

Fraud Order.

A fraud order was issued to-day against Arthur Peabody & Sons, of Astor Court, New York, for conducting a business of selling what pretended to be a "sure thing" system of betting on horse races. The inspectors' investigation showed that a man named W. Davidson operated the business. Davidson, or Peabody, sold for $25 ach copies of the "new theory system," advertised as "absolutely infallible." The alleged system, the inspectors report says, was simply a device to bet on handicap races and then to wager on the horse assigned top weight, playing as far back as the odds of 4 to 5 were, obtainable, always adding profit to principal and making the next bet 10 per cent. of the amount of money in hand. This, in the opinion of the post-office officials, was a fraudulent claim, and the order recites that "Peabody" when called on to testify, admitted that the assertion made in his advertisements that the system made "a quarter of a million dollars for the originator in four years," was false.

The Case of Mrs. Cardwell.

It is by no means certain that the greedy Kentucky Republicans who have for five years worked in and out of season to have removed from her little $1,400 place in the Louisville Surveyor's office, Mrs. Mannie A. Cardwell, will succeed in their unenviable undertaking. Assistant Secretary Reynolds is giving the case personal attention and it will not be surprising if he retains her regardless of the wishes of the organization, which wants to slip one of its henchmen in the position.

Maj. Scott's New Position.

Maj. Hugh L. Scott, of the army, a native of Kentucky, is expected to return from the Philippines this week and early next month will assume the superintendency of the Military Academy, West Point, for which he has been designated. With his new position he takes the rank of Colonel.

Jamestown Negro Exhibit.

The interest in the negro exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition, to which Congress made liberal appropriation, may be further heightened by the exhibit of half a dozen negroes fresh from Africa, for the purpose of comparing the development of the negro race of to-day with that of 1607. The proposition was made to Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Edwards today by a delegation of negroes in charge of the Jamestown exhibit. Mr. Edwards is one of a committee of Government officials in charge of the National Exposition fund. He has not yet approved the idea, but may do so if the scheme is carried out. A few Soudanese, Senegambians, Hottentots or Caffresians will be caught alive, shipped to Jamestown and placed alongside the cake-walker and roustabout.

Monument For Mrs. Tanner.

About two weeks ago one of the local Grand Army camps announced that it would undertake to raise a fund for the erection of a monument to Mrs. Tanner, wife of "Corporal" Tanner, commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. Mrs. Tanner was killed recently in an automobile accident in the West. The first contribution of any character to the monument fund was received today by Commander O'Meara, of the Phil Sheridan Post, in this city. It was a check for $10 sent by Dr. E. C. Craven, of Sanford, Fla., who served four years in the Confederate army.

GOV. HANLY SUFFERS FROM INTENSE HEAT.

Taken Ill After Making a Speech At the Chautauqua At Indianapolis.

Elkhart, Ind., July 21.—[Special.]—At the conclusion of Gov. Hanly's lecture here at the Chautauqua to-day, on the "Patriotism of Peace," it was noticed that he was ill, and the members of the Reception Committee were visibly alarmed. The Governor had indicated that he was ill, due to the great exertion in the intense heat under a tent, and he was escorted to a chair in the shade, remarking: "I came nearly being overcome there."

The closing in of the crowd made it necessary to hurry him away to the hotel in an automobile, and after an hour's rest there, with a bath and a change of clothing, he was able to return in an auto to the park, where he had supper and then was the guest of honor in a launch ride several miles down the river.

GRAIN DEALER FAILS AT SHELBYVILLE, IND.

William A. Wading Said To Have Lost Over $100,000.

Shelbyville, Ind., July 21.—[Special.]—William A. Nading, one of the most extensive grain dealers and mill owners in this part of the State, failed today. The amount of his liabilities is unknown. When farmers presented checks at the banks it was learned that Nading had no funds and was unable to make good. It is said that other investments have taken his fortune which was estimated at more than $100,000. He owns eight elevators which are filled with grain. It was said to-night that if he could realize on the holdings he probably could pay out, but many of his creditors believe he will be forced into bankruptcy. His lawyers refuse to say what course will be pursued.

COW'S HORN IMPALES CHILD NEAR HEART.

Little Lonnie Davis May Recover, Although Terribly Wounded.

Paducah, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Lonnie Davis, the ten-year-old daughter of J. W. Davis, liveryman at Murray, was knocked down and gored this morning by an infuriated cow. The child was trying to drive the cow out of the yard when it turned on her and impaled her on its horn. The horn penetrated the cavity of the child's heart, producing a wound which necessitated taking sixteen stitches. Physicians say she will recover.

W. J. PRICE WITHDRAWS FROM CONGRESSIONAL RACE.

Ill Health Forces Danville Man To Stop Campaign In Eighth District —Stricken While Speaking.

Richmond, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—T. H. Pickels, editor of the Register, and A. D. Miller, editor of the Climax, to-day received letters from the Hon. W. J. Price, of Danville, candidate for Congress in this district, which said that he was forced to withdraw from the race on account of ill health.

ALVATH KEITH REALLY HAD A DIVORCE.

Man Charged With Bigamy Released —Decree Granted Some Time Ago In Hardinsburg.

Elizabethtown, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Alvath Keith, who was incarcerated in the county jail Thursday, upon the charge of bigamy, was released yesterday upon the receipt of a letter from a Hardinsburg attorney announcing that the defendant had a divorce from wife No. 1. Keith was granted a divorce by the Breckenridge county Circuit Court, but the Circuit Clerk neglected to enter the decree on the docket, hence the mistake and unjust arrest.

Trust to Nature.

A great many Americans, both men and women, are thin, pale and puny, with poor circulation, because they have ill-treated their stomachs by hasty eating or too much eating, by consuming alcoholic beverages, or by too close confinement to home, office or factory, and in consequence the stomach must be treated in a natural way before they can rectify their earlier mistakes. The muscles in many such people, in fact in every weary, thin and thin-blooded person, do their work with great difficulty. As a result fatigue comes early, is extreme and lasts long. The demand for nutritive aid is ahead of the supply. To insure perfect health every tissue, bone, nerve and muscle should take from the blood certain materials and return to it certain others. It is necessary to prepare the stomach for the work of taking up from the food what is necessary to make good, rich, red blood. We must go to Nature for the remedy. There were certain roots known to the Indians of this country before the advent of the whites which later came to the knowledge of the settlers and which are now growing rapidly in professional favor for the cure of obstinate stomach and liver troubles. These are found to be safe and yet certain in their cleansing and invigorating effect upon the stomach, liver and blood. These are: Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Bloodroot, Mandrake root. Then there is Black Cherrybark. The medicinal principles residing in these native roots when extracted with glycerine as a solvent make the most reliable and efficient stomach tonic and liver invigorator, when combined in just the right proportions, as in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Where there is bankrupt vitality—such as nervous exhaustion, bad nutrition—and thin blood, the body acquires vigor and the nerves, blood and all the tissues feel the favorable effect of this sovereign remedy.

Although some physicians have been aware of the high medicinal value of the above mentioned plants, yet few have used pure glycerine as a solvent and usually the doctors' prescriptions called for the ingredients in varying amounts, with alcohol.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" is a scientific preparation compounded of the glyceric extracts of the above mentioned vegetable ingredients and contains no alcohol or harmful habit-forming drugs.

This Stock Jumps to 65c at Midnight Aug. 4.

DON'T SPECULATE--INVEST.

I Have Made Millions of Dollars for Thousands of People by My Patents.

I expect to make millions more. This stock has increased in value more than 100 per cent. since Sept. 1st, 1905, and should make you a life income, in handsome dividends. Be a safe and sane investor and get as much of the stock as your means will allow. The natural increase of business and inquiries for motors has forced the price of stock up several times; it will soon go higher. I have moved my office direct to our new factory at 139 S. Clinton st., and I am there every day from 9 to 5 o'clock.

The Bidwell Cold Motor Will Double the Capacity of Any Motor

PROF. SEWALL BIDWELL.

Inventor of the Trolley Car System
Inventor of the Gearless Motor.
Inventor of the Railway Car Telephone System.
Inventor of the Bidwell Cold Motor.
Inventor of the Water Electric Generator.

I never made an unsuccessful invention. My first invention was the electric fan just as it is run all over this country in hot weather. I didn't get a patent on it, but see what a tremendous success it is!

I next invented the Trolley Car System, just as it is run to-day. I made it perfect and successful right from the start. It has never been improved since I invented it. Look at the millions of money it has made for the stockholders. The stock in the trolley manufacturing companies sold below 15 cents a share in 1893 and 1894. Poor men could buy that stock then. Thousands of them did buy it and every one who held onto it is a rich man to-day.

No Man On Earth Ever Lost a Penny He Invested With Me.

If so, I will make it good. Next I invented the Railway Car Telephone System. It is a system by which passengers or train crews can telephone from still or moving cars anywhere the same as if seated in an office. It is a more perfect system in operation than any other telephone you ever saw. This is on the road toward millions for the stockholders.

This Is My Greatest Invention.

Now I have invented something bigger and greater than either of the above. It is called the Bidwell Cold Motor. It is guaranteed not to burn out and is exactly the kind of a motor the steam railroad people have been looking for. It will change all the steam railroad systems over to electric roads, because it will be cheaper to run than steam and can be run faster and more safely than any present method.

The one drawback the railroads have had in changing over to electricity has been that no motor as at present made can be run 150 miles at 60 miles an hour without burning out. It would melt the very wires.

By using the Bidwell Cold Motor a train of cars could be run from New York to San Francisco without a stop at the rate of 60 or 80 miles an hour and not even warm up and without a hitch.

Besides running faster they would be more safe and sure than steam, cost less to operate, and would last longer than any other motor now known.

The Bidwell Cold Motor is the greatest invention out since I invented the trolley car.

THE OPPORTUNITY OF A LIFETIME.

I want to give every man and woman a chance to come in with me on this, for I expect to make millions for the stockholders out of this new patent.

The stock will be sold on the square. There will be no hocus pocus about preferred or common stock, nor any other scheme, trick or wrinkle by which anybody can be frozen out.

Every dollar invested will represent one hundred cents of the best stock. Every share will be exactly like every other share. The profit on every share will be the same as the profit on every other share. In short, there will be nothing but a square deal all around. This stock is fully paid and nonassessable.

I have a lifelong reputation for square dealing. I will personally see to it that every stockholder gets a square deal on this. More money is made every day by good judgment in investing money than by all the labor and wages in the country. Safe and shrewd investments in this stock will make fortunes.

You will never get rich on wages. No one ever did. Every man in this world who ever got big money got it either by speculation or investment. Speculation is unsafe. You stand more chance to lose than you do to make. Investments are right the other way. Make a safe investment and it is sure to bring you returns.

Don't hesitate about this stock. It is absolutely safe and sure.

Here Is An Important Point To Remember.

There never has been a failure of consequence in electrical manufacturing. Stop and think of that. All are immensely successful. All pay big dividends and have made their investors wealthy.

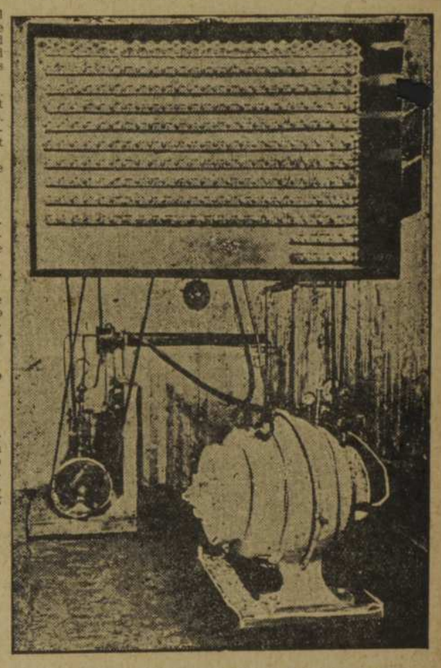

This company will soon be one of the biggest in electrical manufacturing in the world.

This is bound to be so, because there is not a place now where a motor or generator is used but will have to sooner or later change for the Bidwell Cold Motor or Generator. Why? Because we make something better than any other kind known.

Hetty Green, the Richest Woman In the World, Says: "The Way to Get Rich Is to Invest In Necessities."

The Bidwell Cold Motor is one of the greatest necessities of the 20th century. This stock has already taken seven jumps up. Now is the time to buy. It will jump again August 4th. The profit is yours. Don't speculate—invest. Here you have a necessity. Look at this list below. Everyone of these people made his fortune by supplying some great necessity.

PETER COOPER, McCORMICK, CARNEGIE, ROCKEFELLER, SENATOR CLARK, HEINZ, PILLSBURY, STUDEBAKER, FAIRBANKS, VANDERBILT, GOULD, WHITNEY, BELMONT, MACKAY, MARSHALL FIELD, LEITER, ARMOUR, SWIFT, FRICK, MORGAN, EDISON, STANFORD, MOORE, LEEDS, HARRIMAN, PULLMAN.

THE BIDWELL COLD MOTOR AND GENERATOR.

Here is the way manufacturing stocks in necessities jump:

| | First sold at | Now sell at |
|---|---|---|
| THE ELECTRIC TRUST | 15c | 187 |
| QUAKER OATS, common | 45c | 145 |
| AMERICAN RADIATOR, common | 33c | 100 |
| AMERICAN SMELTING | 30c | 155 |

And this is only a few. Safer and surer than life insurance or trust stocks. All this advance has been made in ten years and less. I will supply the greatest necessity now known in the business world. The demand is so large that it will make all of us rich. If you want to get in with me on this you will have to be quick about it. The stock is selling like hot cakes.

These Are Cold Facts—You Must Act Quickly.

If you want some of this stock at the present low price you must come in now. There is only a small amount to be sold at the present price.

I firmly believe that within five years the stock will be selling at $3 a share. This is your opportunity. It is a case of come quick or not at all. I am at the office and factory, 139 S. Clinton st., every day from 9 to 5 o'clock. As to our reliability and financial standing we refer you to any commercial agency.

In order to make it possible for every man and woman to get in with me on this big deal I have decided to sell the stock for a short time only at the following prices:

100 shares, $60; 250 shares, $150; 500 shares, $300; 1,000 shares, $600; 5,000 shares, $3,000; not over five thousand shares at this price to any one person.

After Saturday night, August 4th, the price of this stock will be 10 shares, $65; 250 shares, $162.50; 500 shares $325; 1,000 shares, $650; 5,000 shares, $3,250.

CUPID TRIUMPHS EVEN OVER POLICE.

Hopkinsville, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Clarence Ferguson, aged eighteen and Miss Clyde Lynn, aged sixteen, of Madisonville, who were taken from the Louisville and Nashville train here last night on orders from Madisonville, to prevent their elopement to Clarksville, were married to-day.

They were very anxious to marry, and insisted that they would marry in spite of all opposition. Chief of Police Roper called up the girl's sister, and she finally directed him to send the couple home. Having no authority to hold them they were released and left at once by buggy for Clarksville. They were married at 9 o'clock this morning and returned to this city. They will take a night train for Madisonville.

Will Return To Work Monday.

Bristol, Tenn., July 21.—[Special.]—An agreement has been reached between the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company, and the strikers at the Crescent Rolling Mills here, and the hundred men who have been idle for a week will return to work Monday. The men claim to have scored a victory.

TWO CHILDREN DROWN WHILE WADING IN POND.

Bowling Green, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Lida Williams, the twelve-year-old stepdaughter of Asher Potter, of this city, and the twelve-year-old daughter of D. Markham, of this county, were drowned in a pond this afternoon near this city. The young girls were on a visit to relatives in the county. This afternoon while wading in a pond they got beyond their depth and drowned before they could be rescued.

WOULD IT BE JUST AND FAIR

in all primary elections held under the provisions hereof, shall be of the same number as is required and designated by law to hold regular State elections, and their duties and responsibilities shall be precisely the same as those of legally-appointed and regularly qualified officers of regular elections. They shall be appointed by the regularly-organized and constituted committee or governing authority of the political party holding such primary election, and shall, before entering upon the discharge of their respective duties, take the same oath required to be taken by officers of regular State elections. The officers in each primary election precinct shall be selected from lists furnished by the various candidates, such lists to be furnished by the respective candidates to the committee or governing authority at least ten days before such primary election, and shall be as nearly equally divided as possible as to judges, clerks and sheriffs among the various candidates.

Who Shall Name Officers.

It was argued to the chairman that the committee meant in this section quoted above is the Executive Committee of each county in which the election is to be held, and not the State Committee. It is this point which is to be submitted on briefs for his consideration, and for the consideration of the committee.

The Section 1565 of the Statutes, the primary election law, provides that: "The provisions of this article shall apply to all primary elections held for the purpose of nominating candidates for State, county, district or municipal offices hereafter held in this Commonwealth, except those held in the year 1892."

Taking the two sections together, it is the contention of Chairman McQuown that the State Committee, in a primary embracing the entire State, is the committee authorized to name the precinct election officers from the lists submitted by the candidates.

Came To Advise Only.

Following the meeting of the committee with Chairman McQuown, Mr. Stanley said: "We did not, as was stated in the press, come to Frankfort for the purpose of 'demanding' a fair and honest primary election, but as Democrats, for the purpose of advising with the chairman of our State Committees and hearing his ideas as to how the election should be conducted, and giving him, and, through him, the committee, our suggestions as to the best means to bring harmony into the party, so that in the general election next year we may roll up a majority of thirty thousand for the ticket to be nominated this year. Our talk with him was very pleasant. We agreed upon many details of the primary, and differed upon some of them. Upon these latter we agreed that briefs should be submitted to him embodying our views of the law and its application."

"There was no disagreement as to the first of the proposition submitted by Gov. Beckham, that providing for an open drawing for positions upon the official ballot. Senator McCreary desires only that this be fairly done. We do differ with the Governor about allowing the candidates for Senator to select the election officers. Mr. McQuown agrees with us that it would be illegal to ignore all of the other candidates by allowing this to be done. I think it would be both illegal and impractical, for the candidate for Agricultural Commissioner has as much right to say who shall be the officers of election as has the candidate for Senator. Neither ranks above the other in dignity in the eyes of the committeemen called upon to settle this question. The candidates for Governor must be recognized in the selection of the officers, if they are thus selected, as well as the candidates for Senator.

Law Hard To Define.

"Trying to apply the primary election statute to a State primary is, in my opinion, like trying to make a pair of trousers for a fifteen-year-old boy fit a full-grown man. It was obviously intended for the holding of elections in counties, and certainly not in territories larger than congressional districts, and it must be pieced out by the State Committee to hold a State primary under its provisions. Matters in connection with this are what we are to submit by brief to Chairman McQuown, and which it was agreed we should not discuss in the press at this time. The meeting to-day between us was largely preliminary, but I expect much good to come out of it. We are more interested in the success of the party than in the ambitions of any man, and I believe we will secure a fair primary. I am not here to express the views of Senator McCreary as to the primary. He will very likely have something to say upon the subject."

HANGED BY THE DAY.

GEORGE THERMA EARNS HIS BREAD IN THIS WAY.

Plays Part of Horse Thief In Wild West Show—Other Queer Trades.

In the strenuous scramble for wealth and a living in the great competitive game of life in New York, many men and women are driven to odd occupations for a livelihood, says the New York World. Some of these are the following:

George Therma makes a living by being hanged sixteen times a week for "$50 a month and his cakes," as the contract reads.

Therma is a Mexican, and as the star performer in the horse-thief act in the Pawnee Bill Wild West Show at Brighton Beach, is lariated while riding a horse at breakneck speed, and is dragged at the end of the lasso a distance of several hundred feet to a tree, where he is strung up in true Judge Lynch style.

He has a piece of stiff coat lining fixed about his neck, and the rope does him little damage, though the Mexican Rurales, who come along to take his body, save him from a most uncomfortable position. On several occasions since he has been doing the work the cowboys who hang him have grown careless, and Therma has been cut down more nearly like the dead man he is supposed to be than the live man he wants to be.

Big Jose Barraro, the Mexican who leads the cowboys in the capture of Therma, is no gentle child, and when he has a sportive spirit working in him he finds it great fun after he has lassoed Therma to draw him through all the rough and ugly places on the ground. One day Barraro dragged him over a big stone, and Therma spent three weeks in a hospital having a broken skull mended.

Therma has had his arms broken and a leg dislocated, but he likes the excitement of the job, and while he is occasionally taken from the field to the hospital tent unconscious, he would not leave the work for anything you could offer him.

He thinks Barraro has a bet with a friend in the show that he will kill Therma yet, and he is betting that Barraro won't.

John Mahn gets $25 a week for breaking eggs. He works in a big pie-baking plant in the city, and has the job of breaking the eggs that are used in the manufacture of pie. He breaks twenty-five dozen eggs a day, separates the yolks from the whites, and beats up some of them. Besides this, he has to inspect each egg to see that none of them contains an embryo broiler or the odor of formaldehyde.

One is apt to wonder at the sum of $25 a week for such work, but it is explained that Mahn earns it by the economical way in which he handles the eggs, and it is pointed out that a cheap man might be very expensive. It is said, also, that the monotony of the job gets on most men's nerves, and few can be found who will stay at it any length of time.

The man who furnishes funny stories and anecdotes for would-be wits, reconteurs and after-dinner speakers is another man who has picked out an odd occupation. He is Charles Hoppe, and has no particular place of business, but if he calls on you you can well afford to give him an audience, for he is a most interesting little man.

He will furnish you for twenty-five or fifty cents a week a typewritten sheet containing the latest quips of the day, and funny stories, that you can tell at home, or, for a larger consideration, he will furnish you with speeches to be made at public gatherings which are guaranteed to make you fame of the burning brand.

He does not say how many subscribers he has for the regular funny story service, but he will make a special service for you that he guarantees not to be duplicated to anyone else.

* * *

Another odd occupation is that of an auction clincher. In this case, it is a beautiful young woman who, until a few years ago, was one of the best-known "show girls" at the Casino. Now she is making her living more easily.

She is employed by a big Fifth-avenue auction company which makes a specialty of rugs. She met the manager of the concern through her knowledge of rugs, and one day he asked her if she didn't want to help him in a little matter that might be profitable to both. His plan was this:

In all auctions certain lots go for much less than their value if some one does not stimulate the bidding. With rugs this is especially so, for often the true value of a rug does not appear in the cursory glance people give them at sales. He suggested that this girl go to the auctions, having been told the minimum price at which every rug is to go, and if the bidding should not reach that figure, bid it up and, apparently, buy the rug, thus saving it for the company.

She tried it, and the plan worked so well that now she is in the employ of this company permanently and attends every auction sale, taking a remote seat and bidding only when it looks as though the rug were going too cheap.

* * *

There is a man who does nothing in the season but test watermelons and cantaloupes for the Waldorf-Astoria. The water melons come from Georgia. The loss in cutting unripe fruit would be considerable, and the old-fashioned method of "plugging" is obsolete. So this man earns his salary.

* * *

Another odd occupation is that of the woman who advertises to call at bachelors' lodgings to do all necessary darning of socks and underwear, and to look after the linen for those who are not fortunate enough to have someone to do it for them.

* * *

Then there is a man who cuts cat-meat at Washington Market. He has had the same stand for twenty years, and has never sold anything but little five and ten-cent packages of such meats as cats are fond of.

FUNNY SIGNS

SEEN ON WALLS IN SAN FRANCISCO AFTER EARTHQUAKE.

Jokers Undaunted By Great Catastrophe Give Vent To Humor.

[San Francisco Chronicle]

It is not difficult to understand why it was that Nero fiddled while Rome was burning. The signs on the walls of San Francisco seem to be written in the same spirit of humor that led Nero to fiddle. It was altogether the most sensible thing that any one in Rome was doing at the time.

On the side of one of the curbstone kitchens on Sacramento street some uncrowned Nero wrote:

"Eat, drink and be merry, for to-morrow there may be another earthquake."

It wasn't meant to be taken too seriously. Any one could see that it was a joke. And as a joke it was more helpful than another wall sign, which read:

"Unless ye repent, ye shall all likewise perish."

And, by the way, the context from which that sentence was taken admonishes us not to imagine that those who perished were sinners.

A church in the Western addition had a sign painted over its door. One word was in big, flaming letters, and that one word was—"Hell."

An inscription below in smaller characters gave the added information: "At 7:45 p. m. Sunday."

But to return to the humorous side of it. These inscriptions on the sides of the curb kitchens represented the greatest discomfort of the hour, and they were literally covered with jesting.

"Don't kiss the cook!" That was what somebody chalked on the side of his cookhouse. "Salmi of duck all the time; lobster Newburg ready soon; wine list cheerful, if not accurate, bill of fare displayed on another.

All the famous restaurants of San Francisco had located on the curbs—if you believed the signs on the streets. One was called the "Fairmont," and another across the street advertised itself as the "Unfairmont." The "Wayside Inn" and the "Inside Out" were neighbors, and the "House of Mirth" looked a little like one of those New England barnyard structures that are put up at Thanksgiving for the smoking of hams and bacon.

"Earthquake Shakes" were advertised at 5 cents per glass, and the "Do-drop Inn" was the caption of a rustic kitchen composed of window blinds, re-enforced with matting. One, less optimistic, wrote:

"Out in the cold world,
Out in the street."

But it was not long before some one added:

"But what's the use of kicking
When you've got enough to eat?"

Some one advertised her cooking thus: "House of Mystery pies, $1."

Over the tables in one of the more pretentious restaurants was the printed advice:

"If the waiter does not please you, shoot him; but for God's sake don't shoot the cook, for we can't get another. He's doing his best."

"Water, both fried and boiled," was some humorist's idea of what the Board of Health meant by writing in chalk on all the blind walls advice not to drink uncooked water.

Apropos of the Board of Health, its industry led it to placard the city with minute instructions about necessary but usually unmentioned things.

One unconscious humorist advertised "fresh eggs" at a reasonable rate, but he was almost equaled by two doctors who advertised that they "has moved." Evidently the temblor made them both feel small.

The commercial signs took up the spirit of humor where the rustic kitchen left off, when the gas was turned on in the houses.

"Safes opened FREE for those who are unable to pay," was the rather puzzling sign displayed at the foot of Market-street.

At the top of a flight of marble steps that no longer led anywhere was a marble slab taken from the ruins and doing duty as a directory of the tenants who had been "forced to move on account of alterations on April 18."

"We want you to know that we are still alive and quite well," was the sign that appeared at the peak of a heap of ruins on Market street.

"Pushed to the wall, but coming through, and expect to land at No. —— street," indicated that one firm had not lost its ability to see the funny side of things.

Over the skeleton of a temporary structure on Fillmore street is the following poetic flight:

"Hold the fort, for we are coming,
And coming mighty strong;
It won't be long till things are humming,
And we'll help you jog along."

"Lots cleaned" was a sign of doubtful import, but the statement of one art repairer that "No job is too difficult for us" expressed the spirit of the times to a nicety.

"The bakery that fed San Francisco without light and without power" acknowledged its pride all over the town, and a merchant who got a corner lot for his temporary shack expressed his pleasure in large letters by the statement that "He hasn't got the clothing market cornered, but he has got a corner in the new clothing district," and he added that his stock was coming "as fast as the chocchoo cars can bring it."

"As soon as the kinks are straightened out" is the way a railroad office set the time for its return to its Market street office; and a lawyer hung out a sign from the tenth story of a ruined skyscraper with the information that he had "moved because the elevators were not running."

A firm who had an undestroyed desire to lead expressed its gratification in the order of events in the verse:

"First to shake;
First to burn;
First to begin
A living to earn."

Even the bootblacks have their signs, and one of them advertises thus:

"Shoes shined inside."

Probably he is unconscious that he is plagiarizing the famous knight of the brush who once startled the citizens of New York by displaying the following from a window on Park Row:

"Inside shoes shined outside."

FEUDISTS EXPECTED TO HAVE A BATTLE.

Members of the Hall and Thornberry Factions Said To Be Camped In the Mountains.

Lexington, Ky., July 21.—Reports received here to-day from Sergeant, Letcher county, are to the effect that members of the Hall and Thornberry feud factions are camped in the mountains in that county and a battle between them is hourly feared. It is said that the Whitesburg militia company has been ordered to be in readiness to go to the scene if trouble breaks out. Each side has about forty men and all are armed. Clate Jones, leader of the Jones faction, says he will go to the relief of the Thornberrys if they need him. The reopening of the feud was caused by the killing of Richard Hall and John Thornberry from ambush a few days ago. Thornberry had married into the Hall family and his clansmen had sworn revenge.

MISS MARY E. MADDOX DIES OF TYPHOID FEVER.

Miss Mary E. Maddox, of 201 East Chestnut street, died of typhoid fever at the Gray-street Infirmary at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Her illness had extended over a month. Miss Maddox was twenty-three years old and a daughter of John W. Maddox, who formerly resided at Cedar Creek, near Jeffersontown. She is survived by her father, a sister, Miss Nancy Maddox, and a brother, Lee M. Maddox, who is chief clerk of the foreign mail service at Washington, D. C. Her brother at present is on his way to Europe on business for the Post-office Department. The funeral services will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock at the Broadway Christian church. Burial will be at Pennsylvania Run, near the former home of the family.

ORGANMOBILE

LATEST DEVICE FOR USE ON PUBLIC ROADS.

Attachment To Make Music While Traveling Along At High Speed.

[New York Herald.]

Keyboards are to be provided by a Western manufacturer for the better manipulation of the brazen musical pipes known as "Gabriel's horns" which may be seen attached to the sides of many automobiles. The pipes in their crude state were designed to be operated by the exhaust from the engines. The supply of hot air required has therefore been limited.

It is proposed, according to letters patent now pending, to carry large tanks of compressed atmosphere as a part of the equipment of high power automobiles. In this way the rudimentary three pipes, which give only a slight range of melody, can be supplanted by a complete set of reeds. It will not be unlikely that some of the automobilists who have more than ordinary musical taste will equip their machines with pipe organs, carrying a man on the rear seat, or on a small platform, whose duty it shall be to pump up the necessary pressure.

Prof. Wedelkin Bozarris, of the University of Music, South Bend, Ind., reports that there is already a model organmobile in his State, used by a college glee club which has been making tours of the smaller towns in the corn belt. He predicts that before long parties of automobilists will cruise through the streets of New York singing to the accompaniment of the cheerful pipes of Panhard. In order to lighten the sufferings of persons likely to be run over the following refrain is recommended:

Oh, my bones, my bones; I'm going to rest
In de bed of an old ambulance;
For I'se struck by an auto, the wheels did the rest.
I goes to a surgical ward,
And I lies me down in wooden splints there,
And doctors they never will tire,
As sure as I am born, when I done hear that horn,
I thought it was ol' Gabriel's choir.

One of the great needs of the automobile industry is a suitable song for chauffeurs while roving about at night at third-notch speed. The following is said to be efficacious:

Oh, many happy evenings did I spend in raising Ned
In this big chuff machine, while my old man was safe abed;
In scorching with city friends about the city grand,
And leaving dead and wounded in the street at every hand.
Ah, there was Mame Macauley, now a chorister;
Billy York and Tommy Smith, oh, they were tending bar.
Ah, many fizzing highballs, all tanked up indeed,
All seated there in that swift car, on summer nights to speed.

(Chorus.)

We owned a swell garage; my old man paid the freight;
We stocked the tank with petrol, paying the highest rate;
Then, seated in the tonneau, amid the cushions red,
We filled the city highways with overwhelming dread.

We'd pile in every evening, the timid owner met the bill,
We'd race like merry madmen, the people for to kill.
All seated in the moonlight, laughing 'mid its rays,
Ah, how we loved to make wild havoc in crowded city ways.
Oh, there was Carbureter Pete, a friend of Martin Thorn,
Johnny Sparks and Willy Plug, they never sounded horn;
All crazy, reckless chauffeurs, each with leering mug,
All seated there to listen to the homicidal chug.

(Chorus.)

We owned a swell garage; my old man paid the freight;
We stocked the tank with petrol, paying the highest rate;
Then, seated in the tonneau, amid the cushions red,
We filled the city highways with overwhelming dread.

To meet the requirements of automobile owners who are more or less under the influence of chauffeurs, the following rollicking ditty, says the Professor, may be employed:

"I've an automobile, ar, ar, ar—
I'm afraid of my chauffeur, I are, I are;
Whatever he does, I say: 'Me too, me too-o-o,'
And what he wishes I say: 'You do, you do.'
Chauffeur, chauffeur, why do they fine me so,
For running my little car?"

CITED ATTORNEY SWEENEY FOR NOT APPEARING.

When the case of George Robinson, charged with disorderly conduct, was called in the Police Court yesterday morning, his attorney, William H. Sweeney, failed to appear, and Judge James P. Edwards ordered a rule issued against him, citing him to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court. Judge Edwards was much aroused and said he did not propose to allow the dignity of the court to be trifled with. Mr. Sweeney afterward appeared, and, it is said, had an argument with Judge Edwards, during which some heated words were passed.

WARM WEATHER AND PROBABLE SHOWERS.

More hot weather and more probable showers are forecast for Louisville and Kentucky to-day by the Weather Man. The unsettled, sultry conditions prevail pretty generally over the Ohio and the Mississippi valleys and no hope is held out by the Observer of better days to come. The rain of Friday night was general over Kentucky, in some places amounting to two inches, while in Louisville more than an inch was recorded.

The temperature yesterday was at its highest at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, when a point of 85 degrees was reached. The heat was not so intense, but the humidity had to be reckoned with as on the days before. At 7 o'clock last night the mercury had dropped to the eighty-second-degree point.

BARBERS TO HOLD OUTING TUESDAY.

About 275 barbers, members of the Barbers' Union of Louisville, and their friends, will make merry at Fontaine Ferry Park Tuesday. The day is to be known as "Barbers' Day" and preparations are being made at the park for a big cowd.

The celebration at Fontaine Ferry Park was to have been held by the Louisville barbers last Monday, but on account of rain was postponed until next Tuesday. The Louisville Barbers' Union, which was organized about eight years ago, has a membership of 275.

ANNUAL EXCURSION TO BUCKROE BEACH.

The Chesapeake and Ohio railway will run its annual excursion to Buckroe Beach to-morrow. It is expected that this excursion will be liberally patronized, as the many Louisville people who have visited the beach have paid the most glowing tributes to its attractive features.

Many years ago, the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company realized that Buckroe was one of the best of all the breathing spots along the Atlantic seaboard, and have, for this reason, annually afforded the public special inducements to visit it. This year has, according to report, been the most successful in the history of the beach. For bathing, boating, fishing, dancing and kindred pleasures Buckroe Beach is regarded highly.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Newberry, in accordance with the direction of the President, has issued an order to all bureau chiefs, commandant of the marine corps, commandants of navy yards, the superintendent of the Naval Academy, and all officers having supervision of work done for the Government, directing that the eight-hour law be strictly enforced.

Discussing the new meat inspection law yesterday Secretary Wilson said that there was considerable misapprehension regarding its scope. It does not, he said, apply to any but slaughtering and meat packing houses doing an interstate business.

Acting Postmaster General Hitchcock issued orders permitting fourth-class postmasters in the States of Ohio and Indiana to attend the annual conventions of the League of Fourth-class Postmasters of their States and, for that purpose, granting them a leave of absence of not exceeding five days. The Ohio convention will be held in Columbus on September 5, and the Indiana convention will be held in Indianapolis on August 8.

Public Printer Stillings has suspended from office Assistant Foreman W. A. Miller, of the bindery of the Government Printing Office, on the recommendation of Acting Foreman Aselton, the charge being insubordination and insolence. Mr. Stillings will make an investigation before taking final action.

A sample of the new French small arm, the improved Lebel rifle, has been received at the War Department and is being carefully examined by the experts. The gun is about four inches longer than the new American army rifle; slightly smaller in caliber and a pound or two heavier, but it does not appear that it surpasses the American arm in range, accuracy or other valuable qualities.

Maj. B. W. Dunn, Ordnance Department, has been detached from duty at Sandy Hook and ordered to Philadelphia for duty, in connection with the erection of a factory for the manufacture of powder for the army.

Brig. Gen. Peter C. Haines, member of the Isthmian Canal Commission, who has just returned from Panama, said yesterday that the builders of the canal are already awaiting with great interest the proposed visit of President Roosevelt to the canal zone. It would mark the expansion of work to full blast and would produce an excellent effect.

It has been found to be impracticable to send teams from either the Military or Naval Academy to the national rifle competition at Sea Girt next September, but the militia organizations of nearly all the States will be represented.

The cruiser Columbia reached Boston yesterday from Panama by way of Porto Rico, bringing 300 marines, of whom 265 are suffering from malaria. Nineteen of this number are seriously ill.

Applicants for positions as meat inspectors were examined yesterday in 198 cities of the country. The examination was conducted by the Civil Service Commission, and approximately 3,000 men struggled with problems of good meat and bad. Of the whole number of men who took the examination, perhaps only 500 will be needed immediately.

The secretary of the Treasury, through Mr. Ridgly, Controller of the Currency, has directed the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to use a new plate containing four ten-dollar national bank notes. Up to this time all plates of three ten-dollar bills also had one of a twenty-dollar bill, so that banks needing ten-dollar notes were compelled to take one-fourth of the number of twenties.

It has long been known that wireless telegraphy is easier at night than in the day, but that fact was lost sight of in the establishment of that method of communication in Alaska, between Ft. Michaels and Nome. Reports to the War Department show that for the first time trouble has been experienced in working the system in Alaska, and as the trouble was coincident with the beginning of continuous day north of the Arctic circle, that fact is supposed to account for the difficulty. However, it is said that the interruption has never extended over the whole day at any time.

BOY APPARENTLY INSANE PLACED IN JAIL.

Frank Fowler, a thirteen-year-old boy, was taken to the county jail by Patrolman Thomas O'Leary yesterday on the charge of lunacy, and he will be held there until the arrival of relatives. He was found wandering about the streets at Fourth avenue and K street rather aimlessly at about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and he was taken into the No. 18 engine house. He was attired in a wide straw hat and a pair of overalls and a coat made of sack. He limped as he walked. An examination disclosed the fact that his right knee cap was broken. He talked incoherently and could give no account of himself. He said that he was twelve years old and lived at Elizabethtown. When asked how long he had lived there he said twenty years. It was gained from his remarks that he had fallen from a box car upon the tracks and had sustained injuries. He was suffering from hunger and exposure, and said that he had been living in the woods. A piece of paper in his pocket bore the name "Frank Fowler." After investigating and inquiring in the neighborhood without any success, the patrolman, unable to find any trace of the boy's family or of anyone who knew him, took him to the county jail, where he was given a meal and a bed, probably the first of either that he had had for some time.

TO REMOVE BONES FROM YOUNG LAPAILLE'S HAND.

Edward LaPaille, the three-year-old son of Patrolman John LaPaille, who was run over and injured by a mule wagon three weeks ago, will undergo an operation at his father's home this afternoon to have two pieces of bone removed from his right hand. The wheels of the wagon ran over the little fellow's foot and hand, crushing the bones in each. The foot healed all right, but the bones in the hand did not knit as was hoped and the operation has been decided upon. It will be performed by Dr. Ulysses Montgomery and Dr. Clarence H. Harris.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed wetting. If it did, there would be few children that would do it. There is a constitutional cause for this. Mrs. M. ## ROYAL MATCHES

NOT ALL MADE FOR REASONS OF STATE.

Several Well-Known Rulers Have Married For Love Alone.

Within the next few weeks the most exclusive circle of exalted women in Europe, consisting of those who bear the title of Queen and can be counted on the fingers of both hands, will be increased by the advent of the new Queen of Spain, the gracious Princess Ena, says the London Express. Her marriage to King Alfonso will, moreover, add still another to the rare and beautiful royal unions which have been rightly termed love marriages.

It is, unfortunately, comparatively rare that those who occupy thrones are at liberty to follow the dictates of their hearts in the important matter of marriage. They are so hide-bound by tradition, politics, the relations of their respective countries and the limited circle from which they are at liberty to choose wives or husbands that in most cases their unions are mere marriages of convenience or pure affairs of State, in which the least interested persons are the contracting parties themselves. The wedding which will be celebrated in Madrid next month is a striking exception to this rule, for the enthusiasm and gallantry of the young King have convinced even the most skeptical that his heart is in the matter.

Like Father, Like Son.

Without going back very far into past history, it is possible to find a good many royal matches which have proved exceptions to the general rule. Alfonso XII., father of the present King, was a case in point. His first marriage with the Princess Mercedes, the daughter of the Duke of Montpensier, was almost the romance of Romeo and Juliet over again. The Queen-mother Isabella was violently opposed to the contemplated union, and in defiance of all etiquette she encouraged the family hatred which separated the relations of the two young people in her efforts to prevent the marriage. But the King's love triumphed over all obstacles, and he married Mercedes. His joy was, however, short lived, for the young Queen died shortly afterward, to the great sorrow of the Spanish people, among whom she was enormously popular.

The love marriage of our late revered Queen Victoria is a popular story, too fresh in the memory of every Briton to require lengthy recapitulation. It is well known how Prince Albert impressed Queen Victoria almost from the first moment she saw him. "Albert," wrote the Queen to her uncle and confidant, the then King of the Belgians, "is so handsome, so amiable! He has completely won my heart!" Their married life was, as everyone knows, one of the most perfect happiness.

The Czar Nicholas II. also made a love-match by marrying Princess Alix of Hesse, in the face of considerable opposition directed against the union for political reasons. No Princess was ever brought up more simply than the wife of Nicholas II. She was educated at Darmstadt in exactly the same way as a middle-class girl, preparing for the ordinary examinations at school and college just like her lowly-born schoolfellows. At fourteen years of age the pocket-money which she possessed was of so modest an amount that her companions often twitted her about it.

A Perfect Union.

No more perfect love-marriage was ever made than that of the Emperor of Austria, the Dean of Sovereigns, who during his long life has experienced so much sorrow that nothing but the happy companionship and devoted love of a true wife could have sustained him so long. He met Princess Elizabeth at a ball at Ischl, where he went on a visit during the presence there of the young Bavarian Princesses. Young Francis Joseph, then twenty-three years of age, waltzed with the charming Princess Elizabeth, who was but sixteen. He was so smitten with her that he devoted himself to her for the rest of the evening. At midnight, being seated with the Princess at a table, looking through books of pictures, he took up one containing illustrations of the national costumes of the inhabitants of various parts of Austria. "Those are my subjects," he said. "A word from you and you may reign over them, too." The next morning he sent Elizabeth an enormous bouquet of Alpine flowers, and a few days later, so great was his impatience, he called upon Duke Maxz, of Bavaria, without consulting any of his Ministers, and demanded the Princess' hand in marriage. The course of true love ran very smoothly in this case, and it was not long before the Emperor and his Princess were united. On the day of the wedding he scorned the etiquette which bade him await her arrival in his capital, and sped to the frontier to be the first to welcome her as she set foot on Austrian soil.

Emperor's Simple Courtship.

Another royal marriage in which the heart was the sole guide to the determination of the contracting parties was that of the unfortunate German Emperor, Frederick. When, for the first time, he saw the young English Princess who was destined to become his bride, she was only eleven years of age, but her prettiness and grace made such an impression upon him that he exclaimed, "What a delightful woman that little girl will be one day." Four years later he came again to England, and found his little Princess still more charming. He paid her assiduous court, and took her for frequent walks in the royal gardens. One day he broke off from a bush a sprig of morse and gave it to her as an emblem of affection. In this poetic and simple fashion were the Emperor and Empress Frederick informally betrothed.

The marriage of the late King Humbert of Italy, was also a love match, though less spontaneous than some of the others we have quoted. At an early age he was enamoured of his cousin, Marguerite of Savoy, but politics ordained that he must marry an Austrian, and the choice of the Ministers fell upon a young Archduchess. The Prince resigned himself to his fate, in accordance with the wishes of the country expressed through the Cabinet. But shortly after their marriage the young Princess was killed by a terrible accident. The Prince declared he would never marry again unless it was with his cousin, Marguerite, who, at that time was probably the most beautiful Princess in Christendom. The Prince's will was strong, and in a little while he won over the Ministers, and married the Princess, with the happiest results for Italy and Europe.

J. KRANKEL CHARGED WITH VENDING LOTTERY TICKETS.

Jacob Krankel, fifty-six years old, was arrested last night by Patrolmen Plamp and Holden at Third and Jefferson streets on a charge of vending lottery tickets. This makes the second arrest of the same nature within the past two weeks. Krankel denies that he disposed of any tickets, but the patrolmen who arrested him said they did so on complaints of persons to whom he is said to have sold them.

GIRL BURIED IN DRESS MADE FOR HER WEDDING.

Attired in the gown which was to have been her bridal dress, the body of Miss Sarah Roberts, who died Thursday, was carried from a hearse to the grave in Eastern cemetery by four of her girl friends. Miss Roberts was eighteen years old and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Roberts, of 720 Clay street. She was engaged to be married and the date of the wedding had been set, when she was stricken with illness. Even her wedding trousseau had been completed.

The body was borne to the grave by the Misses Mattie Rooney, Pearl Tasher, Nora Long and Nora Pulliam, all intimate friends of the young woman. Miss Roberts was an active church worker, a member of the Christian church and a great favorite with all who knew her.

PLENTY OF NEW WHEAT ON MARKET.

Yield Was Excellent and Quality Better Than For Several Years.

The total receipts of new wheat are unusually heavy. Wheat this year produced a good yield both in Southern Indiana and the Kentucky wheat belt. The quality is far above the average according to local dealers. Most of the wheat brought to the market is grading admirably as number 2, and is in excellent condition. The local millers are buying large quantities of wheat now, paying from seventy-five to seventy-six cents a bushel for it. The price along the railroads, ranges from seventy-four to seventy-five cents a bushel. The grain dealers, known as shippers, are buying large quantities of wheat at present.

"I do not look for the price of wheat to advance," said a well-known dealer last night. "There is a large part of the old crop still on hand which has a tendency always to keep the price of new wheat down. Last year at this time, wheat was ten cents higher than it is now. This was due largely to the fact that there was but little old wheat on hand last year when the market opened up. The yield this year was exceedingly heavy and the present prices are bringing lots of money to the growers."

SMALL BOY BADLY HURT BY HORSE'S HOOF.

Kicked On Forehead and Sustains Fracture of the Skull.

While playing in the stall of one of his father's horses early last evening, Sidney Robinovitz, the five-year-old son of Simon Robinovitz, of 450 East Chestnut street, was kicked on the head by the animal and sustained a fracture of the skull.

The horse's hoof struck the little fellow directly over the right eye, which escaped injury, part of the iron shoe circling around that organ and crushing the bones of the upper portion of the nose. Dr. R. M. Jones, who attended the lad, performed an operation, removing several splinters of bone to relieve the pressure on the brain. He believes that unless complications follow the operation the boy will recover from his injuries.

MAN HURT IN FIGHT UNCONSCIOUS ON STREET.

A man, who afterward gave his name as Joe O'Brien, was found lying unconscious on Sixteenth street, between Lexington and Southgate streets, as the result of several bad wounds he is said to have received in an encounter in a saloon. Patrolmen Ramer and Smith found him last night at 7:30 o'clock. He was taken to the City Hospital and admitted there under the name of Joe O'Brien, but a short while after he was admitted a man who gave his name as Edward Davis inquired about the wounds of O'Brien, and said that the injured man's name was not O'Brien, but was Albert Robins. Davis lives at 1406 Sixteenth street, and said that he was a friend and neighbor of Robins. He explained that Robins had become engaged in a saloon quarrel, which had resulted in his sustaining several ugly gashes. The identity of the man who cut him is not known.

Robins refused to say who cut him. Robins is twenty-four years old, and said that he lived on Sixteenth street, between Lexington and Southgate streets.

WAS BITTER TOWARD THAW

Evelyn Nesbit's Mother Wrote To White.

Letters Found In Effects of Dead Man.

Was Deeply Affected By Daughter's Disgrace.

ASKED WHITE'S ASSISTANCE.

New York, July 21.—The World tomorrow will say:

Motive for the murder of Stanford White is indicated in a series of letters written by Mrs. C. J. Holman, mother of Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, to Mr. White, and after the latter's death found among his effects.

Abraham H. Hummel, of Howe & Hummel, who was counsel for Mrs. Thaw and also for Stanford White, was consulted by the architect regarding the letters. In them Mrs. Nesbit-Holman complains bitterly of the conduct of Harry K. Thaw toward her daughter, now his wife, and implores Mr. White to do all in his power to bring her back to her mother's control.

* * *

Denounces Thaw.

In the letters Mrs. Holman refers to Thaw as a scoundrel, a villain and a man with murderous intent in his heart. She tells of an interview she had with Thaw while they were in Paris, and declares that Thaw wanted her, Mrs. Holman, to sign an affidavit to the effect that he, Thaw, had never intended to make Evelyn his wife.

It appears that Thaw became aware of the fact that White had been appealed to by Mrs. Nesbit, now Mrs. Holman, and that the architect knew of the quarrels between Thaw and his present wife, also that Evelyn had told her stepfather that she was not married to Harry Thaw at the time they arrived from Europe and were driven out of the Hotel Cumberland.

Thaw at that time had given a statement, which was afterward corroborated from Pittsburg, that he and Evelyn had been married while in Europe. Thaw knew that White was the only person not of his family who knew that this statement was false and that Thaw did not marry his present wife until months later in Pittsburg.

* * *

May Be Used As Evidence.

Just what disposition is to be made of these letters is not known at present. The letters are kept in a safe, and it may be that they will be produced if Thaw should ever be placed on trial for murder and Mrs. Nesbit-Holman should become a witness.

District Attorney Jerome is anxious that Mrs. Holman come to New York, so that she may be served with a subpoena to appear at the trial. If she does she will be cross-examined most severely and questioned as to how, among other things, she came to apply to White for financial aid.

Among the papers left by White are also a number of letters written to Mr. Holman, husband of Mrs. Harry Thaw's mother. It would appear that he, too, knew all about the relations between Harry Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit. In all these letters Mrs. Thaw is referred to as "Florence." She was called thus before she went on the stage, and later on her friends came to call her Evelyn. But to Stanford White she was Florence.

* * *

One of the Letters.

Among the first letters is one written by Mrs. Nesbit to Mr. White. It is undated, but was penned after Mrs. Nesbit had returned from abroad, where she had been abandoned by Harry Thaw and Evelyn, who at that time was not his wife. The letter was headed "Friday," but evidently was written in 1903. It is as follows:

Dear Mr. White: Your letter received. Will send Florence's letter as you desired. When we first went to Paris and met Thaw he and Florence quarreled continually. We were—at least I was—indeed miserable. I expected each day to hear her say we would return to America. Thaw came to me, asked me to sign a paper. The article was that he did not intend to marry Florence. I thought as she hated him, I was doing the right thing. I do hope something can be done to save her from him. He does not intend to marry her. I only hope when she hears about the paper that her pride will at least save her. Very truly,

E. F. NESBIT.

Another Appeal.

About the time Thaw and Evelyn Nesbit returned from Europe, November 1, 1904, there was considerable space devoted by the newspapers to young Thaw and his companion. Mrs. Nesbit had married in the meantime Mr. Holman, and in her desperation it seems the only person she ever cared to appeal to was Mr. White, who had been known as Evelyn Nesbit's early protector. Mrs. Holman wrote to Mr. White as follows:

The morning papers say Florence is in New York. If the coward won't say she is honorably his wife please try to get her to se you and talk sense to her, and have her understand the awful light he has placed her in before the world.

I am simply tortured with reporters. My head has simply been splitting for a week. You have no idea how disgraceful this affair is to Pittsburg people. They drive me wild telling me to take action; that she is not of age.

Mr. White, please do try to talk to her. She is too young to understand how she is being wronged. I hope I hear from you very soon.

E. F. HOLMAN.

Afraid For Her Boy.

There is another letter signed "E. Holman," and addressed and written on a Thursday to "Dear Mr. White." Evidently when Mrs. Holman wrote this letter she was afraid her boy Howard, whom Mr. White had also befriended, was beginning to think that there was something wrong in the relations of his sister and Harry Thaw. Mrs. Holman writes as follows:

Florence had asked Howard to visit her at Christmas time. Do you think it would be right when she is in the horrible position she seems in? She says she is not married. Howard is not a child and he has heard some horrible expressions from the boys at school. Oh, how horribly she has disgraced us all. I am heartsick and Mr. Holman feels it so. People in Pittsburg talk awfully and the men hate him so. The wretched beast sent articles to the papers of Pittsburg. He did all he could to get me to say something so he could publish that awful story he had made up, saying I sold my daughter. I certainly did not. Howard will soon be home. He will be a great comfort. He is learning to obey and I am grateful to you for it. I hope you are well and that I may hear from you. Do you know if Florence is married?

* * *

Talk of An Affidavit.

In concluding his story, which includes many other letters, the World says:

"Much has been said since the night Harry Thaw killed White about an affidavit which Evelyn Nesbit is said to have made in the office of Mr. Hummell, and in which she is reported to have said things concerning the man now her husband. It is known positively that the original affidavit is in existence, and that it was drawn in Mr. Hummell's office at the instigation of Mr. White, who had taken the girl to the lawyer. It is believed that this affidavit, the contents of which are known to Thaw, had much to do with the murder. Mr. Jerome may be able to get possession of the affidavit.

"Mr. Jerome will have no trouble in getting from the White estate all the documents having any bearing on the murder and the White lawyers have assured Mr. Jerome that they will do all in their power to aid the prosecution.

"There are many more letters written to Mr. White by the Nesbits, but whether they will be made public has not been decided upon as yet."

AND HE DELAYED MESSAGES LONG ENOUGH

TO ROLL AND LIGHT CIGARETTE

Says He Drank So Much Whiskey and Smoked So Many Cigarettes That When His Wife Brought Him to James' Sanatorium He Was Almost Paralyzed—Odor of Cigarettes and Whiskey Now Nauseates Him.

The following extracts are from a testimonial from an old railroad agent and telegraph operator who claims to have drunk whiskey and smoked cigarettes eighteen hours out of the twenty-four for the past seven years:

Chas. B. James, care James Sanatorium, Memphis, Tenn.: Dear Sir—"Your favor of the 2d instant received regarding my testimonial, and as I am not now dependent on the Railroad Company for employment, I will consent for you to use my name in a testimonial.

"When I was brought to your Sanatorium for treatment, as you will remember, I was almost helpless. My only thought by day and by night was whiskey and cigarettes; in fact, it was a case of whiskey and cigarette mania with me, and as you will remember, I was almost paralyzed. I had become so broken down in health from overwork, and my nerves were so unsteady that I could not hold a cigarette, and in order to satisfy my cravings for cigarettes my wife would kindly make them for me, and in making them would make several at a time and lay them on the table near the bed, where I could reach them at all times during the night. I would smoke as high as one or two dozen cigarettes during the night and would inhale every breath of the smoke. During the day I would stop nearly any kind of work to make a cigarette. I was a telegraph operator and railroad agent, and often when at the key this cigarette craving would come on me, and if I was in the middle of a telegram I would throw the key open and delay the message long enough to roll or relight my cigarette.

"My position was a trying one, and in fact there was sufficient work for two men. It was therefore necessary that I remain up late every night, consequently I drank whiskey and smoked cigarettes for at least 18 hours out of the 24. I never got real drunk, but just kept as full as I could and do my work. I, of course, thought everything was all right until I was so near dead that my wife and friends finally persuaded me to go to you for treatment. My condition was so poor at that time that I could not take both the whiskey and tobacco treatment. I, however, reduced the number of cigarettes I was using per day.

"I drank whiskey for about seven years; commenced by taking a little drink early in the morning on account of malaria, as I claimed, and afterwards took them before breakfast as an appetizer. This appetizer drinking has ruined many a man. Finally it got to be that I drank two quarts of whiskey a week, then it grew to be a quart every ten hours. In addition to this I would take a farewell drink on going to bed. In the morning on arising I would take at least three good-size drinks of whiskey and smoke at least half a dozen cigarettes before breakfast. I drank the whiskey to enable me to meet the early trains. Now in looking back over the past it seems a wonder that I ever pulled through even with the assistance of your wonderful remedies.

"I was not physically able while at your Sanatorium, but some time after my return home I concluded to rid myself entirely of cigarettes and ordered a Home Treatment for the cigarette habit, and judging from my experience with your cigarette remedy, am satisfied that anyone who wishes to do so can rid himself of tobacco in any form. He has only to make up his mind that he really wants to quit, and the medicine you furnish will do the rest. In my case it has rendered the odor of cigarettes and whiskey so obnoxious to me that I cannot bear the smell, and when some of my friends who are addicted to the use of cigarettes and whiskey get near me with a combination of whiskey and cigarettes on their breath it nauseates me to such an extent that I almost vomit.

"I began smoking cigarettes when I was 14 years old, and in order to do so had to hide from my father. I was always ashamed to smoke them in his presence. I was 35 years old when I took treatment with you, so you see I had stuck to cigarettes 21 years.

"My reason for going into my experience in such detail is with the hope that my experience may deter others from beginning the use of whiskey or cigarettes. They are twin devils, and will not only ruin a man's health and destroy his fortune, but will wreck his family as well as himself.

"Thanking you for the great benefit derived from your treatment, both Home and Sanatorium, and wishing you much success, I am, yours truly,

"Flora, Miss., July 2, 1906."

Increased Price of Paris Green Brings Joy To Bugville

News Received With Great Rejoicing and Mayor Bug Proclaims Holiday.

Bugs, not only Kentucky bugs, but all bugs everywhere, are said to be wearing a glad and a relieved smile. Paris green, which than no other food stuff is more hated by Bugville, has gone up and that which used to be bought for twenty-five cents a pound now costs forty or thereabouts.

Jubilee parties are quite the thing in Bugville now, and it is understood that the Mayor of the city has declared a day to be spent in feasting and thanksgiving. Those bugs and insects which have been associated in attacking farm and garden products, and which hoped for an advance in the wholesale prices of paris green, did not miscalculate.

Something happened to the arsenic mines in Wales, and the reduced supply has caused the wholesale price of paris green to advance fully fifty per cent. Bugville looks for a corresponding reduction in its mortality rate. Local druggists announced that the retail price of the poison would follow the advance of the wholesale price. It has, and the farmers and garden truck raisers have bought less of it.

Bugs bless the accident which resulted in the curtailment of the output of the principal ingredient of paris green, while the farmer does his potato bug killing with two sticks.

CHILDREN CLING TO MOTHER'S CORPSE

MRS. SALLEE MIGHT HAVE BEEN MURDERED.

WARRANT FOR MAN WITH WHOM SHE LIVED.

MORPHINE BOTTLE NEAR BODY

Harrodsburg, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Salida Sallee, twenty-four years old, was found dead behind a fence in the suburbs this morning with her four children huddled around her body. A year ago she deserted her husband at this place and went to Cincinnati with Howard Watts. According to the story of the oldest child, Watts whipped her mother in Cincinnati yesterday, and was arrested. The authorities put the woman and children on the train for Burgin, and they were walking from Burgin to this place. They went to sleep on the roadside soon after dark. A half-filled morphine bottle was found beside the woman, and it was supposed she ended her life by taking some of the drug. The girl to-night changed her story and says Watts followed them from Cincinnati, and while her mother was asleep he murdered her with a piece of iron. A warrant was sworn out to-night charging Watts with murder, and Sheriff Davenport has gone to the county to try to arrest him.

Lived In Carthage.

Cincinnati, O., July 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Sallee, with six children, penniless, homeless and hungry in a strange city, appealed to Mayor's Clerk Michael Dempsey yesterday for help. She gave her name as Mrs. Tabitha Williams and said that she and the children had come to Cincinnati from Harrodsburg, Ky., three months ago. She asked to be supplied with transportation to Harrodsburg, where she desired to go home to her mother, who takes in washing for a living. They were given railroad tickets to their home.

It was learned to-night that the woman and her reputed husband had been living in Carthage, O., a suburb, the past three months. The man fired a pistol Thursday and was fined $50, and the woman was fined $5 and given forty-eight hours to leave the town.

Washington Health Department Post Sentinels To Intercept the Man.

Washington, July 21.—George Rossett, a Syrian leper from Beirut, shipped over Maryland railroads on his way to the institution for lepers on North Brother's Island, New York, left Brunswick, Md., on a special freight train at 5 o'clock to-day and is expected to reach New York Sunday night by way of Baltimore and Philadelphia. His journey through Maryland excited serious apprehension. He was put into an empty box car on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at Evitt's Creek by the police without interference from the employes. At Brunswick the nearly famished leper was given food and water. On receipt of the report that he intended to come to Washington, Dr. Fowler, of the Health Department, established sentinels on the outskirts of the city to intercept him.

Gourdain Returns To Chicago.

Chicago, July 21.—Louis A. Gourdain returned to Chicago to-day after his futile attempt to break into the Joliet penitentiary with the aid of the United States Supreme Court. He left for Joliet to-night, declaring he would at once begin constructing the private prison in which he will serve out his sentence.

"I HAVE been suffering much of late," he said, "with writer's cramp." And smiling wanly, he tightened his belt two holes.

"Here is where it usually takes me," he explained, patting his concave stomach.

NEW CEMETERY

May Be Established East of New Albany.

LOCAL CAPITALISTS TAKE OPTION ON LAND.

PLAN TO ENGAGE LANDSCAPE GARDENERS.

COMPANY TO CONDUCT IT.

A number of New Albany capitalists will take steps shortly to purchase a tract of land east of that city, their purpose being to convert it into a cemetery. Within the last few days they have taken options on 130 acres of land and as soon as practicable will form a company and close the deal for the purchase of the property. It is their intention to convert the tract into one of the handsomest cemeteries in the country, the property, on account of its situation and natural advantages, being peculiarly susceptible to improvement by landscape gardening.

No attempt will be made to sell the property to the city of New Albany, but it will be owned, improved and conducted by a stock company. Fairview cemetery, in that city, which was established more that sixty years ago, now is surrounded by dwellings and within a few years it will be filled. In consequence of this condition of affairs several enterprising New Albany men, who have been agitating the matter of increasing the cemetery facilities, have secured the option and will organize the company. For several years the city authorities have been urged by the people to purchase the land, as an addition to Fairview or to secure property near the city for a new cemetery.

Injured By Lightning.

J. W. Garrett, a man in the employ of the Barber Asphalt Company, was struck by a bolt of lightning during the terrific thunder storm Friday night at his boarding house, 521 East Market street, New Albany, and for several hours he was unconscious from the effects of the shock. Garrett and a companion were sitting in the open door when the bolt came. He was thrown prostrate to the floor and lay there apparently dead, while the man sitting beside him, sustained not even the slightest perceptible shock. Several persons sitting in the room suffered no inconvience and scarcely realized that they were so near to possible injury. There was no trace whatever of lightning about the building and no marks could be found on Garrett. Dr. Anna McKamey was sent for and several hours were occupied before the injured man was restored to consciousness.

Will of Mrs. Mary C. Springer.

The will of Mrs. Mary C. Springer, an old resident of New Albany, was probated in the Circuit Court in that city yesterday. She devised to her son, Jacob M. F. Eller, fifteen feet of lot No. 2, East Third street, with the appurtenances, and the remaining fifteen feet to her grandson, Joseph Eller. The propert consists of a double-tenement frame house, with a dividing wall and the will provides that if this wall is not in the center, the property shall be held by the beneficiary receiving it, without his being required to pay to the other anything for the use of the property. It is further provided in the will that when the house is removed or rebuilt the son or grandson shall only build to the center of the thirty-foot lot, occupying the fifteen feet belonging to him. She also leaves all her personal property to the son and grandson. The will was made April 24, 1903, the witnesses being Jacob Herter and Charles E. Lloyd.

Success or the Sheriff?

Bankruptcy Is Usually Located In the Stomach As Well As In the Blood.

Your business is not going to take care of itself, like an eight-day clock. Your business is yourself, and it depends on your brain for success.

A clear brain and a lot of perspiration will bring you many dollars. A foggy brain and a tired feeling will bring you many worries in your business, and it will usually be the first step toward a Sheriff's sale.

The foggy brain comes from a lazy stomach and a slow circulation. That's because the stomach is badly nourished. A good strong stomach always goes with a quick, clear brain.

So it all depends on the food you eat. What affects the body, affects the brain first.

A quick body usually is ruled by a quick brain.

Your sluggish body will make you a dullard. And meat and other heavy foods will do it every time. Watch it.

Get the habit of eating less and less meat and fatty foods that only create heat, but no strength, and you will find yourself getting more and more brain, muscle and endurance.

Eat more wheat.

Hardyfood is the wheat. You eat it for breakfast, have a delicious morsel of it for your noon-day luncheon, keep your brain clear for your day's work, and then when your evening meal is at hand, take just enough to sharpen that craving appetite. And cut down your meat and other fatty, "heaty" foods. You will get strong and jolly and enjoy life.

Hardyfood is made from pure grains and cereals by methods absolutely new and original. All unnecessary portions of the grain that wear out the stomach and do no good are removed.

A Sioux City business man writes, "Since I have been using Hardyfood for breakfast every morning, I feel like running a race to town to attend to my affairs, and jumping up and shouting. I feel fine. I would rather have Hardyfood than a life insurance policy."

All grocers sell Hardyfood for 10 cents a package.

John Telford, New York City, $1,000 at 103.875.

Samuel Byerley, New York City, $2,819,-589 at 103.897.

The last bid is for $5,000,000. Should any of the other successful bidders fail to complete their purchase, the amount allotted to Mr. Byerley will be increased.

Mr. Robinson, of the firm of Fisk & Robinson, New York, the largest, and Mr. Ayres, of the Merchants' National Bank, of Philadelphia, the second largest buyer, had a conference at the office of Secretary Shaw this afternoon in reference to the price they would ask for such bonds as they did not wish to retain for themselves, and 104.4 plus 3 per cent. interest after August 1 was agreed upon. As the bonds pay 2 per cent., the buyer will have to pay 1 per cent. interest after August 1. In view of the fact that the Merchants' National Bank paid 104.36 for $11,000,-000 of the bonds, it is pointed out that the margin between the buying and selling price is a narrow one.

Treasury officials learned to-day that one bid for $5,000,000 at $103,867 had been misplaced. It was found among bids of a lower figure. The discovery of this bid will fix the line between the successful and unsuccessful bidders at about $103.85. This bid is one of several that were filed by Samuel Byerley, of New York.

Owensboro, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Mrs. Mary Borel filed suit in the Circuit Court to-day asking damages from the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railroad in the sum of $10,000 because she and her six-months-old child were put off a train at Hawesville when a ticket to Owensboro had been bought. Mrs. Borel states that she left the train on information from an employe of the road, that her intended destination had been reached. She was a stranger in Hawesville and was compelled to wait at the depot on a dark night and in a hard rain for several hours until another train came along. Mrs. Borel alleges that she was in a delicate state of health and that both she and her child were injured by exposure during their wait.

Dr. Eisendrath attempted to avoid the wagon with terrific force. Both physicians were thrown to the pavement and Dr. Frank received injuries which it is thought will cause his death.

CITY FEATURES.

A WILD RUSH

for Lots In the Recently-Opened Dulaney Place.

The "old Dulaney Place," as it has been called for years, will soon take on a new name, for within a few weeks a score or more of homes will be in course of construction on what has been for years a vacant expanse, surrounded on all sides by homes and factories. The land has been placed on the market by the Tennant Land Company, and the rush at the first sale of lots yesterday resembled the crush at a Government opening of Western land. Despite the rain, hundreds were attracted, and before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon over 200 lots had been sold.

This very desirable property has long been sought by prospective home builders, and when the Tennant Land Company threw it open for public purchase there was a ready response. Another sale will be held Monday, and this promises to surpass the first. The Tennant Land Company is preparing for a great gathering of prospective purchasers who will doubtless visit the section to-day.

Improved Quarters.

The brokerage firm of Herman F. Monroe & Co. have just completed extensive improvements to their offices in the Kenyon Building, and now have quarters as up-to-date in equipment and as inviting in appearance as any in the city.

This firm does a very large business both in the New York and Chicago markets, and every facility and convenience for the expeditious and exact transaction of the brokerage business will be found ready at hand at their offices.

Rupture Specialist.

Pure ice in blocks now obtainable at the National Ice Cream Company plant, Broadway, near First.

WOMAN TO BE CAPTAIN OF LAKE STEAMERS.

Chicago, July 21.—Mrs. Ofden McClurg, of this city, a daughter-in-law of the late Gen. A. C. McClurg, was to-day given her final papers bestowing the rank of captain, pilot and master on the chain of great lakes. Mrs. McClurg is the first woman to receive this distinction on the great lakes. She is now the captain of the "Sea Fox," the McClurg steam yacht, a boat of seventy-four tons.

TO AID MOTHER

GEORGE EDWARDS DESERTS FROM THE ARMY.

Started Home In Response To Letter Saying She Was Destitute.

In order that he might aid his mother who was in poor circumstances, in Nashville, Tenn., George Edwards, of the Sixty-fourth company of Coast artillery, stationed at the Presidio, San Francisco, deserted from his regiment last April, and while trying to make his way back to his native city was arrested early yesterday morning at Twelfth and Jefferson streets by Patrolmen O'Donnell and McDonald. They had received word that he was a deserter, and they took him into custody. He was presented in the Police Court and his case was continued until next Thursday. Later, he confessed to Sergeant William Smith, of the recruiting station.

"I was in the company," said he, "and liked the work. I would have stuck to it, but just at that time, I received a letter from my mother, Mrs. Bella Edwards, that my father had been sent to the county asylum, having been driven crazy by the opium habit. She said that she was penniless and left alone with the exception of a younger brother. I could not stand to think of her suffering, and watching for a chance when I was sent to San Francisco for guard duty, I escaped. I made my way to a town several miles distant. I began to fear that I was doing the wrong thing, and was about to go back when the earthquake struck the city. I was left without any clothes, and was destitute. By the time that I had earned enough to procure some clothing, it was too late to think of returning without punishment, and so I started to make my way home.

"I have been working along the way, and sending the money to my mother. I do not know what is going to become of her now. I will be imprisoned, I suppose, and them will not be able to support her at all. I fear very much for the outcome."

TWO MORE DEATHS THAN BIRTHS REPORTED.

The health report for the last week shows that deaths exceeded births reported by only two. There was a total of eighty-five deaths and eighty-three births. Heart disease proved the most fatal during the week, nine persons having succumbed to that disease. Tuberculosis of the lungs caused seven deaths. There were three suicides, one drowning and one case of homicide during the week.

DEDICATE MONASTERY.

ELABORATE CEREMONIES BY PASSIONIST FATHERS NEXT SUNDAY.

Services To Be Presided Over By Bishop McCloskey.

The new monastry of the Passionist order, on the Newburg road, will be dedicated by the Rt. Rev. William George McCloskey, assisted by many of the clergy, on next Sunday, July 29. The building is one of the largest and most complete of its kind in the South, and is marked by many departures from the usual routine of outline, which characterizes the structures used for similar purposes. Surrounded by a great woodland of maple, pine and mulberry trees, the building stands on a slight eminence, about 150 feet from the road, and, facing the east, has a frontage of 200 feet and a depth of 125 feet. D. X. Murphy & Brother, who drew the plant, had the structure built of brick with beautiful stone facings.

The front entrance has a spacious portico paved with stone, which is supported by colonial pillars of immense proportions, saved from the old building. Over the facade surmounting the monastery is a belfry with a plain, gilded cross. The building contains about sixty rooms besides the basement, in which are the engine and boiler rooms, used for laundry work and for heating the entire building. The most complete plumbing obtainable has been used throughout the structure, water and electric lighting being on every floor. On the first floor are the reception room, parlors, public chapel, dining-room, and kitchen with storeroom, pantry and cubinets. The second floor contains the private chapel, which will be used by the sick or aged members of the monastery, recreation rooms, infirmary, and rooms provided for the fathers and brothers. The third floor will be occupied by the novices, fourteen of which will be brought to the new monastery from the noviciate at Pittsburg, Pa. This floor also contains the library and student's room, three sides of which will be furnished with shelving to be filled with the works of the early fathers of the church. Many of these are bound in parchment and date back to A. D., 1590.

This collection of five thousand books will be composed largely of modern treatises on science, books of travel and ethics, and works of theology and philosophy. Old musicals and ancient treatises on scriptural topics written in the days when books were scarce known abound in this extensive library.

The Passionist order made their entrance into America in 1852, and since then have been steadily growing. Their new monastery will be known as the Passionists' retreat and, away from the city's noise, its name is emblematic of the peace and quiet, in which the monks will pass their hours in prayer, study or labor.

REYNOLDS SAID TO HAVE "GONE TO NEW YORK."

At the instance of Robert J. Hagan, Prosecuting Attorney, eighteen warrants were issued against Dan Reynolds, yesterday morning, charging him with carrying on and operating a pool-room at 311 Fifth street. The warrants were sworn out by Patrolman Kettler, who gave the information through which Reynolds was arrested several weeks ago. He was dismissed without prejudice in the Police Court at that time, because the warrants had been improperly issued under the name of the "Commonwealth of Kentucky," instead of the "City of Louisville." Reynolds was reported to have "gone to New York on an indefinite stay."

FORGETS HER AGE.

PRETTY MARY SLAUGHTER STOPS WEDDING CEREMONY.

Later Returns With Permit From Father, Who Says She Is Now Sixteen.

Dazed by unfamiliar surroundings and strange faces and frightened by the numerous questions asked her, some of which she did not know how to answer, pretty, timid Mary Josie Slaughter forgot how old she was when she applied for a marriage license in Jeffersonville yesterday. She had gone to the courthouse with Russell Cowles, her betrothed, and when George W. Badger insisted on knowing how old she was all she could say was that she was born on January 20, but the year had passed out of her mind. She managed to say she was fourteen, and for the time being this stopped all proceedings, as Mr. Badger said the law would not permit him to issue the license under the circumstances.

Cowles and Miss Slaughter had come from near the K. and I. cement mill, back of Jeffersonville several miles, and were accompanied by a large man in his shirt sleeves, who afterward proved to be James Stephens, and two women, who would not have been refused a license on account of their ages. After it was found the license could not be secured the party held a council of war and some time later left the courthouse. Several hours afterward the five returned and Miss Slaughter wore a composed air, was in a good humor and laughingly remarked that she had celebrated the sixteenth anniversary of her birth while gone.

Miss Slaughter then presented a written statement from her father, James Slaughter, who works at the car works, saying she was more than sixteen and that he consented to her marriage. The license was issued on this and Magistrate Charles S. Ferguson married the pair. Cowles, according to the application he made, was born in Warren county, Ky., on November 23, 1884, and now lives in Clark county, Ind. The bride was born in Barren county, Ky., January 20, 1890, and is a resident of Clark county. The pair recently came from Kentucky and Miss Slaughter said they had been trying to get married since last Wednesday.

NEGRO HOLDS UP TOM JOHNSON AT SALOON DOOR.

Pete Walker, colored, was arrested at Twelfth and Green streets yesterday afternoon by Patrolmen Speed and Connelly, on the charge of highway robbery. He is said to have held up Tom Johnson, who conducts a saloon at Tenth and Green streets, yesterday morning at 1 o'clock, and to have robbed him of ten dollars. It is alleged that he attempted to seize Mr. Johnson's stud, which is said to be valued at $1,000.

"I noticed the fellow hanging around all evening," said Mr. Johnson, "but did not suspect anything. After locking my saloon at 1 o'clock, I was about to leave, when I heard a knock at the door. Opening it, I saw Walker, who asked for a drink. I refused, and as I started to walk out, he made a grab for my diamond. I threw up my arm to save it, and he thrust his other hand into my pocket and seized the money which was in bills. I noticed two other negroes behind him, and struggled to free myself. The entire front of my shirt was torn to shreds, but my stone is fastened with a heavy protector, and that alone saved it. I wrenched myself free and ran into the store to get a revolver. When I returned, the men had fled.

"MASHER" FINED.

JEFFERSONVILLE MAN FOUND GUILTY IN POLICE COURT.

Said To Have Followed Miss Fannie Sanders and To Have Spoken To Her.

William West, of Jeffersonville, was presented in the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of "mashing," and was fined $50 and put under $500 bond for six months by James P. Edwards, acting Judge. West was arrested at Fourth avenue and Market street Friday afternoon by Patrolman Sigel on the complaint of Miss Fannie Sanders, who said that West had followed her and had addressed insulting remarks to her, in addition with trying to flirt with her. West denied the charge and said that he had mistaken her for a friend.

OHIO COUNTY COUPLE ELOPES TO JEFFERSONVILLE.

Dr. Harry Smith, of Prentiss, Ohio county, Ky., and Miss Ida Frizzelle, of the same county, eloped to Jeffersonville during the heavy rain yesterday morning and were married by Magistrate B. T. Thixton. The groom was born in M'Lean county, Ky., October 12, 1878, and is a son of C. W. Smith, a farmer, who now lives in Ohio county. He was divorced from a former wife one and one-half years ago, according to the application. The bride is a daughter of Abe Frizzelle, a farmer, and was born in Ohio county, on March 18, 1885. She was attired in what had been spotless white when she left home, but the rain and mud changed the color of her wedding gown to some extent.

DEFECTIVE LAWS

May Be In Operation In Tennessee.

NOT SIGNED IN OPEN SESSION OF LEGISLATURE.

MAY EFFECT SALE OF LIQUOR IN SOME CITIES.

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE.

Nashville, Tenn., July 21.—[Special.]—Should the Supreme Court of Tennessee sustain intimations and rulings made years ago, and decide that the provision of the Constitution requiring that "no bill shall become a law until it shall have been signed by the respective Speakers in open session, the fact of such signing to be noted on the Journal," is mandatory, the effect will be far reaching.

An investigation which has been quietly pursued here developed the fact that about 200 of the laws passed since 1871 are lacking in the signatures of one or both Speakers, and one of them lacks not only the signatures of the Speakers, but also of the Governor. Many of the laws are of great importance and probably millions of dollars are involved by the defect, which it is claimed is a fatal one, according to the decisions of the Supreme Court. If these laws are held to be void, the map of Tennessee will have to be withdrawn as to county lines; some towns which by legislative enactment were wiped off of the map will have to be placed back again, and some others in turn wiped out.

Attack Validity of Law.

In an important lawsuit now pending in Nashville the validity of a law on the statute books is attacked on the ground that one of the Journals does not show that the law received the signature of the Speaker, and this, it is emphatically claimed by those championing the question, is absolutely essential to the life of the bill. The Constitutions of 1796 and 1834 did not require that the fact that the bill was signed in open session should appear on the Journal, but the Constitution of 1871, under which the State is now operating, does so require. Eugene McSweeney, of the Nashville bar, has spent several months going over the Journals of the Legislature since 1871, and has completed all but two sessions. He has found nearly 200 laws that are defective in that they fail to show that the Speaker of the House or Senate, or both of them, signed the bills after they had been passed. This list has been verified and certified to by the Secretary of State.

Among the important measures which lack the necessary signatures, according to the journals of the two houses of the General Assembly, is the act authorizing the erection of the present State Penitentiary in West Nashville. This act was passed in 1883. The act of 1877 establishing the State Board of Health also appears from the original journal to not have been properly signed by one of the Speakers. The act providing for the erection of the West Tennessee Hospital for the Insane is also so defective, as stated in the introduction.

The act of 1873 fixing and declaring the representation of the State of Tennessee in the Congress of the United States also appears from an examination of the Senate Journal not to have received the signature of the Speaker of the Senate.

May Effect Sale of Liquor.

Ten bills repealing charters of towns or cities, and two bills reincorporating towns have been found to be defective in that they failed to receive the signatures of the Speakers of one or both houses, according to the journals, and it is probable that some of the "wet" element in towns which availed themselves of the provisions of the Adams law will be anxiously inquiring whether or not their towns are still legally entitled to work under the old charters and the traffic in "redeye" still continued, or resumed, for it is not to be supposed that any of the "stuff" has been sold since these towns abolished their old charters. Bolivar is one of the towns so affected.

The city of Pulaski is one of the oftenest hit in the whole list. Few towns or counties are affected more than once. Among the defective acts relating to Pulaski are two amending the charter of the city in various ways, and one extending the corporate limits of the town. It has often been said that Giles county comes in for its share of everything going the rounds, and this appears to be the case in this instance, as not only has Pulaski received several knocks, according to Mr. McSweeney's investigation, but Lynnville and other places in the county have got a knock here and there.

The factory inspection law of 1899, the public school act of 1873, the school fund law of 1871, four general appropriation bills and the bill authorizing the completion of work on the State Capitol and grounds are also defective.

The Sinking Fund act of 1899, and the tax law of the same year, two acts amending the coal oil inspection law and the act of 1877 providing that not more than 6 per cent. interest shall be collected upon money loaned are others of the important measures upon the statute books of Tennessee to which, according to the House and Senate journals, the proper signatures were not affixed in open session.

Body Removed Illegally.

Considerable sentiment attached to the removal of the remains of Willie Blount, former Governor of Tennessee, and under an act of the Legislature twenty years ago and more they were removed, reinterred and a monument erected over the new resting place of the deceased Chief Executive. It appears from Mr. McSweeney's examination that the bill authorizing that this be done and making an appropriation for the purpose was never signed in open session of the House.

In 1883 the Legislature passed an act authorizing the payment of the $10,000 reward offered previously for the capture of former State Treasurer Marsh T. Polk. This bill does not appear to have been signed in open session of one of the houses.

Among other important measures defective are the acts abolishing the law court of Nashville, repealing the charters of all cities in the State having a population in excess of 36,000 under the Federal census of 1880, extending the statute of limitations to liens on realty, and providing for the appointment of notaries public.

Other defective acts may be summarized as follows: Extending city limits, three; authorizing bond issues, seven; authorizing construction of bridges, one; redistricting counties, four; amending city charters, seven; amending criminal laws in important particulars, four; diverting municipal funds, two; changing lines between two or more counties, nineteen, and establishing new courts, two.

Besides these there are 118 laws which may be classed as general. Some apply to the privileges and rights of Chancery and Circuit Courts, the extent of the geographical jurisdiction of courts, the powers and duties of corporations, and extending or limiting the powers and duties of municipal or county corporations. Others apply to the administration of the State revenue laws, or the powers and duties of State, county and municipal officials, etc.

Blow For Back Tax Law.

The question of back assessing property in Tennessee, a policy which has, under the sleuthlike efforts of back tax collectors and revenue agents, swelled the treasury receipts, received a body blow at Memphis this week. It was in the case of the city, county and State against the Memphis Street Railway, the revenue agent acting for the parties first named, authorizing the county trustee to back assess defendant's property for 1902, 1903 and 1904, on the ground that it had not been properly assessed. County Trustee Taylor held that he had no power to go behind assessments once they were passed upon by the Statee Board of Equalization. The complainants also attacked the constitutionality of the act passed by the last Legislature, clothing the State Railroad Commission with power to assess all street and steam railways, telephone and telegraph properties, whether urban or not. On this point Trustee Taylor held that he could not pass upon the constitutionality of the statutes; that was the business of the courts.

It is likely the complainants will now carry the question into court. In their State platforms both parties have declared against back assessments, and it is likely the next Legislature will repeal all laws giving revenue agents such powers. The laws have become very obnoxious, especially to the corporations. Under the assessment laws in this State, city, county and State equalizing boards pass upon the findings of assessors, the tax is paid, and two or three years later a revenue agent comes along and asks that the findings of the three boards be overturned. As a consequence, property-owners never know when they pay their taxes.

Presbyterians Still At Outs.

The trouble between the Presbyterians, mentioned in this correspondence a few weeks ago, continues to grow worse. Nearly every Cumberland Presbyterian church in the State is split, and the ownership of the church property is becoming a serious question. In several places within the past two weeks one or the other faction has seized the church and held the other faction at bay. In some places the doors and windows have been barred and personal difficulties narrowly averted. There are hints that a big legal battle over the possession of the Cumberland Presbyterian Publishing House, located in Nashville, will open at an early day. In the main the dissenters seem to outnumber the unionists in the Tennessee churches.

Fight Against Saloons.

The saloon men in Nashville are not resting on a bed of roses these days. In fact they are thoroughly frightened. Some weeks ago, after a tremendous fight, the city tax was raised from $72 to $250 per annum, after the bill had been once defeated. Then their friends in the Council got through a bill allowing the payment of this tax in three equal installments, but the Mayor vetoed it on the ground that it was class legislation. As a consequence several of the saloons had to close their doors, being unable to raise the money. Next winter the Legislature will be called upon to make such an amendment in the city charter as will permit the Council to restrict the saloons to the business district. The expansion of the city next September will put four new men in the City Council, there being twenty-five instead of twenty-four wards after that date. The four new wards will elect men favorable to restriction, as they are residential wards. This will give the anti-saloon forces a good working majority, it is believed, in the Council and insure the passage of a restricting bill. Already some of the suburban saloonists are endeavoring to lease property for saloon purposes in the business district.

On top of this there is a possibility that the next Legislature will pass a bill extending the Adams law to every city in the State, thus barring the saloon entirely.

NOT A BILLIONAIRE.

ROCKEFELLER SAYS NEWSPAPERS HAVE WRONGED HIM.

Claims His Fortune Is Not One-Third What People Think It Is.

Cherbourg, July 21.—"I am not a billionaire. I am not worth as much as people say I am—not one-third of it. It is wrong for the newspapers to publish such stories."

This statement—the first John D. Rockefeller has ever made regarding the extent of his wealth—was given just as the Oil King boarded the Hamburg-American Line steamship America for New York.

"I am glad I am going home," continued Mr. Rockefeller. "I've had a splendid time. My six weeks in Compiegne will not be forgotten soon. There's no place like home, however, after all."

Mr. Rockefeller, well tanned and in splendid health, is on his way to the United States with a knowledgee that he may face a subpoena server with a Federal warrant for his arrest when he arrives in New York. He declared, however, that he does not fear any such action on the part of the Ohio authorities. He said that he had not been identified with the management of the Standard Oil Company for the past twelve years, and that the present suit was inspired by "spite and politics."

Before leaving Compiegne Mr. Rockefeller met Mayor Sarloueze in the Hotel de Ville and presented him with 3,000 francs ($600) for the City Hospital and other charities.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER WATER USED AT CHRISTENING.

London, July 21.—King Edward was one of the godfathers of the Duke of Manchester's second son, who was christened to-day in the chapel royal, St. James' palace. The King was represented by Earl Granville, a Lord-in-Waiting.

The other sponsors were Eugene Zimmerman, of Cincinnati, father-in-law of the Duke, and Consuelo, Duchess of Manchester, widow of the eighth Duke. Mississippi water, brought over especially for the occasion, was used at the christening. The mother was indisposed and unable to be present, but a fashionable gathering attended the ceremony.

PRINTERS WILL FIGHT THE TYPOTHATAE.

May Result In a Complete Tie-Up of Open Shops In Chicago.

Chicago, July 21.—A complete tie-up of the printing establishments of members of the Chicago Typothetae may follow action which has been taken by the Allied Printing Trades Council to assist the printers in their fight for an eight-hour day. The plans are being kept secret, but a committee of one from each of the five international unions affiliated with the council has been appointed with full power to act. It is said the stereotypers, photo-engravers and bookbinders already have received the sanction of their respective national officers to go on strike in aid of the printers on terms proposed by the latter. The printers have offered to pay the strike benefits of all workmen called out in sympathy with them.

The attitude of the printing pressmen has kept the other unions from engaging in the strike up to this time. The pressmen are under a five-year agreement with the employers, which does not expire until next May.

The agreement was made between the International Union and the United Typothetae of America, and the local union here was never in sympathy with its terms, although it has lived up to the agreement until this time. The refusal of the United Typothetae at its convention in Buffalo, which adjourned yesterday to consider the demands of the pressmen for an eight-hour day on the expiration of their contract will, the local officers say, result in forcing the pressmen to take sides with the printers.

BRYAN MAY SPEAK IN CINCINNATI.

Writes That He Is Opposed To Talk About His Candidacy For President.

Cincinnati, July 21.—Cincinnati will have the opportunity within a few weeks of hearing William J. Bryan. Mayor Dempsey and Dan Kiefer, of this city, addressed a letter to Mr. Bryan asking him to set aside one day of his itinerary for Cincinnati and make an address to the citizens. According to his promise he will spend either September 10 or 11 in this city. His letter is as follows:

"Wrest Park, Ampthill,
"Bedfordshire, July 8, 1906.

"My dear Mr. Kiefer: Your kind favor at hand. I am glad to see a turning toward our ideas. Shall be pleased to accept the invitation extended by the Mayor and your club. I shall be going from Nebraska to Southwestern Virginia the fore part of September and shall pass through Cincinnati about September 10 or 11. I might stop off then. Confer with the Mayor and write to my brother, who will in a few days be able to arrange for the trip. In the meantime my regards to the members of your club. Do not talk about my candidacy—time will show whether that is advisable. Talk about the vindication of Democratic principles. Yours in haste,

"W. J. BRYAN."

REVOKED SINCE SUNDAY-CLOSING WAS ORDERED.

Four Other Cases Now Pending—News of the City Hall.

The Fawn saloon license was revoked on a charge of keeping open after 1 o'clock in the morning.

Two of the cases that are pending are for alleged violations of the Sunday-closing law, and in the remaining two cases the saloon proprietors are charged with conducting disorderly houses. Evidence in these four cases will be heard by the License Board Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

LIBRARY ASSISTANTS

ATTENDING SUMMER SCHOOL FOR LIBRARIANS.

Three Young Women From Louisville Public Library On Leave of Absence For Six Weeks.

Three of the young women connected with the Louisville Free Public Library are attending the summer school for librarians conducted by the University of Wisconsin, and will be absent for six weeks, by permission of the Board of Trustees. They are Miss Sadie C. Doyle and Miss Jessie M. Taylor, of the circulation department, and Miss Helen Lanius, of the cataloguing deparament. The summer school for librarians at the University of Wisconsin stands well at the head of similar schools throughout the country, and is presided over by Miss Mary E. Hazeltine, formerly of the school for librarians at Chautauqua, N. Y. The students attend lectures on cataloguing, classification, the science of library work, bibliography, book selection, book buying and similar subjects, and are given practice work in the large libraries of the university and in the public library at Madison.

To keep pace with the great growth of public libraries throughout the country, twelve or more summer schools for librarians are maintained throughout the six weeks of the summer holidays. These schools do not attempt to give thorough instruction in library methods. Preference is given those students actually engaged in work in libraries or under appointment for work in libraries, and the aim is to make such students more proficient in the work they have taken up.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

The laws of nature and heredity are fixed and invariable. Parents who are related by the ties of blood, or who have a consumptive tendency, or family blood taint, are sure to transmit it to their children in the form of Scrofula. Swollen glands, brittle bones, weak eyes, hip disease, pale, waxy complexions, emaciated bodies, running sores and ulcers, and general weak constitutions are the principal ways in which the disease is manifested. Those who have inherited this blighting trouble may succeed in holding it in check during young, vigorous life; but after a spell of sickness, or when the system has begun to weaken and lose its natural vitality, the ravages of the disease will become manifest and sometimes run into Consumption. S. S. S. goes down into the circulation and forces out the scrofulous deposits, kills the germs and completely cures the disease. It changes the quality of the blood by removing all impurities and poisons and supplying this vital fluid with rich, health-sustaining qualities. S. S. S. is a purely vegetable medicine and is especially adapted to systems which have been weakened and poorly nourished by scrofulous blood. Literature on Scrofula and medical advice free.

FEDERAL CHARGE

Now Made Against Harry J. Everson.

SAID TO HAVE SENT SCURRILOUS MATTER IN MAIL.

L. AND N. CHIEF DISPATCHER PLACED UNDER ARREST

AT INSTANCE OF THE UNION.

Harry J. Everson, against whom cases are pending in the State courts, in which he is alleged to have embezzled money from his former employers, the Moran Flexible Joint Company, was arrested yesterday morning by William Blades, Deputy United States Marshal, on the charge of having used the United States mails for illegal purposes.

It is specifically charged that the defendant, who immediately furnished bail to the amount of $1,200, sent numerous postal cards to Charles H. Jenkins and Thomas W. Moran, officers of the Moran Flexible Joint Company, which cards bore scurrilous and defamatory matter.

The postal cards are alleged to have been written by him under an assumed name. The defendant has been released from jail, where he was sentenced as the result of judgment of damages for throwing pepper. He was released upon taking the insolvent debtor's oath.

The statutes which prohibit the use of the mails for purposes such as it is charged Everson used them for are broad and severe, and provide a penalty of a fine of not more than $5,000 or imprisonment of five years at hard labor, or both. The case is set for its first hearing for next Friday morning before Henry Cassin, United States Commissioner.

UNFAIRNESS ALLEGED.

Chief Dispatcher of L. and N. Railroad Charged With Discrimination In Federal Court.

J. M. Scott, chief train dispatcher of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, was arrested yesterday morning by a Federal officer on the charge that he had discriminated against two telegraph operators in the employe of the company in the spring of 1904. The specific charge is that he discharged Edwin L. Rowe, formerly a telegraph operator at West Point, Ky., and V. Poynter, who was an operator at Cave City, both then being in the employ of the Louisville and Nashville. The warrant was issued from the office of George Du Relle, District Attorney, at the instance of H. B. Perham, of Missouri, president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, and was served by William Blades, Deputy United States Marshal.

The alleged offense with which Mr. Scott is charged is held to be a violation of Section 10, of an act passed June 1, 1903, relating to "carriers engaged in interstate commerce and their employes." Mr. Scott supplied bail to the amount of $200, and was released from custody. The preliminary hearing of his case was set for next Saturday morning by Henry Cassin, United States Commissioner.

Lawrence Cravens Goes Free.

Nashville, Tenn., July 21.—Judge Childress, of the Second Circuit Court, this morning granted an injunction restraining all of those who still claim to be Cumberland Presbyterians from interfering in any way with the services, property, or judicatories of the Presbyterian church, formerly known as Cumberland Presbyterian. The bill was prepared under the supervision of the committee on pastoral oversight, appointed by the last Cumberland Presbyterian assembly and Dr. Ira Landrith, moderator of that assembly is named as the complainant, together with the heads of the Cumberlain Presbyterian boards and other prominent persons.

The principal defendants are the Rev. J. L. Hudgins and the Rev. T. H. Padgett, of Tennessee, the moderator, and stated clerk of the body which was organized at Decatur, Ill., after the Cumberland assembly adjourned and which styled itself the true Cumberland Presbyterian assembly.

The restraining order applies to the whole of Tennessee and was granted in order as prayed by the complainants, to prevent a multiplicity of law suits.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN HER BATHROOM.

New York Portrait Painter Killed In a Peculiar Way At Pasadena, Cal.

Pasadena, Cal., July 21.—Miss Euphemia B. Wilmarth, of New Rochelle, N. Y., a portrait painter, was found dead in the bath-room of her residence in Pasadena to-day. Her forehead was crushed and she was lying in a pool of blood.

A physician who was called made a superficial examination and then declared that it was a case for the Coroner. Miss Wilmarth was fully attired for the street and evidently had been intending to go down town. The physician who examined the body gave it as his opinion that she had been seized with a hemorrhage of the stomach, and had fainted, striking her head in falling. She lived alone in the house, at 116 East Mountain street, which she had occupied since coming to California several months ago. Local acquaintances of the dead woman say that her family in New Rochelle is one of the oldest and most exclusive in that city.

CLOSES TO-MORROW.

THE HOME-COMING VALIDATING TICKET OFFICE'S BUSINESS OVER.

Estimated That About 15,000 Tickets Were Handled By the Clerks.

The joint validating office, established in Louisville at the beginning of Home-coming Week by the Southeastern Passenger Association, and the Central Passenger Association, will be discontinued to-morrow night. The Southeastern Passenger Association had charge of the validating of tickets sold to Louisville over the Louisville and Nashville, Illinois Central and Southern railroads. All tickets sold by roads north of the Ohio river were validated by the agent of the Central Passenger Association. The headquarters of the Southeastern Passenger Association is in Atlanta. While that of the Central Passenger Association is in Chicago.

It is estimated that about 15,000 tickets were validated at the joint office, which is at Third avenue and Main streets. This does not represent the number of visitors during the Home-coming, from the fact that thousands came from points near Louisville, who had no occasion to deposit their tickets with the joint validating office.

Railroad Notes.

SERIOUS SPLIT

IN CUMBERLAND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

One Faction Opposes Union With Northern Branch—Legal Battle In View.

Bowling Green, Ky., July 21.—The split in the Cumberland Presbyterian church here is assuming new and interesting phases. Recently the pastor and a majority of the elders joined in a movement for a union with the Northern Presbyterian church which was successful so far as they were concerned.

Five of the elders and their adherents declined to enter into the new arrangement and are working to maintain the old organization. At a recent church meeting Dr. J. F. Hendrick was elected moderator and J. D. Smith, treasurer, a resolution was adopted expressing regret that the pastor, Rev. E. B. Kuntz, and several of the elders had gone to the new church and pledging their fealty to the old. A pastor will be called to look after the spiritual needs of the flock. There will probably be a legal contest over the church property and pending a settlement the anti-unionists propose that the church be used alternately by the two congregations.

To Help Pay Delinquency of the Late S. A. Gaar.

SHORT $112,000 AS TRUSTEE OF JEFFERSON MARDERS.

ANOTHER TRIAL DENIED IN KLEIN DAMAGE ACTION.

HOFFMAN CANNOT ISSUE BOND

S. A. Gaar, a prominent citizen of the county, who died in 1904, and who was for thirty years trustee and executor of Jefferson Marders, yesterday was declared by Judge Shackelford Miller to have been indebted to that property at the time of his death to the amount of $112,705.92. To offset these liabilities there were no assets whatever, and so Mrs. Eliza J. Hite, the daughter and sole heir of Jefferson Marders, who had brought suit to ascertain what had become of her legacy, must now levy upon the estate left by Mr. Gaar to his daughter, Mrs. Laura Gaines, for satisfaction of her claim. The estate, however, consists only of a farm of 127 acres near Anchorage and worth about $25,000. It therefore will fall far short of covering Mr. Gaar's delinquency to the Marders estate.

Judge Miller further directed that another trustee be appointed to succeed Mr. Gaar and to administer the affairs of the property. Judgment also will require the sale of the farm now held by Mrs. Gaines.

Jefferson Marders, who was a merchant at Middletown and a farmer, died in 1876, leaving property amounting to $39,625.36 in trust to his daughter, Mrs. Hite, with the remainder at her death to her children. Mr. Gaar had long been a close friend of Jefferson Marders, and for this reason was made both trustee and executor. He was expected to turn over at regular intervals the income from the property. The record in the case shows that he did pay something each year for several years, though not the full amount of the income. Later his payments grew less, until toward the last they were few and far between. The Commissioner, before whom Mr. Gaar's accounts were examined, ascertained that at his death he had no assets whatever to show for the estate worth $39,035.36, which had been turned over to him upon the death of Mr. Marders. His Anchorage farm stood in his own name.

The claim of $112,705.92 which Judge Miller upheld against the estate is arrived at after deducting the amounts paid Mrs. Hite and calculating the rest of the income due on a straight 5 per cent. basis. The Commissioner also found that by calculating by the "biennial rest" method, which provides for compounding the interest every two years, puts the total delinquency of Marders' executor at $165,550.29. Judge Miller, however, decided to accept the smaller amount as the amount of the judgment.

Judge Samuel Avritt represents the plaintiff.

Klein Damage Verdict Stands.

A new trial, asked in the damage suit of Lottie Mabel Klein against her mother-in-law, Ida B. Klein, in which the plaintiff was given a $5,000 verdict for alleged alienation of her husband's affections, was refused yesterday by Judge Matt O'Doherty. This contest, which has been fought with great bitterness, has been pending for upwards of two years. The first trial resulted in a hung jury while the second resulted in a judgment for $4,000, and the third for $5,000.

The defendant's counsel contended that the court erred in failure to instruct the jury that the relationship between mother and son was such as to minimize the presumption of malice toward the daughter-in-law. In Judge O'Doherty's view, however, it is entirely possible for malice to exist under the circumstances. He said: "While the law has a tender regard for the rights of parents, it gives them no license to war against the rights of those to whom their children have become still more closely bound by the sacred tie of marriage."

It was charged also by the defense that the jury reached its conclusions wrongfully by striking an average of the various amounts the jurors wished to find as the sum of the plaintiff's damage and bringing their result in as their verdict. Judge O'Doherty held that there was no evidence to show that the jury reached its conclusions in a wrongful manner.

Magistrate Cannot Issue Bond.

After a second consideration of the mandamus action of Frank Haffner, First district police stationkeeper, against Magistrate Frank Hoffman, involving the validity of a bail bond issued by Hoffman which Haffner refused to recognize, Judge O'Doherty yesterday announced that he reached the same conclusion as in his former hearing of the case.

Hoffman attempted to issue a bond for the release of Frank Goss, saloonkeeper, arrested on the charge of Sunday closing violation. Haffner, however, refused to recognize the bond and Hoffman ruled him for contempt. Haffner then through the City Attorney secured a mandamus order against Hoffman preventing him from punishing him for contempt. Judge O'Doherty found that the authority to issue such bonds lay only with the Bond Commissioner.

ONE OF THE OLDEST PERSONS IN THE UNITED STATES

"Aunt" Minda Chevis Is Believed To Be One Hundred and Twelve Years of Age.

MINDA CHEVIS.

Paris, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Millersburg has a most remarkable person in one of its colored citizens, "Aunt" Minda Chevis, who is one hundred and twelve years of age and can claim the distinction of being one of the oldest inhabitants of the United States. She does not seem to realize her great age and places the number of her years at a much lower figure, but her son, who is a decrepit old man of about eighty-five, has ascertained to a certainty that his mother has passed the century mark by a dozen years.

She was born a short distance from Millersburg, in Nicholas county, but for many years has lived in Bourbon, and in these two counties she has passed her life in hard labor, never even going as far as either county seat from her home. She was a slave belonging to one of the leading families of the county, whose descendants, down to a very distant date, were in possession of authentic records giving "Aunt" Minda's age, but since these records were accidentally destroyed a few years ago her son has nothing but his recollection of them and his own age to approximate his mother's age.

Although living in three centuries, she knows little of the marvelous changes that have occurred in the country at large during her life. She does not recall any of the great national events that have transpired, if, indeed, she ever heard of them, and the years have so spun out their monotonous length that the past seems but a confused jumble of every-day happenings and only a few important events in her own personal life have impressed themselves upon her memory. Unlike so many of the black "mammies" that have lived to an unusual age, she has nursed none of the Presidents of the United States. She has been twice married and is the mother of twelve children, the majority of whom she has survived.

"Aunt" Minda is bent with age and a disease that has gradually crooked her spine, causing her to stoop. The old woman's failing eyesight deprives her of sewing and when asked if she could read she replied that she had never learned how; that she had been brought up to hard work, and knew nothing else. When seen in her little home she sat composedly rocking to and fro, with a red bandanna handkerchief tied over her right eye. Upon being asked what ailed her eye she replied: "I don't know. It jist busted."

She was asked if she objected to having her picture taken, and responded by inquiring how much it would cost. Upon being assured that there would be nothing to pay she very cheerfully hobbled out into the sunshine and posed for the "snap-shot."

WHAT CHAUTAUQUAS HAVE DONE FOR COUNTRY.

Dr. Paul M. Pearson, who will appear at the Jeffersonville and New Albany Chautauqua at Glenwood Park, August 5, 6 and 7, has a stirring article on the growth and benefit of the Chautauqua movement in the August number of Lippincott's Magazine. In it he says, among many other [illegible] things:

A definite tendency [illegible] among the churches, [illegible] standard of culture and [illegible] school teachers; the [illegible] for general and [illegible] vance in the educa[illegible] the community; a [illegible] provements, good [illegible] ernment—all these, and [illegible] the Chautauquas. At [illegible] subjects are freely [illegible] by men who speak [illegible] the heart of their [illegible] and wide.

Under the name of Chau[illegible] is exerted to-day an edu[illegible] which is one of the m[illegible] our national life—an [illegible] rather than academic. Academic subjects are considered, indeed, but Chautauqua's vital grip is laid upon the very practical study of ethics, economics, sociology, and politics. It is the education of the adult population, of people who have had few or many school advantages, and who, now that their school-days are over and they face the problems of life, have a yearning for practical information as it bears upon the current life of the town. These people are mature, earnest, honest. They study the practical, up-to-date books prepared by our ablest men for the Chautauqua literary and scientific circle, and they are discriminating students of the spoken word. They are a reality, largely the product of the Chautauqua movement.—[Paul M. Pearson in August Lippincott's Magazine.

ROOM ON "OPEN SHELVES" FOR 30,000 BOOKS.

William F. Yust, librarian of the Louisville Free Public Library, is at work on the plans for the arrangement of the "open shelf" room of the new library, which is in the course of construction at Fourth avenue and York street. The "open shelf" room will occupy the entire main floor in the west wing of the building. According to rough estimates which were prepared by Mr. Yust yesterday, wall shelves and floor stands can be put in place in the new building easily to accommodate 20,000 volumes. Allowing that from 5,000 to 10,000 books will be out of the library all the time, Mr. Yust estimates that the new arrangement will enable the library to keep about 30,000 volumes before the public for selection, whereas 10,000 volumes would crowd the present accommodations. The contractors have promised to complete the building by February, 1907.

MAN TRIES TO RUN AWAY WITH CRATE OF PINEAPPLES.

Phil Russ' longing for fruit, which was enhanced by the aroma from a crate of fresh pineapples as he was passing the fruit establishment of Kohlhepp & Iula, on East Jefferson street, yesterday morning, caused him to be put in jail, where the charge of petty larceny is entered against him. Russ, it is alleged, lifted the crate of pineapples to his shoulder and proceeded to run up Jefferson street. The proprietors of the store pursued Russ and shouted for the police. Other persons joined in the chase, but Patrolman Barrett, who was standing at Floyd and Jefferson streets, captured the fleeing man.

PE-RU-NA RECEIVES PRAISE

For Relieving Such Symptoms as Debility, Backache and Headache.

THERE are a great many phases of woman's ailments that require the assistance of the surgeon.

But by far the greatest number of such cases are amenable to correct medicinal treatment.

No surgeon in the world has relieved so many women from the different phases of ailments peculiar to womankind than Dr. Hartman through the use of Peruna.

He receives many letters from all parts of the country relating to subjects of vital interest to womankind.

Of the vast multitude of women Dr. Hartman cures annually, only a small per cent. of them consider it necessary to write to the Doctor at all.

Not one in a thousand of these fortunate women report their success. Of those who do write testimonials, only a very small per cent. are ever used in public print.

While it is not affirmed that Peruna will cure every case of this kind, it is certainly the part of wisdom for every woman so afflicted to give Peruna a fair trial. Her chances of relief are so many that any woman would be doing herself an injustice to neglect such an opportunity of relief.

Mrs. EMMA E. GILDNER

Mrs. Emma E. Gildner, 729 Santafe Ave., Denver, Col., Financial Secretary Germania Order der Haragari, writes:

"Peruna has been a great blessing to me. I suffered agonies with severe headaches and a weak back and could hardly drag myself around.

"A friend who was visiting me was taking Peruna for the same trouble and induced me to try it. I soon found that I was being helped and in less than three weeks I felt like a different woman, and in four months I was well. Peruna certainly gave me strength. I consider it an ideal woman's remedy."

Very Precarious Condition.

Mrs. Lutie Ward, 617 Tracy Ave., Kansas City, Mo., writes: "A few years ago my health was in a very precarious condition, the result of womb trouble and general debility. I suffered a great deal and was glad to try Peruna when it was recommended to me so highly. I found it very beneficial. In a short time the pains greatly decreased and in two months I was completely restored. I am pleased to indorse it."

Mrs. Louis Lacomb, Hayward, Wis., writes: "I have followed your treatment as closely as I could and am now entirely well. We had two doctors and one said that I would have to have an operation performed before I could regain my health.

"We then decided to write you as to my condition, as I had been suffering nearly a year with severe pains and headaches at times so that I could scarcely stand up.

"Now I feel so well after a short treatment with your remedy, and am so grateful that I do not know how to express my thanks.

"I thank you many times for the kind advice I have had from you."

This Week's Offerings At Amusement Places

MUCH has been written and said about Gregory's pyrotechnical spectacle, "Moscow," the big fireworks dramatic production that will be the attraction in this city beginning to-morrow night at Jockey Club Park. The following will give one an idea of the magnitude of the Gregory exhibition:

The spectacle opens showing the city awakening from its night of rest. workmen are seen on their way to mills and factories, the chimes of the church of the Nine Martyrs ring out their beautiful tones announcing early mass, the priest, nuns and altar boys wend their way slowly to the sacred edifice for their daily devotion, street cars drawn by dejected-looking horses crawl slowly through the now busy street, and a typical every-day scene in the streets of Moscow is in progress. The vodka sellers ply their trade, peasant women chat merrily on their way to the market place, and all seems quite and peaceful.

Amid the quiet, a messenger on horseback is seen dashing through the gates of the great factory; dismounting, he hurries into the mills; followed curiously by the rapidly gathering crowds. Great cheering is heard within, and shortly the throng of human slaves are seen hurrying from the factory, wildly shouting and cheering. The Great White Czar's manifesto has been signed at St. Petersburg, and the Russian people, so long bowed down by mighty rule, have their first glimpse of long-looked-for freedom. Work in the factories is suspended, shopkeepers, close their doors, and a general holiday is declared. A grand triumphal march is formed, the bands are playing, and all is happiness and gayety. The Russian dancing girls take possession of the big platform around the fountain and entertain the populace with their graceful movements, athletes follow, performing their feats of strength and skill, sports and games are the order of the day, which finally draws to a close, and the tired but happy citizens seek their homes to rest and dream of the glorious days of liberty before them.

Policemen take possession of the street, and the revelers of the night make things merry until early dawn. Again the workmen take up their daily routine and proceed with lighter hearts to participate in the struggle for the necessaries of life. Students accost the men and explain the details of the Czar's manifesto. Workmen gather in groups and are addressed by the students. The whistle of the factory sounds, and the men and women reluctantly go into the building. The Red Widow appears upon the scene, mounts the platform and addresses the fast-gathering crowds. The dragoons from the barracks, assisted by the police, disperse the crowds and seize the Red Widow. She is ordered publicly flogged. She is stripped to the waist and lashed to a lamp post; a Cossack is about to strike her with his knout, when the Panther (Captain of the Drujeenicks) rushes forth, grasps the knout from the Cossack's hand, and strikes him to the ground. The mob, encouraged by this success, stone the dragoons and Cossacks until they are forced to take refuge inside the barracks. The Archangel (commander of the Drujeenicks) hastily nails a proclamation to the lamp post which reads: "All promises in the Czar's manifesto are mere subterfuges." And a general strike is declared. The factory hands join the mob; heated speeches are made, and pandemonium prevails. Gen. Dubasoff and his staff are seen hurrying from the Metropole Hotel. He orders a sotina of Cossacks to call out the Black Hundred (militia). The Cossacks, re-enforced by the dragoons, again attempt to disperse the crowd.

The red flag is raised over the Prokaroff factories. Immediately this emblem of the revolutionists is in evidence in all quarters. The Cossacks are again repulsed. Wagons and street cars are overturned, the revolutionists hastily construct barricades around the mills. A bomb is thrown into the school house. A Russian man-of-war now makes its appearance and lands at the wharf. The marines hastily land. Civil war is in force, the Archangel and the Panther, always in the lead, are assisted by the women in building barricades. The Red Widow mounts the fountain steps and defiantly waves the red flag until she is shot down. Machine guns are brought to bear on the revolutionists. Bombs are thrown, weapons of every description are being used. The revolutionists gain ground, a bomb is thrown; it explodes with a thundering report. The barracks take fire, the hotel is ablaze, the fire reaches the mills and factories in rapid succession. Citizens and soldiers alike flee for their lives, women and children are trampled under foot by the fear-stricken mob. Amid the wild explosions, angry flame and tortuous cries from the helpless victims of this terrible spectacle, the most horrible day in the epoch of Russian revolution is brought to a close.

And thus Gregory's superb spectacle proper ends amidst the roaring flames and the flying of shot and shell as "Moscow" goes down to destruction and ruin. Then new life seems to spring into the space where the mobs of struggling and swaying Russians were much in evidence, and in lieu the gorgeous displays of fireworks are touched off and close the spectacle most appropriately.

Vaudeville—Fontaine Ferry Park.

IN FONTAINE FERRY PARK'S list of special attractions for the week commencing to-day, the management has put at the head the new vaudeville bill at the summer theater. The Le Brun Grand Opera Trio will be the headliner. It is described as a genuinely pleasing and meritorious vaudeville act. Miss Antoinette Le Brun is the star of the little company. She has a fine soprano voice, as those who heard her when she was here as the leading soprano of the Savage English Opera Company will testify. She is also the possessor of a pleasing stage personality. Associated with Miss LeBrun are Fritz N. Huttmann, tenor, and James F. Stevens, barytone. The trio offer selections from "Il Trovatore," and their act is made all the more entertaining by the wealth of costumes and the stage settings.

Another rattling good feature will be witnessed in the musical act of Paul Kleist. It was seen last winter at the Hopkins. Kleist is original. He works in a darkened stage, and causes people and musical instruments to do surprisingly weird and mysterious stunts. Some variety will be found in the acrobatic specialty of the Brothers Damm, a new turn for local vaudevillians.

Another newcomer will be witnessed in Ed LaVine. His specialty is burlesque juggling, and he is described as very funny. Jimmy Lucas brings some songs and dances and imitations. There will be new pictures on the kinedrome.

Cook's Military Band will continue its free concerts at the park each afternoon and evening of the week. These events are proving one of the really enjoyable features of the season.

Beginning to-morrow night, there will be a series of contests for lady skaters at the roller rink. Each evening the spectators will vote for the most graceful skater. On Saturday evening the respective winners will enter a grand contest, in which a handsome gold medal will be awarded as first prize.

PARDONS PRESENTED AND EIGHT CASES DISMISSED.

Eight cases of alleged violation of the Sunday closing law were dismissed in Magistrate Frank Hoffman's court yesterday on receipt of pardons from Gov. Beckham. The Governor refused to issue a pardon in the case of I. Cohen, a second-hand dealer, and he was required to pay a fine of $5 after pleading guilty. Those pardoned were M. Wile, B. Levin, Taylor Bros., Frank Kaiser, M. Mendelssohn, M. Moskovitch, G. C. Stauber and P. Woelfling.

Impossible Profits.

The State of Indiana has impending trouble with several corporations that held out lively hopes to those who are interested in their securities. One of them promised great things, but bids fair to be declared entirely insolvent. Others are not so bad, but at the same time give occasion for serious reflection.

Sundry references have appeared in the dispatches to the troubles of the State Life Insurance Company and an auxiliary company known as the State Agency Company. Of the former, the Indianapolis News says:

"The State Life is in theory a mutual company. That is, the policyholders constitute the company. It is their affair. They have united to insure one another. They choose officers to manage the details of their business. They determine the duties of the officers; they fix salaries; they decide on the policy of business to be pursued, and all the rest. That is the theory. The fact is that the company is the business enterprise and affair of the four men that conceived its plan and have built it up to its present proportion, viz: Messrs. Sweeney, Quinn, Wynn and Coffin.

"Subject to the insurance laws and the general laws of the State they have and have had from the start full, unchallenged and absolute control of the company. They are the board of directors; they are the Executive Committee; they are the executive officers. They fix their own salaries at any figure they please. There is no constituted function of the policyholders, who in theory form the company, that exercises any check or control over them. They are intrenched in their positions by holding proxies of presumably all the policyholders, required of them or given by them at the time of taking out their policies."

Armed with these powers, the managers of the company granted large salaries, which have attracted general attention. It is insisted that they are far greater than they ought to be. The company has done a heavy business and has $80,000,000 at risk. It is not charged that it is unsound, but the system of doing business is attacked. It is not considered well that so small a number of men should hold unlimited powers, no matter how skillful as business men they may be. They are practically the judges of their own acts, and it has not been found useful to make men judges to try their own cases.

The State Agency Company was organized, as we are told, for the purpose of giving virtual rebates to favored policyholders in the State Life. All the money made by the companies must be earned from the policyholders of the State Life. Impossible profits were promised to those who went into the State Agency. An investigation of its affairs shows that stock of the value of $359,000 was sold for $609,000,000. This represented a premium of $250,000. But of this great premium only $40,000 or $50,000 is left. Commissions for selling the stock cost $158,000, the greater part of the premium. Besides, there was a contract to pay $23,000 as bonus commissions, but all of this has not been paid. In four months the expenses, salaries, etc., ate up $43,000 to $50,000. It is also reported that the books are in bad condition, and the ledger out of balance by some $4,000.

It is said in extenuation of the officers of the State Life that it is not worse than other companies that profess to be purely mutual. Investigations have proved that many companies held out as strictly mutual were, in fact, controlled by a few men who disposed of the funds as they pleased, so long as they did not impair the reserve required by law to be kept. Vigorous efforts have, however, been made to restore the mutual character of these companies, with some prospect of success. It has been found extremely difficult, however, to prevent the managers, who are in close communication with the policyholders, from obtaining proxies which enable them to do as they please. Nevertheless, the laws which govern these companies are not a matter of indifference. No law, indeed, can prevent the policyholders, who are ill-advised, from giving others the power to squander their money, but laws may at least restrict the power of the managers from making a bad use of such power, when they have it, or from obtaining it by misrepresentation.

It is certainly true that the promise of impossible profits has a great influence on a large number of investors. Any scheme for getting something for nothing attracts at once the money of that class of people who are called "suckers." Plans for the protection of the "suckers" are mostly hopeless, because they refuse to lend their co-operation. But schemes to put the control of a great company into the hands of a few men ought not to receive the indorsement of bodies that grant charters. Every such grant ought to be rigidly scrutinized, and all the features of monopoly eliminated. Charters prepared by the attorneys of monopolies ought not to be passed without examination. They are sure to have features in them that are prejudicial to the interests of men who invest their money. But promises by unknown people to pay impossible profits will continue to attract the unsuspecting, in spite of all that legislation can do. The best that can be accomplished is to render such exploitation of "suckers" as difficult and as perilous as may be.

The Use of Concrete.

The four large buildings in course of construction on Fourth street, within the space of less than four blocks, are a very interesting object lesson to the intelligent observer. Even to the casual passer by they excite interest by the tall steel frames, the deep foundations, with the lifting cranes, or the network, and mysterious framework and iron rods used in making the concrete foundations, columns, girders and floors. Comparatively few who daily blockade the sidewalks, while watching the novel scenes, comprehend the meaning of all the various processes which mark the innovation in the structure of these buildings, as it is the inauguration here of a new system which has been tried and proven to be in all respects, the most durable and fire-proof.

These buildings may vary in their superstructure, in the material comprising it, and in the extent to which steel or other material may enter into it, but in all of them the use of concrete plays such an important part as to mark a new era in the construction of large buildings. It is not by this intended to convey the idea that concrete has not for some time been used in many ways besides for making sidewalks, as in fire-proof floors, and many other details, but there are uniform features in these new structures which show as never heretofore how the new system in many ways has supplanted the old. Take, for instance, the foundations. For such large buildings formerly large stones from the quarries were used, entailing much labor in getting them out, hauling and putting them in place. In these now under construction, there is not a stone as large as one's fist that is used in any part of them, unless as veneering for the outer walls.

The material used for the foundations is concrete, a composition of Portland cement, gravel and sand mixed in certain proportions with water and molded in boxed frames. When this becomes hard, after a short interval, it is in effect the same as one homogeneous stone, affording a firm foundation for the superstructure and from its continuity and uniform bearing preventing any settling and preventing the passage of either water or dampness from without. In the same way by the use of steel rods adjusted after an improved method, supporting columns, long girders and self-sustaining floors are made, rendering all the interior structure secure in point of strength and fire proof. All of these processes are going on daily, while on the Paul Jones building the veneering of the steel frame with stone and brick and the placing of the fire-proof partitions are in progress.

Although the use of cement and concrete as a substitute for stone is of comparatively recent adoption, it was known to the ancients. The durability of the Roman cement is well attested, and the arched acqueducts have stood the wear of eighteen or twenty centuries. It was long denied that the Egyptians were acquainted with the use of stone made from cement, but in comparatively recent years it has been found that much of the ornamentation on the doors and lintels of their tombs, supposed to have been carvings in stone, are mouldings in cement. In the City of Mexico there is much concrete work, including arched bridges, the construction of which dates back to an early period of the country's history. In Chihuahua is an acqueduct which furnishes the city with water, the conduit of which is concrete. It was built nearly two hundred years ago.

The wonder is not that this material is being so generally used as a substitute for stone, being so much more easily handled, besides having the advantage of greater coherence, as shown in earthquakes, and greater durability by its resistance of disintegration from the weather, but that its value has not been sooner realized. The process of making it is but that by which stone generally, or at least the stratified rock above the granite or archaic formation, has been made, of small particles of lime or sand cemented under pressure. The cement now used for the artificial stone was discovered by analyzing a compact quality of stone in the Portland district of England, and hence its name. This combined with sand and gravel according to an approved formula, produces the artificial stone which is now making such a revolution in all structural work. It has become not only a substitute for the quarried product, but for brick, in the building of dwellings, of hollow cement blocks, and also as a substitute for lumber in many varied uses.

Of course the combination of the materials which make good cement being a chemical one, it is very important that a correct formula as to the ingredients and their proportions be observed. Some cities, recognizing this and the danger of the use of improper materials or the nonobservance of the proper proportions, are adopting ordinances forcing a certain standard. The use of impure sand or gravel containing loam, of cement not of approved standard and of gravel of too large size is especially to be avoided. Louisville has at its doors the material for making both the Portland cement of best quality and that for adding to it to make the concrete. The manufacture of the cement has become an important item among its commercial products, and the extent to which concrete has now come into use is well shown in the buildings in progress.

Some Up-To-Date Advice.

In an address before a convention of retail merchants of Missouri, Gov. Folk said:

"No merchant can succeed without advertising in one way or another. Patronize your town papers, build them up, and they will build the town up and build you up in increased trade and greater opportunities."

The Governor thus shows that he is not only a philosopher, but an up-to-date philosopher.

Advertising is what makes business "go."

The merchant princes of the age owe to printers' ink the greater measure of their success and fortunes.

It is as necessary for a merchant to let the buying public know that he has certain articles and commodities for sale as it is to have the articles and commodities themselves.

Every advertisement is a salesman talking "business" to every reader of a newspaper.

It is as important to have this kind of salesman circulating among the people and interesting them in what a merchant has as it is to have the other kind of salesman in the store to display the stock and take orders.

In fact, the circulating salesman is more important, for unless the outside interest be aroused the salesman on the inside of the store would have nobody to sell to.

Gov. Folk certainly knows what he is talking about when he says that "no merchant can succeed without advertising."

The [illegible] of Gen. Stoessel.

To [illegible] persons Gen. Anatol Mik-hailo[illegible] is "the hero of Port Arth[illegible] commission appointed [illegible] overnment to investi- [illegible] of the Manchurian [illegible] he is the craven, the [illegible] bungler of Port Ar- [illegible] finds his offenses so [illegible] his punishment by de[illegible] formally recommended. St[illegible] been the most con-spic[illegible] army officer during the late war, the dramatic elements entering into the situation at Port Arthur having attracted to him even greater attention than has been given by the world even to Kuropatkin, his fate is a matter of deeper interest than that of the other officers whom the commission deals with at the same time. Therefore, the fact that for Gen. Fock is recommended dismissal from the army and a year of hard labor; that for Gen. Reiss is suggested dismissal and banishment, and that for Alexieff, Smirnoff and Vernander is urged a reprimand, sinks into insignificance. The condemnation of Stoessel is the impressive feature of the commission's report. He is the chief figure in a group of supposed heroes who in the eyes of the investigators are either cowards or incompetents. From the tone of the dispatch chronicling the results of the investigation it is inferred that the findings are not final; "the formal trial of these officers will take place soon," it records. There remains, apparently, a chance for all of them to escape the penalties recommended. For the present, at any rate, the stigma rests upon them. For awhile "the hero of Port Arthur" must bear the disgrace officially placed upon him.

Gen. Stoessel's task at Port Arthur was not an easy one, to be sure, but it was plain to a number of army experts—and to laymen who studied his work, unshaken by the emotionalism, rampant at the time—that he might have performed his duty with more zeal, maintained better discipline among his soldiers, given greater attention to their health and exercised more will power, more ingenuity and better leadership. Stronger mental and moral qualities in himself would have enabled him to hold Port Arthur far longer than he did. Disclosures of conditions in and about the city and the disorganized state of the troops after the surrender, testified to his failure. The conclusions thus formed—the estimate of the commander as less of a hero than many supposed—are borne out by the verdict of the Government commission.

Of course, the admirers of the General will regard the report as nothing else but the customary outgiving of spite and vindictiveness of the average Government in its dealings with a commander who loses a battle, and sometimes with a commander who wins one. They will point to the recent dispatch from Tokio to the effect that Gen. Nogi, who led the Japanese assault on Port Arthur, upon hearing a rumor that Gen. Stoessel was to be found guilty and sentenced to death, volunteered to go to St. Petersburg and testify in the Russian officer's behalf. And they may be right. But it is reasonable to believe that a Government that acquitted Rojestvensky, who surrendered to the enemy under fire, is capable of acquitting Gen. Stoessel, who also surrendered under fire, should the latter make out a good defense. It is reasonable, too, to believe that even a Japanese officer would rather testify to the intrepidity, the spirit and the ability of the commander whom he succeeded in vanquishing than to allow it to be understood that the victory was easily gained over incompetence, cowardice and immorality.

"Port Arthur shall be my tomb. Farewell!" sounded very euphonious and heroic as last words, and Gen. Stoessel iterated and reiterated them as though to make certain that no one should fail to know them, but the conclusion is inescapable that he took pains at last to see that Port Arthur should not "be his tomb." Just now it appears that St. Petersburg stands the more likely chance of being his tomb.

Passing of the Guillotine.

Shades of those French noblemen who perished during the reign of terror must have wrung their specter hands in astonishment the other day when Pierre Adam, a condemned Parisian, besought and commanded the hesitating authorities to guillotine him in accordance with his sentence. That the guillotine should ever be found unprepared with an intended victim, to say nothing of being actually sought by one, seems hard to reconcile with the history of that all-devouring instrument of death. Pierre Adam is probably crazy, but the dispatch said further that the guillotine has lain idle under a shed since its removal from the Place de la Roquette some years ago, and that since then, instead of setting it up elsewhere, the authorities have made it a custom to prevail upon every condemned person to appeal for reprieve, which has invariably been granted.

It is hard to believe that Dr. Guillotin, a Paris physician, and member of the National Assembly, who is credited with having invented the machine, responsible as it was for so much hideous destruction of the innocent, actually did so out of motives of humanity. It was offered to the French Government in 1789 as a less cruel method of execution than the cord, and as a result achieved for his name a load of obloquy and scorn from which to this day the public mind has not yet been fully disabused. Several historians describe the doctor as one of the gentlest and mildest of men, who was, no doubt, himself overwhelmed with horror at the terrible use made of his contrivance. Naturally the facility with which the fatal knife was swung up and down and the rapidity with which its victims were claimed has always suggested that the invention must have been inspired by the bloodthirsty spirit of the Revolution. So closely did this humanitarian's name become associated with the device for which he was responsible that "to go see the doctor" was a current flippancy with the Parisian rabble when speaking of an execution.

It was not until very recently that the story of his invention was questioned. Now, however, it is claimed that Dr. Guillotin did nothing more than recommend decapitation as the method of capital punishment, the instrument which bears his name being the invention of one Louis, and being at first called the louisette.

The Louisville Times is authority for the statement that the Czar's claim for the original conception of The Hague Tribunal is challenged by Mrs. Belle Castleman Carroll, a Kentuckian now resident of St. Louis. "The evidence brought forward by Mrs. Carroll," says the Times, "is contained in an address delivered by her in December, 1895, when she was serving as a commissioner for Missouri at the Atlanta Exposition. It was in this capacity that Mrs. Carroll claims to have addressed an assemblage of women from the various States and sections of the country, taking as her theme the need of universal peace, which she declared, could be attained by the deliberations of 'four wise men from each of the Powers, who have not only heads but hearts, and who will meet and arbitrate peacefully and prayerfully upon this great question.' Mrs. Carroll's speech was not published at the time. To that fact she attributes the Czar's obtainment of what she believes should have been her own meed of praise. It is now her announced purpose to have her address widely published, with the intention that the priority of its message of international peace and the forecasting of the way to its attainment shall be made known."

Dr. Albert Deig, acting health officer, is to be commended for the steps he is taking to enforce the city ordinance requiring the owners of city property to remove the weeds from their premises. It is true it is merely the enforcement of the law, and he is but discharging his duty, but it is a law the violation of which has been so much disregarded that it is a matter worthy of notice that it is to be enforced. Weeds which are to be seen in many vacant lots on our best avenues are not only unsightly, but harbor mosquitoes and are a menace to health. The weeds should not only be cut but removed from the premises.

"The New York building department has granted a permit for a forty-two-story building. The top of it will do very nicely for a landing place for flying machines a few years from now."—[Washington Post.

The remarkable thing about this paragraph is the faith that in a few years flying machines will be able to fly that high.

Fifteen million umbrellas are said to be manufactured in the United States every year. Naturally there is quite an umbrella deficit when there are at least 30,000,000 people in the United States who lose on an average an umbrella each every year.

MISS LEE

An Interesting Figure In Washington Society.

HAS RECOVERED THE FAMILY BIBLE.

DROWNING OF MISS SATTERFIELD AND MR. GORDON.

NEWS OF THE CAPITOL.

[Correspondence of the Courier-Journal.]

Washington, July 21.—One of the interesting characters in life who spends much of her time in Washington is Miss Mary Custis Lee, the only surviving daughter of Gen. Robert E. Lee, a woman to whom her famous father has transmitted many of his individual traits. She is a woman now of middle age, commanding in physique, with an honest, straightforwardness of manner that sometimes almost amounts to brusquerie. What Miss Lee thinks, she thinks, and she says it, too, without furbelows. A part of the summer, she has been the guest, on Massachusetts avenue, of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, of no particular relationship. Pretty, piquante, young Mrs. Lee, is the daughter of Hon. Henry Gassaway Davis, the old gentleman who doesn't happen to be Vice President. By the same token, she is the sister of the wife of Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, and a good many other pleasant things besides.

When you call on Miss Mary Custis Lee, she shows you things. She loves to scramble through ancestral loot and regale the appreciative with views of relics that have played their part in history and romance in other days, things that pertain to her personal pedigree. For Miss Lee is "bloody kin," as the small boy said, to most of the big things that have happened in this country.

Her most sacred treasure is an exquisite miniature of her beloved father, done on ivory in Paris by a world-famed expert. Another is a quaint and valuable necklace of precious stones, presented to her during a residence in Europe by various foreign admirers of her father. She wears this, like royal insignia, on every grand occasion upon her very handsome neck, en grande decolletage.

Gen. Washington's Buttons.

A set of buttons from the coat of Gen. Washington is an interesting possession of Miss Lee. The buttons themselves are intrinsically valuable. They are of a beautiful "moss agate," of a milky translucence, with tiny flecks of moss below the surface, the whole, about the size of a half dollar, mounted on gold of heavy workmanship, done in England.

During Miss Lee's sportive childhood at old Arlington on the Potomac, the mansion built by her grandfather, George Washington Parke Custis, a foster son of the illustrious General, the old black velvet coat upon which these buttons originally figured was simply a part of the flotsam and jetsam of the old attic of the house. "In those days, my dear," Miss Lee smiled reminiscently, "people didn't value heirlooms as they do to-day." She and her small brothers and sisters more than half a century ago likely as not played "dressing up" and "having shows" in Grandpa Washington's old plunder in that dim attic across the river. Anyhow, the buttons from the old velvet coat were the only traces preserved of the distinguished garment.

Recovers Valuable Relic.

A relic of inestimable value which Miss Lee has just recovered after long years of oblivion is the old Bible of Martha Washington, which disappeared from Arlington, the home of the Lees, during the Civil War. It is a quaint old leather-bound affair, in perfect preservation, in large, clear type, in which the land's first "first lady" was wont to read her daily chapter from the time she was pretty Martha Dandridge, through her wedded life with Daniel Parke Custis, down to the time of her death at Mount Vernon. The book contains no record of the marriage of the young widow, Martha Custis, to George Washington, although her wedding in 1750 to Custis when Martha Dandridge is formally entered, along with other family data, in clear chirography, with the ink yet unfaded. Martha Washington was Miss Mary Custis Lee's great-grandmother. This priceless old volume was graciously presented to Miss Lee by G. W. Kendrick, of Philadelphia, a collector, who secured the relic many years ago from an old second-hand book dealer. Mr. William Fitzhugh Dandridge, of Frankfort, Ky., whose ancestors, the Dandridges and Fitzhughs, are numerously recorded in the precious old Bible, who has been spending a large part of the season in Washington, is another great grandchild of Martha Dandridge Washington.

Another lineal descendant of the charming Widow Custis has recently died in Baltimore, Mrs. Goldsborough, a woman of wealth and prominence, who left a large quantity of priceless Washington relics to her goddaughter and protege, Miss Nannie Randolph Heth, of Washington, the handsome daughter of the famous Confederate cavalry leader, Gen. Harry Heth. Miss Heth, prominent in many philanthropic works at the capital, at her quaint old home on G street, writes her letters on a massive mahogany desk that Gen. Washington used, lighted from his quaint silver candlestick, while seated in an ancient leathern chair that once responded to the perfect proportions of the father of our country. Still in commission on winter's nights if occasion required at Miss Heth's, might be the great Washingtonian warming pan, a massive affair of hammered brass, with a long handle, while George Washington's silver drinking cup and George Washington's cut-glass tumblers hold good cheer to the lips of many a guest of Miss Nannie Heth and her venerable grande dame of a mother. President Roosevelt is a cordial friend of these two prominent Southern ladies. His large, heartily signed photograph is one of the few modern touches in their old-world home. Miss Heth possesses a handsome necklace of Martha Washington's that she wears to all patriotic balls and celebrations. She is president of the Southern Relief Society, an office of which her mother was the first incumbent. Mrs. Heth was charter member and secretary of the Colonial Dames and an officer of the D. A. R.

Will Go To Oyster Bay.

Miss Isabelle Hagner, Mrs. Roosevelt's right-hand, as indispensable to the President's wife during the season as Mr. Loeb, the President's "Boswell," is to the President, is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nelson Page at their seaside summer home at York harbor. Miss Hagner is a distinct power in society. She will spend August with the President's family at Sagamore Hill.

Mrs. Minor Morris, celebrated by two Benjamins, Mr. Benjamin F. Barnes, our new postmaster, and by Benjamin Tillman, Senator, is visiting around in the country as mildly as though she had never been knocked down and dragged out and sent thundering down to posterity as a national character. As an exhibit in Washington she is a tremendous success. Even Alice and her father are not more implacably berubbered. Major Armes is entertaining at his Virginia home, "Fairfield," with Dr. and Mrs. Minor Morris; his daughter, Mrs. Edith Rucker, of Louisville; Col. Vance, of the same place, and a number of others. Mrs. Morris isn't a bit sensational or melodramatic when you meet her socially—provided the entertainment is quite outside the White House. She has a plump, comfy figure and a lot of pretty clothes.

Miss Adain Monroe Taylor, of Frankfort, daughter of the late Gen. Thomas Taylor, of Louisville, who has been making her home in Washington for a year or two with her aunt, Miss Annie Monroe, on Monroe street, is spending the summer in Newport, Ky., with her uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Fithian. Miss Taylor is one of the prettiest and most popular of Southern girls in Washington.

Mrs. Hart Luckett, of Owensboro, and daughter, Miss Nina Luckett, are spending a part of the summer in New York and New Jersey, coming East primarily to say good-bye to Mr. William Luckett, of New York, before his departure for a European trip.

Mrs. W. W. Bruce, one of the most distinctive women of Lexington, is at the Hotel Dennis at Atlantic City, where she always spends the summer. Mrs. Bruce is the center of the Kentucky colony at the nation's capital, her brilliant personality creating a focus. A particularly cosy nook at her hotel is known officially even to strangers as the "Kentucky Corner." Mrs. Bruce is ever the presiding genius of the "Kentucky Corner." She is an enthusiast at whist.

Drowning of Miss Satterfield.

A most deplorable occurrence was the drowning in James river, near Richmond, of Miss Rose Satterfield and Mr. John W. Gordon, the gallant young man who lost his own life in his attempt to rescue Miss Satterfield. Miss Satterfield, a bright and beautiful young girl, was the intimate friend and hostess of Miss May Serpelle, of Louisville, who was a member of the boating party that terminated so tragically. Miss Satterfield and others of the merry house party that she was entertaining at her home in Richmond were just on the point of going into camp in the mountains of West Virginia with Miss May Serpelle and her father, who is on an engineering expedition there, when the accident occurred.

Miss Satterfield was an attractive debutante, widely beloved. She was graduated from Hollins Institute a year ago.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wingate, of Louisville, have been in Washington a few days at the National Hotel, en route East; Mr. Heywood Cochran, of Louisville, has been a guest at the Raleigh. Other Kentuckians at the capital have been Jefferson L. Stewart, Winchester; R. J. Kruger, Eddyville; Charles J. McPherson and H. H. Wilson, Lexington. G. S. Coon and W. W. Dennis, of Louisville, are at the New Willard. H. C. Johnson, of Covington, has been at the St. James.

Miss Mary Desha, one of the most prominent Kentucky women in Washington, has just received a gratifying promotion in the line of her official work in the Department of Indian Affairs.

Mrs. Harry Tamplet and her two children, of Louisville, are in Washington for a few weeks, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tamplet, at their suburban home in Kensington, on Montgomery avenue.

Mr. Charles O'Connell, of the Government Printing Office, with his family, is taking a vacation at his old home in Mt. Sterling, for a few weeks.

Mr. William Coffin, of Middlesboro, is in Washington for a few days.

Messrs. C. W. and R. H. Haynes, of Marion, Ky., are guests at the St. James. DAISY FITZHUGH AYRES.

Problems.

You meet a girl, a charming dove,
You think: How can I win her love?
How can I put her swains to rout
And freeze the other fellows out?

You keep ahead thro' thick and thin
Until, at last, her love you win.
And then this problem comes to stay:
How can I earn three meals a day?

In Kansas.

"What's the pay?" asked the prospective hired man.

"Well," answered the farmer, "ye kin have six dollars a day an' three of my darter's kisses, or three dollars a day an' six kisses. Suit yourself. As fer as I'm concerned ye kin take it all out in kisses if ye've a mind to."

Her Equipment.

Sarcasm.

"Any luck on your berrying expedition?" asked the first summer boarder.

"Oh, yes," replied the second summer boarder. "We found a berry."

"I suppose," said the man who makes idle remarks, "that you give out at this time of year a good many timetables to people who intend to go away."

"Yes," responded the railroad official with some acerbity, "and we also give out a good many timetables to people who have not the remotest idea of going away."

Owensboro, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Dr. Nathan Krasnowetz, rabbi of the Adath Israel congregation in this city, has filed a petition in the County Court asking that his name be changed from Nathan Krasnowetz to Nathan Krass. He gives as his only reason for the move a desire to shorten and simplify his name. Dr. Krasnowetz was born at Odessa, Russia, August 1, 1879. In addition to his church duties here, he is professor of Greek in the Owensboro college. County Judge Owen will enter an order immediately changing the name as requested. # $40,000,000 IN ONE SMALL PACKAGE

WEALTH SUFFICIENT TO PAY FRANCE FOR CANAL.

SOME OF THE THINGS THIS MONEY WOULD BUY.

IN BIG TREASURY VAULTS.

What $40,000,000 Will Buy.

$40,000,000 will buy—

800,000,000 beers, 5-cent cigars, or ice cream sodas.

80,000 tons of 25-cent candy.

A winning baseball team for Washington.

A subscription to The Post for 5,333,333 years and four months.

Railroad fare at 3 cents a mile enabling a man to travel day and night at the rate of sixty miles an hour for more than 2,572 years.

Wealth sufficient to reimburse Uncle Sam for the price he paid France for the Panama canal route and all rights and equipment appertaining thereto, now lies in a small, insignificant-looking package in one of the reserve vaults of the Treasury building, says the Washington Post.

In this package, covered with coarse white paper, and bearing the oval seal of the division of issues, is the sum of $40,000,000. The amount is made up of 4,000 $10,000 gold certificates.

Through the courtesy of Charles H. Treat, Treasurer of the United States, the Post is able to produce a picture of the treasure as an object lesson of how big a sum of money can be represented in a very small space.

The mention of $40,000,000 is comprehensible to Treasury officials and to the mind of the average reader it brings only a vague wonder. A few of the purchasing powers of this sum will help to clear away the mist.

Each dimension of the package is about eight inches, and the weight is eleven pounds. A cubic inch, in proper condition, is worth almost $80,000, while a pound of the large bills will bring more than $3,000,000, or will buy a first-class battleship.

Uncle Sam could, on a national holiday, divide this amount among his many people so that he would still have pin money after giving each man, woman and child in the country a silver half dollar. To each inhabitant would be furnished a substantial dinner, or he might forego the pleasure of catering to the inner man, and enjoy twelve street car rides.

If the citizens of Washington should decide to make a concerted attack on the Treasury, and should be able to obtain this little package of money, each man, woman and child might receive about $130 for his or her pains, after the division of the spoils. As a result of this Government work in Washington would probably become clogged on account of an exodus of Government clerks to popular summer resorts.

Navy officials would rejoice at the receipt of this package, for with its use they might supplement their fighting force by at least ten first-class battleships. A balance of $10,000,000 would remain after paying for the $30,000,000 issue of Panama Canal bonds which will be made next month. The amount would also cover the recent appropriations for public buildings throughout the country.

The picture represents a package containing the first of the department series of gold certificates of the $10,000 denomination, being numbered from 1 to 4,000, bearing Treasurer Treat's signature. In only four other instances has such vast wealth been gathered in such a small space under one cover. The issues of the large denomination are exceedingly rare. As the bills are used only in large transactions of banks among themselves, there is very little wear and tear on them in comparison with that on bills of small denominations.

There are two varieties of $10,000 bills. The one is engraved only upon one side, and must be signed by the Assistant Treasurer at the subtreasury where it is issued. The reverse side is left blank for indorsements, and the bills are known as "gold to order certificates."

The $10,000 bills of the department issue, however, bear a slight resemblance to the $20 bills, and may be passed as currency without indorsement. On the face of the certificate is a picture of Andrew Jackson, in addition to the inscription: "This certifies that there have been deposited in the Treasury of the United States ten thousand dollars in gold coin, repayable to the bearer on demand," the fac-simile signatures of Charles H. Treat, as Treasurer, and W. T. Vernon, as Register of the Treasury, appear at the bottom.

On the right of the reverse side is the picture of the American spread-eagle, while at the left is a circular design bearing the figures "$10,000." This side is printed in a yellowish-brown tint.

The picture represents Treasurer Treat as he is about to transfer $40,000,000 to Deputy Assistant Treasurer G. C. Bantz.

TOO MANY BURGLARS

CAUSE CANCELLATION OF THAT FORM OF INSURANCE.

All Policies Revoked in New York Because of Crooks' Activity.

Because of the rapidly increasing number of burglars, sneak thieves and pickpockets of a new class in New York the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, of No. 66 Liberty street, has abandoned its burglar insurance business and will notify its patrons that upon the expiration of present policies they will not be renewed and that no more insurance of this sort will be written in this city, says the New York Herald.

All told, the premiums paid on burglar insurance business in New York now amounts to considerably more than $500,000 annually, and it is asserted by officers of various companies doing this class of business that it is a losing undertaking, and it is expected that several other concerns may soon follow the course of the Fidelity and discontinue the burglary branch of insurance altogether.

In making this announcement officers of the Fidelity Company said yesterday they desired to make it very plain that they would abandon burglar insurance only in New York City. In other cities they will continue writing policies the same as before, because it is only in New York that the business of housebreaking and stealing has been developed to a point where losses are almost sure to overbalance the premiums. Conditions here, they say, are all the time growing worse, criminals of this class are increasing and convictions are diminishing, and to continue insuring houses and business places against thieves would mean an almost certain perpetuation of a steady loss.

While a certain part of the responsibility for this state of affairs is placed upon the inefficiency of the police and leniency of Magistrates, there are other conditions which, they say, have much more to do with it.

It is contended that within recent years an entirely new class of burglars and thieves has been recruited from the foreign-born population that has swarmed into the East Side of New York. These criminals are much more expert, it is asserted, than those of former generations, and have developed their avocation to such proficiency that convictions are very difficult, particularly when nine-tenths of the burglars and thieves have political influence at their disposal whenever emergency demands.

Another important factor entering into the new era of crime is the close relations which are said to exist between the thieves and lawyers who are ready at a moment's notice to step forward and defend them.

"No matter how efficient the police might be," said William Morris, of the Fidelity Company, yesterday, "under present conditions convictions would be difficult. These young thieves who have come to us from Europe go about their work in a most systematic manner. They get a great deal of money and save it. With them it is a regular business. In the first place they are very clever in avoiding arrest, but once they are caught, a lawyer of their own race is on hand immediately and many times very powerful influence is exerted to obtain their dismissal. If the evidence is so convincing that conviction is necessary the Magistrate as a rule delivers a short lecture on the evils of bad company and the young thief is let off with a very light sentence. Meanwhile he has put his plunder in bulk or invested it wisely and with the aid of his lawyer he is soon out of prison and back at his profession.

"In Brooklyn the Magistrates are decidedly more severe in their dealings with this class of lawbreakers, and burglaries there are far less numerous. Of course there are other conditions which make burglary insurance unsatisfactory. Formerly when a woman lost a valuable piece of jewelry she concluded she had mislaid it and said nothing about it. Now she takes out a burglary policy, and whenever she loses money or jewels she makes affidavit that it has been stolen and it is very hard to oppose these claims successfully. Then, in addition to this, comes the insurance broker, who is constantly getting into the burglary end of the business and takes off a large slice of the profits."

In Police Headquarters the statements of the insurance men were substantially confirmed. It was said the old group of burglars and thieves which operated in New York twenty years ago has almost entirely disappeared. In the Rogues' Gallery a new group of faces has appeared, and fully 90 per cent. of these faces bear distinct racial characteristics, and many of them have names to correspond.

In the olden times, when Inspector Byrnes was at the head of the police department, the burglar who operated in New York was of a different type. Usually after he had made a big theft he spent his money lavishly, ordinarily became indiscreetly intoxicated and stood a good chance of being caught. The police in those days had an intimate knowledge of the thieves and their haunts and habits, and whenever "a big job was pulled off" Byrnes sent out his detectives and either brought in the men or others who knew all about it. Once captured, the burglar of the old school either made a clean breast of the matter and pleaded for leniency or maintained a stubborn silence and took his sentence without the aid of influential politicians and astute lawyers.

Officers of the Fidelity and Guaranty Company said the company had been writing burglar policies for six or seven years, and while they had exercised every possible precaution in their risks, the business had proved a constant source of annoyance and loss and that each year it became more difficult in New York to obtain convictions or recover property, while the frequency and boldness of these crimes were constantly increasing.

LIVES 105 YEARS

ON MEAGER DIET OF MILK AND BREAD ONLY.

Woman Dies in New York With Wonderful Preservation of Her Body.

Whether or not a diet of bread and milk taken exclusively for forty years is responsible for the remarkable preservation from the effects of old age shown in the body of Mrs. Mary Fay, who died at the age of one hundred and five years a few days ago, is causing intense interest among physicians, says the New York World.

Despite the extreme age of Mrs. Fay her body is in as perfect physical condition and as well nourished as that of a woman of thirty or thirty-five years of age, according to Coroner's Physician Dr. Philip O'Hanlon. Dr. O'Hanlon, since he became connected with the Coroner's office, has made 4,500 autopsies, and he was so surprised at the physical perfection of Mrs. Fay's body yesterday that he called in all the other physicians and surgeons of the Coroner's office to observe the unusual conditions.

The only explanation that the physicians can offer for the condition of Mrs. Fay's body is her mode of living. Dr. O'Hanlon and others who saw the body are wondering whether or not they have a corroboration of the theory of Prof. Elie Metchnikoff, of Paris, who has asserted that man does not live out his allotted span of life because of the cellular activities in the digestive tract which produce old age. He believes that by a diet of sour or curdled milk the germs of putrefaction which, according to his theory, produce old age, may be successfully combatted.

In support of his theory, Prof. Metchnikoff says that the Bulgarian mountaineers, who live on curds and whey, are remarkable for their longevity. The scientist declares that the ferment germs in sour milk are deadly enemies of the putrefaction germ of the stomach and intestines.

Investigation at the instance of Dr. O'Hanlon revealed the fact that the old woman has lived for forty or fifty years on bread and milk. She refused to eat meat or vegetables, and generally carried with her on her excursions about the city a few crusts of bread. For thirty years her home has been a small room at 490 Sixth avenue. She was known to all the children for blocks around as "Granny" Fay.

"Granny" Fay, according to her neighbors, was the "sprightliest old woman in Greater New York." Although her sight had been dimmed by age, her step was as firm and elastic as that of a young woman and she made excursions about the city which would have tired out many a person much younger.

Less than a month ago she attempted to walk from her lodgings to visit an old friend in Harlem and was lost in Central Park. For two days she wandered about, unable to get out because of her failing eyesight. During that time she had nothing but a crust of bread and water. She slept at night in the shrubbery until found by a policeman. She was sent to the West Side Court.

"Are you not hungry?" she was asked.

"No," she said, "but I might eat a little bread and milk if I had it."

She showed no ill-effects of her wanderings and exposure in the park, and was sent back to her lodgings. She had left the court room with a firm step.

Mrs. Fay was born in Tippery, in 1801, but when a small child her parents moved to London, where they died. About forty years ago she came to America with a brother, who went West and was never heard of afterward. Her husband was secretary of the Cancer Hospital in Lexington place until his death, thirty years ago. When he died he left his widow $500, which she put in a savings bank and never touched.

DEWEY'S VOYAGE.

REMARKABLE JOURNEY ENDS AT PHILIPPINES.

Big Dry Docks Travel 12,000 Miles at Sea in Tow of Big Tugs.

Manila, July 10.—The dry dock Dewey arrived at Olongapo this morning. The trip from Singapore was uneventful, says a dispatch to the New York Times.

The arrival of the dry dock Dewey in Philippine waters marks the successful completion of the biggest towing feat ever undertaken in ocean navigation. The giant dry dock passed out of the Virginia Capes at 10:40 o'clock on the night of December 29 last, and since that time and up to within a few weeks of her arrival at her destination, the voyage of the great dock and her convoying fleet has been watched with intense interest by naval officers the world over.

When the dock, in tow of the colliers Caesar and Glacier, with the Brutus standing by in case of emergency, and the powerful ocean-going naval tug Potomac leading the way, passed into the open sea in December last, there were in the American navy not a few officers who expected that Commander H. H. Hosley, who commanded the fleet of colliers, would fail in his purpose of taking the dock safely to its destination, 12,000 miles away. The dock displaces 11,000 tons and is big enough to hold comfortably the largest ship now in commission in the United States navy.

From the very beginning of the long journey the voyage of the dock was full of exciting episodes. She was in the Chesapeake Bay and headed for the Capes when she almost ran into the Norwegian steamship America. Once she was in the open sea the Dewey was headed for Bermuda, where she arrived without mishap on time. There two of the enlisted men of the tug Potomac deserted. They declared the voyage the toughest in all their experience, and said that even veterans of the navy, who were among those on the convoying vessels, had gotten sea sick, so terrific was the rolling of the vessels that had the Dewey in tow.

From Bermuda, the Dewey headed for Gibraltar, and was two weeks overdue at that port when she was reported at Los Palmas, Canary Islands, February 23 last. Several times during the voyage between the two ports the dry dock got away from the vessels that had her in tow, but every time Commander Hosley was ready for just such an emergency, and, despite adverse winds and high seas, managed after a great deal of trouble, to re-establish his two lines. From Las Palmas the Dewey sailed for Gibraltar, and that proved one of the most exciting legs in her journey.

The voyage through the Mediterranean was without unusual incident. Arriving at the entrance of the Suez, the dock passed safely through that waterway, which had been specially prepared for her reception, places along the route of the canal being arranged for vessels in transit to anchor while the dock was passing through. Otherwise, navigation in the canal would have had to stop temporarily.

From the canal the dock passed into the Red Sea, and then to the Indian Ocean, where began next to the last leg of the voyage. Singapore was at the end of that leg, and at that port the dock arrived on the night of June 21. Just before Singapore was reached the Dewey broke away from her convoys, but was soon recaptured, and a few hours later Commander Hosley cabled to the Navy Department his safe arrival at the chief port of the Straits Settlements.

On June 27 the Dewey sailed from Singapore. Her arrival in Philippine waters means the complete vendication of all Commander Hosley's ideas concerning the methods that were used in getting her to the Philippines. Her arrival also means that from this on the battleships and armored cruisers of the Asiatic fleet can be docked and repaired in American waters.

SABER-TOOTH TIGERS.

A vivid picture is given in Earnest Ingersoll's recent book, "The Life of Mammals," just published, of the huge saber-toothed cats—those great predecessors of our modern lions and tigers, which were especially numerous and powerful in the America of pre-Glacial time. "Our prehistoric ancestors," says Mr. Ingersoll, "could have told us of an animal much larger and more powerful than any lions or tigers known to us—the saber-toothed tiger Smilodon—which seems to have realized very completely the idea of the king of beasts is portrayed in mediaeval tradition. This great carnivore equaled the largest polar or Kadiak bear in size. It was related to the large cats, but distinguished by its enormous upper canine teeth, enlarged into carving, sharp-edged, flattened flangs, projecting seven inches below the jaw. No record or tradition of it has survived, but its petrified bones have been found in caves and river gravels of the quaternary period, with those of the mammoth, megatherium, and other extinct giants, and associated with the relics of the primitive men. In the pampas of the Argentine Republic, a rich storehouse of fossils, two entire skeletons have been recovered, one of which is mounted in the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

"The tusks to which these beasts owe their name must have made their method of attack all their own. The modern great cats kill their prey usually by biting it in the neck so as to break the spinal column. They pursue as a rule the long-necked, thin-skinned ruminants, which are the most abundant herbivores of to-day, seldom molesting the short-necked, thick-skinned pachyderms such as the rhinoceros and the elephant. The saber tooth appears to have used his great canine fangs in a quite different method of attack: the whole structure of the animal indicates that he struck them forcibly into the side of his prey, the mouth gaping wide meanwhile, and then presumably withdrew them with a ripping, tearing stroke, leaving a great gash whereby a large animal would soon bleed to death. It is fair to infer that the saber-tooth preyed upon creatures much larger than himself, for his means and methods of attack would be ineffective and unnecessary in the case of a small animal."

NEW SENATOR FROM DELAWARE.

COL. H. A. DU PONT.

TOBACCO PLANTERS TO HOLD BIG REUNION.

Guthrie, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—The annual reunion of the Tobacco Planters' Protective Association will be held at Guthrie, at the Fair Grounds, Saturday, September 22. The continued success of this association, which is the most important of its kind in existence, has determined the management to make the next gathering of its members a more brilliant success than was the last. It is said between seventeen and eighteen thousand persons were counted into the grounds in 1905. Three hundred carcasses were barbecued. This time arrangements will be made for twenty-five thousand persons. Five hundred carcasses will be barbecued.

There will be a grand procession, which will be graced by beautiful women on horseback. The most eminent orators and thinkers of our section will be present to address the members. The music will be especially selected. One word will be used, and thought of, as the crowning glory of the day, "Success."

MME. SARAH BERNHARDT DENIED AN HONOR.

Paris, July 21.—The chancellery of the Legion of Honor, having refused to approve the Government's nomination of Sarah Bernhardt for the insignia of Chevalier of the order, Minister of Public Instruction Briand to-day announced his formal approval of the chancellery's action, which is based on Mme. Bernhardt being an actress without official status.

HOPES RECEPTION WILL BE NONPARTISAN.

[To the Editor of the Courier-Journal.]

I am glad to see from your columns that the Young Men's Democratic Club of Louisville has taken the initiative in a proposed welcome for the South to Mr. Bryan.

Such a reception, added to those to be extended at New York for the East and Omaha for the West, would round out the compliment intended for our distinguished fellow-citizen.

I trust this reception will be made nonpartisan, and that representative men from the South, irrespective of party, will be invited to take part in the ceremonies.

All the world has been doing honor to Mr. Bryan as a typical American. For Louisville and the South to do likewise, would confer a higher honor than could come from a partisan gathering and afford at the same time opportunity for all to pay their respects to a man of whom every American has reason to be proud.

ARRIVALS AND DEPARTURES.

Indiana, from and to Cincinnati....Helen M. Gould, from and to Carrollton.... H. M. Carter, to New Orleans....Morning Star, from and to Evansville.

BOATS LEAVING THIS DAY.

City of Cincinnati, Capt. Lindenbern, for Cincinnati at 9 a. m.

RIVER, BUSINESS AND WEATHER.

The river was rising last evening with 8 feet 9 inches in the canal, 1 foot 7 inches on the falls, and 7 feet 5 inches at the foot of the locks....Business active....Weather cloudy with showers.

DRIFTWOOD.

The Indiana left for Cincinnati last evening with her beautiful cabin crowded with low rate round trip excursionists. She will meet the down boat seventy-five miles up the river and come in this evening full of people....The H. M. Carter left for New Orleans with a good trip of freight and some people....The Columbia makes two trips to Fern Grove to-day, one at 9 a. m. and the other at 2:30 p. m. She will have a good crowd on each trip. ....Mate Jim Howard will command the Morning Star while Capt. Ryan is with the dredge boats below here....Snags are reported in the river at the following points: Two at Guyan, a tree at Symmes creek, one opposite the Pomeroy Salt Works and one at the mouth of the Miami....Contracts for three more lake freighters of the largest type were made here to-day, in addition to the six which were announced at Cleveland, O., Wednesday. The aggregate cost of the three will be $1,185,000....The steel hull steamboats to be operated between St. Louis and New Orleans and between St. Louis and St. Paul will not haul freight. They will be run exclusively in the passenger service, making quick time and offering exceptionally attractive accommodations. Negotiations have progressed so far, it is said, as to assure the organization of a company with a capital of $1,000,000. The plans signify a movement to revive passenger traffic by steamer on the Mississippi river, and steamboatmen say that the business done at present is a reliable indication that the project should be successful....The St. Louis Globe-Democrat says: "A rough estimate of $8,000 loss on the Quicy was made by Capt. Killeen. This, he says, is purely a guess, as the loss to the company cannot be closely approximated until the boat is raised. Work has already commenced. First reports stated that the boat, in addition to going down, was partially burned. This, however, is denied by the crew, who declare that the first water through the leak put out the fires. The first that any of the crew knew of danger was when the boat ran into a snag in the river, which was later found to be a tree stump. The boat began settling toward the starboard side, as the hole was made in the starboard bow. Twenty-five minutes after the snag was struck the boat settled to the position it was left in. On the starboard side the boat is resting in fourteen feet of water, while there are twenty-one feet on the other side. Capt. Killeen attributes the rescue of so large a number of passengers to the good work of the crew. Pilots Jack and Jim Richtman were in charge of the boat at the time it struck the snag, and it is said that there are no two men better acquainted with the river than they are." ....All quiet in and about the headquarters of the combine. The officials who have been very busy for some time are now enjoying a rest from their arduous labors, and they certainly deserve it, for they have done big work....Several parties left here Friday for Drennon Springs on Kentucky river. The Indiana will bring down a crowd of people this evening. Many went up on the City of Cincinnati in the morning to meet the down boat and return on her. The annual report of the United States Engineer here has been forwarded to Gen. McKenzie, Chief of Engineers; $656,535.68 has been spent on and around the falls here....The river is still low at Pitsburg....The towboat Mary ran aground at Grand Chain on the Wabash Saturday. A rise only can set her afloat....The excursion crowds on the Cincinnati packets seem to increase in numbers. A big crowd went up yesterday on the morning boat....Capt. Marion Ryon being with the dredging fleet at work below here is a guarantee that the work will be well done and such improvements made in the channels at shallow places as will be of great benefit to boats during the low water season....That was a heavy rain which fell Thursday night....The M. L. Thornton turned over and sank near Lock No. 11 on Kanawha river Thursday. She had taken on too much coal. She took water, backed onto a bar, and turned over. She now lies on her side in six feet of water....The Wash Honshell went up the Tennessee from Paducah to raise a sunken barge belonging to the combine....The Pacific and tow passed Memphis coming up Friday....Coal was expected to arrive at Cincinnati yesterday....There was a big blowout at Vicksburg upon the arrival of Capt. Finnie and his dry docks from Paducah. The Douglas towed the docks down without accident....The work of putting the boilers of the Guiding Star, which sank above Golconda some time ago, on the Gate City at Paducah is progressing rapidly, and the work will be completed soon. After things are gotten in good shape the Gate City will go up the Tennessee river. This little craft is a pleasure boat used by the dealers in inspecting lumber up the Tennessee river....Yesterday was rather a dull day on the river. The rains interfered somewhat with business and travel.

RIVER TELEGRAMS.

Pittsburg, July 21.—[Special.]—The rain that fell up the river yesterday and the day previous caused the river men to be hopeful of a barge stage to-day, but their hopes were shattered when at a late hour this morning they found that the rain had little effected this section. Quiet still prevails about the local rivers, there being no moves of any importance made. The steamer Kanawha is on her way from Gallipolis, O., to this city. She is expected to arrive here early to-morrow morning. At the Government Engineer's office, Federal building, it was said to-day that the official report had been received conveying the intelligence that the harbor lines, from lock No. 4 to Brownsville, which had been under consideration for more than a year, had been formally established by the Secretary of War. The water stage at Davis Island Dam last night was 2.9 feet and rapidly falling.

Cincinnati, July 21.—[Special.]—At 6 p. m. to-day the river at Cincinnati was 10 feet 4 inches and rising. The Lucy Marmet will arrive Sunday. The J. B. Lewis, Convoy, Val P. Collins and Winnifrede will arrive Sunday with coal. To-day's arrivals were: Tacoma, from Charleston; Chilo, from Chilo; Levi P. Workum, from Madison, and City of Cincinnati, from Louisville. The Tacoma left to-night on time for Charleston. The rises in the upper Ohio and Kanawha rivers have given the coal men a chance to ship coal to Cincinnati and way ports. Clear and cool.

Madison, Ind., July 21.—[Special.]—River 8.5 feet, rising. Rain. Roy McCauley, of this city, has been licensed as second engineer and goes on the Island Queen.

Evansville, Ind., July 21.—River 6.4 feet, rising. Rain and warmer.

Cairo, Ill., July 21.—River 19.6; rising. Raining; warm. Arrived: Condor, Joppa, 10 a. m.; Stacker Lee, St. Louis, 11:30 a. m.; Ruth No. 2, Wheeling, 1 p. m.; John A. Wood, St. Louis, 5 p. m. Departed: Condor, Joppa, 11 a. m.; Stacker Lee, Memphis, 1 p. m.; Ruth No. 2, New Orleans, 2:30 p. m.; Herman Paepcke, New Orleans, 5 p. m.

St. Louis, July 21.—River 13.1 feet; a fall of three-tenths in twenty-four hours. Fair and warm.

News of the Churches

With a very few exceptions, the American religious bodies having large foreign mission interests are giving much attention to the development of what is by some called the "parish plan" of missionary support. Under this plan individual missionaries on the foreign field are supported by individual congregations of the home church, the funds passing through the hands of the foreign mission board or society under whose direction the missionary is working.

This plan has been found successful not only in increasing the interest of the home churches in foreign missions, but in increasing their contributions for the cause. Missionaries individually supported by home churches write directly to them of their work and its needs, and there is a closeness of touch, the one with the other, that engenders interest and sympathy. In several denominations there is now under way a forward movement for the widening of this parish plan of missionary support. The American board, working among Congregational churches, has succeeded in getting a number of them to join in the movement, and now a similar campaign is to be undertaken by the Reformed Church in America.

To present the matter before the Reformed churches the general synod of that body directed its Board of Missions to secure the Rev. Dr. S. M. Zwemer, F. R. G. S., a missionary now home on furlough from Arabia. Dr. Zwemer had already arranged to have his furlough extended six months in order that he might visit a number of the American colleges and universities in the interest of the student volunteer movement, but the call of his own church is the stronger, and arrangements have been made whereby he will keep such college engagements as have already been made for him, but will give most of his time, for possibly a year, to the forward movement for foreign missions, and the effort will be made to secure the individual support of practically all the foreign missionaries of the Reformed Church.

Who Are Philanthropists?

The assertion has sometimes been made that the philanthropic work of the country, done without connection with any religious body, was nevertheless largely done by people who are communicants of Christian churches. To ascertain the truth or otherwise of the assertion, the American Institute of Social Service undertook a partial census of the people engaged in definite philanthropic work and found that of 1,012 persons examined 76 per cent. replied that they were communicants of some Christian church.

Going farther with the inquiry, it was ascertained that 21 per cent. of these workers belonged to the Episcopal Church, 16 per cent. to the Congregational, 16 per cent. to the Presbyterian, 14 per cent. to the Methodist, 6 per cent. to the Universalist and Unitarian Churches together, and 5 per cent. to the Roman Catholic.

Comment that has been made on the above percentages by religious leaders is to the effect that the denominational figures, while interesting, are not to be taken as indicating that members of any one body are more interested in philanthropic work than those of another, but rather than as such work is done largely in cities, where, for instance, lies the strength of the Episcopal Church, it is natural that that body should be credited with a large percentage of such workers, while Methodists, on the other hand, are stronger in rural districts, where the calls for philanthropy are not so great.

Sunday-School Methods.

There is being displayed a more than common interest, considering the season, in Sunday-school methods and courses of study, and there have been held a number of conferences of Sunday-school leaders during the past few weeks for the consideration of various phases of the work. Marked interest is being displayed in the proposition to restore to the Sunday-schools special missionary lessons, which were to some extent at least displaced some years ago by the special temperance lessons. To consider the means whereby the topic of missions may best be presented in the schools there has been held within a few days, at Silver Bay, on Lake George, a conference attended by missionary and Sunday-school leaders, the results of which cannot yet be foretold.

In the meantime the subject has received the attention of mission boards and societies of the several denominations, and practically all of these are now in position to supply Sunday-schools with material and suggestions for special missionary days, when such are observed by the schools. Methodists have gone a step farther than some others, and under the auspices of the Missionary Society of that body has been issued a manual of mission methods for Sunday-schools, which has been highly commended by Mr. Marion Lawrence, the general secretary of the International Sunday-school Association.

The subject of advanced lessons in Bible study, for older and adult scholars of the Sunday-schools, is also keeping in the fore, notwithstanding the continued opposition of many who hold that the regular international lessons are sufficient, needing only a different preparation and presentation for advanced scholars. The matter is involved by a dispute between the International Lesson Committee and the Sunday-school Editorial Association. Both of these bodies prepared a series of "advanced" lessons for 1907, and each series was rejected by the body which had not prepared it. As the result of a conference between the contending interests it has been decided to publish the series of lessons prepared by the Editorial Association, and if these find acceptance the Lesson Committee will prepare a series for 1908 along similar lines.

A feature of the situation which arouses much interest among leaders is the fact that there is rapidly growing a movement for adult study of the Bible, and classes are being formed all over the country, some of them connected with the Sunday-schools, some entirely independent of them. There is even said to be a possibility that these adult classes may come to be connected with each other by some national organization yet to be formed, and Sunday-school interests are closely watching the movement in the hope that it may be held loyal to existing Sunday-school organizations.

Conference of Its Own.

The Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions is to have a summer conference all of its own, the dates being September 4 to 7, and the place Pocono Pines, Pennsylvania. It is planned to bring together at this conference all leaders in the foreign mission work of the Presbyterian Church who are connected with Eastern synods and presbyterians, returned missionaries who may be available, and representatives of women's missionary boards, and members of missionary committees of individual churches. The secretaries of the Foreign Mission Board will be present and it is planned to have a Mission Study hour each morning at ten, to be conducted by Dr. T. H. P. Sailer, educational secretary of the board, and at 11 o'clock in the mornings to have a Missionary Institute at which the Rev. Dr. A. W. Halsey, Mr. David McConaughy and others will take part. Afternoon meetings will be informal, and in the evenings returned missionaries will tell of the work on the field. The conference is a novel one in which much interest is taken.

News of the Vatican.

Notwithstanding reports which have originated in Rome and found wide acceptance in this country, Catholics who are well informed as to the situation in the Vatican maintain that Cardinal Merry del Val, the Papal Secretary of State, continues to enjoy the confidence and the esteem of Pope Pius X. It has been asserted that the Pope, who is held to be governed largely by personal motives in the selection of prelates for high places in the church, has begun to realize that his youthful Secretary of State may have made some mistakes in diplomacy, and that possibly the situation of the Catholic Church in France is worse than it might have been had the diplomatic relations of the French Government and the Vatican been intrusted to an older and presumably wiser man.

Color was given the assertion by adding that Cardinal Rampolla, who was Secretary of State under Pope Leo XIII., and who has been living in comparative retirement since the accession of Pius X., has been making such frequent visits to the Vatican of late, at the invitation of the Pope, that it was fair to assume that he was being called into consultation upon important matters, and as the French situation is the prevailing topic in Vatican circles it was naturally assumed that Cardinal Rampolla's advice was being asked in this matter. This being the case, the present Secretary of State must have fallen from favor.

All this, it is held by Catholic prelates thoroughly familiar with the situation, is the barest assumption. As a matter of fact, they say, not only does Cardinal Merry del Val retain the confidence of Pope Pius X., but in the two years he has held his office he has gained the good will of most of the older Cardinals, who were disposed to criticise him at the outset because of his youth and inexperience. These now consider that the diplomatic affairs of the Vatican have been in good hands, and they say that it was perfectly evident that France intended to break with the church and would have done so no matter what the Vatican could have done to prevent.

It is reported from Rome that the Pope himself, when spoken to by a friend regarding the report that Cardinal Merry del Val had fallen from favor, disposed of the matter by saying: "What foolish things the newspapers say sometimes, and how little they seem to know about my regard for his eminence." Cardinal Rampolla undoubtedly enjoyes the esteem and confidence of the Pope, say those familiar with the situation, but that he will supersede the present Secretary of State and return to the diplomatic leadership of the church is as far from his desire as it is from the purpose of the Pope.

The Summer Girl.

Her Vagaries==The Veil the Most Important Feature of Her Toilet.

THERE never was a season, perhaps, when the little accessories of a woman's toilet counted for as much in the tout-ensemble as this summer.

The American woman, with her quick perception and ability to adapt to her own uses the best there is in a new mode, has seized with avidity the suggestions offered in the toilets of her French sister.

The summer girl decked out in her best is an enchanting and altogether delectable vision, and if one chooses to probe the matter to the bottom and discover just what makes the summer girl so pleasing to look upon, even if she is not blessed with a pretty face, one will decide it is the inevitable veil which she wears.

The amount of individuality a woman can put into the arrangement of a few yards of chiffon, draped around her hat, is astonishing.

The girl with the artistic instinct can get in some very clever and telling work in the manner in which she arranges her veil and in the selection of the color of that important adjunct of her toilet.

The soft-toned chiffon, as it blows about a girl's head and shoulders, gives a distinct impression of atmosphere, and if she chooses the color of her veil with an eye to her own color, the effect is most harmonious, as well as subtle.

But even in a symphonic toilet a false note may be struck; as when, one day last week, a pretty woman from New York, who has been spending two months in Louisville, stopped to chat with some friends on Fourth avenue. She looked charming in a white frock with touches of blue and a heavenly blue chiffon veil floating about her head. The wind blew the ends of the veil high in the air and on one end a large white tag that had been overlooked by the wearer had $4.50 lined out and $2.98 in unmistakable figures, to be read by those who ran.

Light and cool looking as the veils are, where the colors are well selected, they can give a stuffy and hot impression if the colors are violent. A girl who persists in flaunting a flame-colored veil in hot weather may look like Papinta in her fire dance, but she gives a disagreeable impression of warmth.

If women will persist in wearing scarlet veils they should do so in the country, where a bovine appreciation would make itself felt.

On one of the sizzling hot days last week a girl in a very much embroidered and eyeleted frock, and wearing scarlet gloves (be charitable and forgive her), and about four yards of aggressively scarlet chiffon pinned on her hat, passed a group of newsboys, who are assuredly not respecters of persons. At the sight of her one of the boys gave a shout and cried, "Oh, fireman, save my child," and fled up Green street emitting sounds that were supposed to suggest the entire Fire Department at a full run.

As a rule, though, women are clever in choosing the colors that best suits them. A blonde with some degree of warmth in her coloring, is a vision when she is enveloped in a golden brown veil. And if the veil be worn with an ecru, or creamy-toned frock and russet shoes, she is a thing of beauty to gaze on by day, and dream of at night.

The spirit of daring and a thirst for experiment will induce many women to take at least one chance, on wearing a pink veil. But woe betide the saffron-hued sister who deliberately flies in the face of Providence with a pink cloud above her brow when blue veils are to be had for $2.98.

When a girl has the eyes and skin and hair that allow her to affect pink veils, she is charming in them, but veils in that color are the most trying things in the world to the majority of women.

Parisians have gone daft on the subject of veils, and the quantity of chiffon or net that the French woman of fashion can manage to wind around her hat and herself seems incredible to the uninitiated. Elephant gray is to be chosen above all shades for veils and gloves, just now, with brown next in favor.

A fashion letter from Paris, in describing a charmng costume worn recently by a French beauty at the Vernissage of the Retrospective Exhibition, given by the old members of the Societe des Beaux Arts, says:

Her hat—and this is the very latest idea in veilings, and one which I have seen on several exquisitely gowned women—was swathed in a huge veil in elephant gray, rather large meshed but fine silk netting. Its folds wrapped hat, head and throat, even the shoulders, one end thrown backward and the other hanging to the ground in front. These veils are made of double-width netting, and are as long as one can possibly manage them, and absolutely without edging and of the same nouance as the gown. They must be faultlessly fresh to give the correct air.

I saw a similar veil in bright beige brown wrapping a hat that was a towering structure of crin and huge falcon plumes in the same nouance.

Mrs. Wortham Otter, who recently returned from abroad, wears her veils with charming effect and selects colors with an artistic eye.

Miss Elizabeth Finlay, who also has just returned from a stay in Europe, affects brown veils, which harmonize well with her coloring and which she arranges with an effect of careless grace.

Miss Rosa Dunlap wears either white or brown veils and has a charming way of arranging them.

Miss Lida Kelly wears white chiffon veils altogether, and has the trick of giving the impression that her veil is thrown over her hat and tied in a coquettish loose bow fastened to one shoulder in an offhand manner that is very fetching.

Miss Louise Bond has a greater variety of veils than any girl in Louisville, and she thoroughly understands the art of wearing them.

Miss Blandina Griffiths is another one of the younger girls who can wear a veil with grace.

Miss Clara Haldeman is one of the few girls who can wear a black flowered lace veil and look well. She has the height and the coloring and the necessary dash to venture on wearing a veil that to the woman of average height and monotonous coloring would be a fatal mistake sartorially.

Mrs. Champion Ingraham Hitchcock affects white lace veils draped with an easy grace over her hats, but does not allow them to fall over her face.

Mrs. Louise Stine Holloway is fortunate in being able to wear pink or blue chiffon veils with equal becomingness, and they are quite an adjunct to her charming summer costumes.

SHORT-CHANGE GAMES

WORKED IN VARIOUS WAYS BY REAL ARTISTS.

How Some of Smoothest Tricks Are Worked by Those Who Know.

The art of short changing is studied by waiters, bartenders, street fakers and various other servants of the public, says the San Francisco Bulletin. The man to whom all other short-changers doff their headgear is the ticket seller in the circus box office, and next is the man who climbs about among the seated throng in the big tent disposing of concert tickets.

There are two ideal methods of returning change in an apparently honest manner and at the same time retaining part of it. One of these is used when the change is in silver and one is employed when bills are handled.

For illustration a $2 note is tendered in payment of some article costing ten cents or a quarter. The person making the change counts it correctly from his left hand into his right. He takes particular pains that his victim shall see that it is correctly counted.

Then he dumps the handful of silver into the hand of its owner. This looks so fair that few persons take the trouble to recount the money. Here is where they are easy. In turning the handful of money into the outstretched hand the artist retains a half dollar or a quarter in his palm, which is slightly contracted to secure the piece.

Perhaps a $10 note is tendered in payment for a ticket. The man in the gilded box first counts the bills over to himself. Then he reaches out to the waiting hands and counts the bills for the benefit of the buyer.

He does not place the bills entirely in the victim's hands as he counts them; however, but grips one end of the bunch in his left hand while he counts the free ends, laying the ends back over his hand as he counts. He does this slowly and deliberately.

Then rolling the bills into a wad he smilingly places them in the impatient victim's hand. The operation is so apparently honest that nine times out of ten the man will pocket the bills without counting them.

If he should count the roll he would find himself $1 to $2 short, for one of the bills reposing in the center of the bunch is doubled in the center, with the two ends even with the single ends of the other bills. One bill is thus counted as two.

One of the most brilliant methods of short changing is known among the profession as the quarter dodge. A $5 note is tendered in payment for an article costing a quarter. The smooth one picks up a handful of twenty-five-cent pieces and counts them one at a time into the hand of the purchaser.

He counts the article purchased as "one," the first quarter placed in the buyer's hand being "two," etc. He says: "One, two, three, four—one dollar; one, two, three, four—two dollars; one, two, three, four, four twenty-five, four fifty, four seventy-five, five dollars." At every count the operator places a quarter in the palm of the victim.

The pieces are counted rapidly, and there is nothing suspicious in the operation. But the reader will notice that the manner of counting changes when the third dollar is reached. Instead of saying "One, two, three, four—three dollars," the artist says "One, two, three, four, four twenty-five, four fifty," etc., thus skipping a dollar entirely. It may seem preposterous that such a barefaced swindle could be successfully worked on even a denizen of Podunk or Rahway, but in practice it is successful ninety-nine times out of a hundred.

A minor method of holding out change when selling ten-cent tickets to the "grand concert after the big show" is frequently used. If a dollar is handed to the ticket seller he hands back the ticket, counting it as "ten," then in dimes he counts "twenty, thirty, forty, fifty, sixty, seventy, eighty, ninety," concluding "and the ticket is one dollar." The ticket is thus counted twice.

GREAT PEACH YEAR.

CROP WILL EXCEED ALL PREVIOUS RECORDS.

Great American Fruit Will Be Cheap and Plentiful Everywhere.

This is to be a great year for peaches—the kind that comes in baskets with a sort of dainty automobile veiling of pink netting over them, says the Pittsburg Sun. You can prove this at any fruit stand. Although the season of 1906 is early yet, a five-cent piece judiciously invested will get even the dyspeptic many juicy minutes of delicious enjoyment. The pink netting which sometimes folded off on the hopeful purchaser a pale green, flabby, tasteless disappointment, this year, but heightens the glory of a perfect fruit.

The peach is easily first. We pay a most delicate and pervasive compliment to our womankind when we say of one, that she is a peach. Call her a dippin you safely may, perhaps, but not an apple nor a pear, not even a strawberry, or an orange, at your peril. The lowly lemon is a stigma of disgrace. The peach is supreme. The far-famed world-old grape takes second place.

The glorious peach now makes all places its own. Its rich beauty and delicious flavor, the triumph of man's selective breeding, submit gracefully to the canner's art. The peach is to the provident a year-around luxury. Great is the rejoicing, great are the gains to the public health in good peach years. The failure of the wheat or cotton crop is scarcely more deplored that are the lean peach years.

Against unseasonable weather which lures the peach buds to put forth too early and then fiendishly nips the confiding blooms, science is powerless. No safeguard has been devised. But rarely does frost wreck the peach crop prospects of the entire country. Some sections always escape these visitations.

The glory, abundance and excellence of our peach crops are largely due to the patient book farmers of the Department of Agriculture. Insects know what is good. The peach has a myriad of enemies against whom only the best intelligence and the most unremitting activity prevail. Occasionally the bugs win, and a peach orchard or a peach territory is ruined. But this is not often. Each new defeat spurs the entomologists on to final victory. The department studies each new pest as it develops, and so far has triumphed over every one. It has taught the methods of successfully combating these despoilers to the peach growers, who have applied skilfully compounded washes, sprays and other treatment to their trees. Result, successful production, where heretofore the crop has failed; consequent abundance and cheapness of the choicest varieties.

The number of pests that prey upon the delicious peach, or the leaves, branches and bark of the tree, is enormous. A report just published by the Bureau of Entomology of the Department of Agriculture enumerates 190 species of insect enemies of the peach! Special chapters are devoted in this report to the curculio, the borer, the San Jose scale, the West Indian scale, the peach lecanium or "terrapin scale," the black aphis, the twig borer, the bark-beetle, the rootgall, and so on. He who has vanquished this predaceous army is surely to be accounted greater than he than taketh a city. He is the kind of conqueror that we are looking for in this peaceful day and generation.

No fruit produces with more abundance than the peach, if it is protected from its insect enemies. No other fruit thrives on such poor soil. It will bear abundantly if planted in pure sand. The peach is altogether a boon. Once it could not be raised in the cold North, but every year its cultivation is carried farther and farther toward the pole. It is now raised successfully in some parts of Canada. Every State in the Union will eventually produce it.

No beef trust scandal, no food adulteration can taint the blissful beauty of the peach. Nature's laboratories for the production of food are always above suspicion. Her methods are clean. Her output is wholesome and life-giving. The less of man, middleman especially, we have between us and her the better all around. People whose appetite for potted ham, canned chicken and sausage has strangely left them may now find solace and health in the juicy, never to be forgotton, life-bestowing peach.

SPEED CAUSES DEATH.

PHYSICIAN RODE TOO FAST IN BIG AUTOMOBILE.

Contracts Chronic Nephritis From Overdulgence in the Mania.

After a brief illness Dr. Charles A. Tinker, of 124 West One Hundred and Twenty-first street, died yesterday in the Howell House, in Westhampton, L. I., says the New York Press. The attending physicians diagnosed his case as chronic nephritis, which it was said had been brought on by excessive riding in fast-going automobiles. From what could be learned in his house last night Dr. Tinker was passionately fond of automobiling.

Last year he decided his son, Arthur, twelve years old, should learn to drive an auto. He bought a fine machine for the boy and taught him to run it. The license was made out in the boy's name and it pleased the physician greatly when his son became competent to run the auto through the busy thoroughfares of the city. In the summer Dr. Tinker spent most of his time in Westhampton, and the boy used to come down in an auto and take his father around. Thus the doctor spent most of his waking hours in the machine and got practically no exercise.

The physician's love of automobiling began about seven years ago, and he was, always an enthusiastic visitor at automobile exhibitions. As soon as he got a machine of his own he fell into the habit of taking long rides at night. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that whenever he was not sitting in his office he was riding in an automobile. The last trip he took was only a few days ago, when he went to Westhampton as usual.

In the auto were his son, who drove it, and Mrs. Fanny Porter, of 2 East One Hundred and Twenty-seventh street. It was inferred from what the attending physicians said that lack of exercise was not alone responsible for nephritis; that the disease was aggravated by the frequent riding in a machine that throbbed and started and stopped with sudden jerks. Dr. Tinker was fifty-one years old. His wife was in Centre Moriches at the time he died.

WATCH BEES WORK.

Hive Can Be Arranged in Glass for Display.

Everybody is curious to see bees actually at work.

Take a rectangular glass aquarium and place it on a window sill, elevated slightly at the side nearest the window, so that when the latter is raised an inch the bees may pass in and out. If desired, the bees may be kept for some time in confinement, by raising the aquarium an inch on blocks and using a strip of wire screen cloth to prevent the bees from escaping.

When confined, the bees should be fed a syrup of equal parts of sugar and water. A frame or two of bees may be purchased for a trifling sum.

Put within this glass aquarium some rustic supports to represent projecting, undecayed portions of the inside of the hollow trunk. Keep all covered by an opaque cloth when not observing what is going on within this glass bee home.

Then the bees will be free to work and to adapt themselves to the environment. They can suit their own fancy about attaching combs to the sticks; they may build diagonally or in any other form that they may prefer, and they may attach the comb to sides or ends just when and where they think it is necessary.

In the artificial hives the combs are attached only at the edges, but in natural conditions within the bee tree or in its counterpart, as represented by the old-fashioned box hive with opaque sides and in our transparent inverted aquarium, the bees can build combs and attach them in any way that they see fit.

One of the most interesting objects for study is to note when the bees think it necessary to put out a side support from a long comb. They seem to believe that they are really within a hollow tree, and that it is likely to be swayed by the gales. Of course, when so swayed long combs laden with honey or with young bees would be too much for the unyielding rigidity of the upper part of the combs. These, if they had no side stays, would bend, crack and be crushed against each other.

The bees have learned this, and give the combs a firm support whenever it is necessary. They do this, it is true, to a certain extent, in the regular eight or ten-frame hive, but not with the naturalness with which they do it in a large, unobstructed space.

Not long ago a veteran bee keeper took a colony of bees from an attic, where they had been for many years.

"Well," said he, "you should have seen the funny forms of those combs—most interesting thing I ever saw. There was one pillar almost round—a solid center right up and several feet long—and then combs around that; the most fantastic shapes you ever saw."—[Suburban Life.

REPUBLICAN ROW

Will Benefit New York Democrats.

HIGGINS AND HIS ENEMIES FIGHTING FOR CONTROL.

MRS. CARTER'S MARRIAGE A TOPIC OF CONVERSATION.

EFFORTS TO PURIFY THE BAR.

New York, July 21.—[Special.]—Will history repeat itself and 1906 be as great a landslide for the Democrats as 1882, the year when Grover Cleveland was elected Governor and David B. Hill, Lieutenant Governor, by tremendous majorities? is the question of moment at the present time. Two Republican factions are already in the field preparing to battle for the control of the party—the Higgins and anti-Higgins men. The latter now consist of the followers of Gov. Odell and Senator Platt. It is taken as a fact that Frank S. Black will join them later on. He is holding off at present because he wants to watch the strength of the new combine develop, and under both Platt and Odell anxious enough to secure his support to agree to most any terms he may ask. That the bosses will need Black goes without saying. For the lack of patronage has weakened both considerably, and in several counties up the State men who have been looked upon as their personal lieutenants are now supporters of Gov. Higgins. That either boss could enter the present fight hostile to the other is not believed, and this is the reason for their alliance. No love is lost between the two, even at the present day. If Black joins the combine it will only be in return for an ironclad agreement from both Platt and Odell giving him the first vacancy in the United States Senate from New York. It is said in some quarters, though not confirmed, that Mr. Black insists that either Platt or Depew resign shortly after the first of the year to enable him to enter the upper house without further delay.

There are many Republican booms for Governor in the air, but the situation will not be cleared up so far as a straight-out fight is concerned until Frank Wayland Higgins states whether of not he will be a candidate for a second term. During the last month the Governor and his friends have been carefully considering the situation. Nicholas V. V. Franchot, his personal friend and political manager, has been at work on a Higgins machine throughout the State, while the Governor himself has had frequent conferences in New York with Timothy L. Woodruff, who claims to control the Republican machine of Kings county, and other leaders. The position of Mr. Higgins, as a friend outlined it to your correspondent, is simply this: he will not retire under fire. This his opponents know well. Further that the Governor was not anxious for a nomination, and was quite willing to relinquish the post in favor of another until his foes started to throw mud both at the Administration and himself, and it is this alone which has caused him to enter the field again.

The control of the State organization by the Platt-Black-Odell combine would not be without its national significance. All three men are unfriendly to Elihu Root. Platt because he believes that Root only used him as a cat's paw in starting the fight against Odell last winter. Odell because he knew all along that Root was the power behind the throne in the movement. Black because his political aspirations clash with those of the Secretary of State. As a result, much talk is heard in Republican circles friendly to the aspirations of Secretary Taft. It is pointed out that he is a man of much ability, popularity and quite free from those corporate connections which would render Elihu Root ineligible to lead the party in a campaign with the issue turning on trusts.

Mrs. Carter's Marriage.

During the past few days the matrimonial venture of Mrs. Leslie Carter and her present status with David Belasco has been more talked of than even the White-Thaw tragedy. Years back, Belasco and Henry C. De Mille gave us "The Wife" and "The Charity Ball" at the old Lyceum Theater on Fourth avenue, near Twenty-third street. "Men and Women" was also one of their pieces. Shortly afterwards Belasco started to train Mrs. Carter. In a suit which he brought against N. K. Fairbanks, a Chicago millionaire, for services in this respect, it appeared that he dragged Mrs. Carter by the hair and even pinched and slapped her as part of the course of developing her emotional qualities. She made her debut at the old Star in "Miss Helyett," a musical play adapted from the French. It was a failure. Then Paul Potter gave her "The Ugly Duckling," which also failed. It was not until "The Heart of Maryland" was produced that Mrs. Carter achieved any kind of success. This was followed by "Zaza," from the French of Simon and Berton and the "Du Barry" of Jean Reichpin. Norma Munro, the great friend of Mrs. Carter, is the daughter of the late Norman L. Munro, the publisher of those cheap weeklies of a dime novel nature, now almost extinct. For a long time she was interested in horses and won several ribbons at the annual show at Hollywood. She was also a partner with Mrs. Osborne, the fashionable dressmaker, in the attempt to make a society theater of the Berkley Lyceum, near Sherry's. The friendship between Norma Munro and Mrs. Carter is said to have been very distasteful to Mr. Belasco.

Charges Against Lawyers.

When the Appellate division of the Supreme Court met the other day it was obliged to consider charges against eleven lawyers. One was accused of being admitted to the bar on forged papers, several others with retaining money collected for clients, and the rest with malpractice. For the last few years the Bar Association and District Attorney Jerome have been called upon to deal with such cases and a great effort is now on foot to rid the profession of its undesirable members. Many causes are attributed to the backsliding of these offenders. One is the amount of competition, which has served to reduce the fees of the average attorney. There are now 10,000 men striving to make a living in the legal profession. Another is the existence of the title companies, which have put the real estate lawyers out of business so far as searching property is concerned. The statement is also made that the Committee on Character for admission to the bar has not been as diligent in the performance of its duties as it might be. The legal profession in New York is growing too commercialized and many of the present evils are also due to this.

Given Up Burglary Insurance.

The American Fidelity and the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company have given up burglary insurance. They claim that the business has ceased to be profitable for two reasons: the alarming increase in burglaries and the numerous "fake" robberies arranged for the sake of the insurance. It is indeed a strange condition that while New York is the safest city to live in, so far as footpads and highway robberies are concerned, the number of sneak thieves and pickpockets operating is astounding. Most of the victims of the former are people who live in very moderate priced flats, and not able to afford the luxuries of a servant girl, who are obliged to leave the place alone when they are out. The pickpockets operate on all the car lines, especially those carrying people to and from the races and excursion resorts. Many years ago, a charge was made that certain police officials winked at these robberies for a consideration. Josiah Flynt, who wrote stories of the under world and especially tramp life, made the startling assertion that a Detective Sergeant at headquarters had done his time in an Illinois prison.

Report On Legislature.

The Citizen Union has issued its report on the last Legislature. This feature of the organization is of great value and could well be emulated elsewhere. The report deals not so much with the Legislature as a body, but more with the conduct of those who composed it. Every member has his record given and the judgment of the committee on it. That of Senators Thomas F. Grady and Patrick McCarren, the Democratic leaders in that body, is not very flattering. The only Tammany Senator praised is Jacob Marks, who succeeded Supreme Court Justice Victor J. Dowling. During campaign times, The Evening Post prints a similar statement on the report of the "Hs." Several members who have been criticised in it in the past have not taken kindly to this and libel suits resulted.

EDWARD LISSNER.

Killed By a Cow.

Edwardsville, Ill., July 21.—August Frickenstein, a well-known farmer, was butted to death by a mulcy cow today when he attempted to take the cow's calf away from her for the market.

TUBERCULAR EXHIBITIONS IN NEW YORK.

Object To Prevent Disease and Teach People How To Treat Patients.

New York, July 21.—New York's Department of Health will inaugurate tubercular exhibitions next week. They are planned by Dr. Thomas Darlington, president of the department, and are designed to instruct the people of the city in simple preventives of the "white plague," and incidentally how to care for those who are suffering with this disease. There will be four or five exhibitions each week from now until September. They will be held in the various parks and on recreation piers, and will consist of stereopticon views showing how the "white plague" is contracted in poorly ventilated and dirty rooms and a few illustrations of localities where consumption is treated, the camps in which the patients stay during their illness and some of those fortunate enough to be convalescent.

Between these instructive health slides there will be pictures of well-known public men, funny kidnaping, burglar and fire-fighting scenes, with an occasional song from a quartet to make the exhibition entertaining and to hold the interest of the crowd.

In inaugurating these performances the Department of Health believes that by a combination of entertainment and instruction it can reach thousands of persons who would not read literature or attend lectures to learn how to prevent contracting tuberculosis or how to care for those suffering with it.

DREYFUS WEARS NEW HONOR

French Martyr Receives Cross of the Legion.

Ceremony On Spot Where He Was Wronged.

Affecting Scene Between Him and His Wife.

APPLAUSE BY SPECTATORS.

Paris, July 21.—In the presence of a distinguished military assemblage, Maj. Alfred Dreyfus, wearing the full uniform of his rank, to-day received the cross of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. The ceremony, which was held in the courtyard of the military school, was rendered doubly impressive by being held on the very spot where the buttons and gold lace were stripped off his uniform and his sword broken twelve years ago. The courtyard, from which the public was rigorously excluded, as the ceremony was purely of laws, encircled by two batteries of the Thirteenth artillery, commanded by Col. Targe, who made the recent discoveries at the War Office leading to the rehearing of the case against Dreyfus and his acquittal.

Gen. Gillain, accompanied by a number of army officials, entered the circle with trumpets and drums sounding. The General attached the decoration to Maj. Dreyfus' breast and felicitated him on his well-earned honor. The Major replied briefly, expressing his acknowledgments. The ceremony was over in five minutes, the General, Maj. Dreyfus and the army official retiring amid the dipping of flags and a roll of drums.

Notable Demonstration.

The decoration of the Major assumed the aspect of a notable demonstration. His brother officers who were prominent figures in various stages of the controversy were among the spectators, and outside the circle of troops stood Madame Dreyfus and the little son of Dreyfus; Brig. Gen. Picquart, who shared in the court's acquittal of the famous prisoner; Anatole France, of the French Academy; Alfred Capus and other literary men who aided in Zola's campaign in behalf of a revision of the first verdict. Previous to the ceremony Maj. Dreyfus was presented to Gen. Gillain, commander of the First division of cavalry; Gen. Perein and other prominent officers, who warmly shook hands with him, testifying their satisfaction at his return to the army. The officers then repaired to the courtyard, where the trumpeters sounded four calls announcing the ceremony. Maj. Dreyfus took up a position at the head of the two batteries of artillery by the side of Col. Targe, while Gen. Gillain, stepping into the center of the circle announced the decoration of Targe as a commander and Dreyfus as a chevalier of the Legion of Honor. Dreyfus and Targe, with their sabers drawn, then advanced to the center of the troops, taking a position before Gen. Gillain. The latter first bestowed the decoration on Targe and then turning to Dreyfus the General said:

"In the name of the President of the republic and in virtue of the powers intrusted to me, Maj. Dreyfus, I hereby name you a chevalier of the National Order of Legion of Honor."

* * *

Spectators Applauded.

After pinning the cross on Dreyfus' breast, the General gave the Major the military accolade, the trumpet sounding and the spectators applauding.

The troops then defiled before Gen. Gillain, Maj. Dreyfus occupying the post of honor on the General's right, Col. Targe and the Generals being stationed on his left.

When the march past was completed the trumpets again sounded four calls, announcing the close of the ceremony, and Dreyfus and Targe were immediately the center of an eager crowd of officers and friends. One of the first to reach Dreyfus was his little son, who rushed forward and threw his arms around his father's neck, sobbing violently.

The officers who had not taken official part in the ceremony also came forward to greet their comrade. As Maj. Dreyfus received the well wishes of his relatives and the officers his face, usually impassive, twitched with emotion, and it was with difficulty that he preserved his soldierly calm.

* * *

Thanked Anatole France.

Turning to Anatole France, Dreyfus said:

"I thank you more than I can say. You have always struggled for my cause."

M. France replied: "We merit no thanks, for what has been done was in the interest of right and justice. We felicitate you all the more since so many others who have struggled for justice have died before it was attained."

Col. Targe terminated his felicitations by conducting Maj. Dreyfus to the officers' quarters, where Mme. Dreyfus was waiting for him. The meeting between the husband and wife was most affectionate, the spectators withdrawing to permit them to be alone.

Shortly after this, Dreyfus, accompanied by his wife and son, emerged from the military school and entered a carriage. As the Major appeared the crowd in front of the main entrance gave him a hearty ovation. The carriage was then driven swiftly in the direction of the Dreyfus home.

On reaching his residence, Maj. Dreyfus, who is affected with heart trouble, suffered a violent attack, but the faintness soon passed away and he was able to receive Procurator General Baudouin and Brig. Gen. Picquart, to whom he expressed his most sincere thanks for their exertions in his behalf.

NEGROES STARVE RATHER THAN SPEND THEIR GOLD.

Panama, July 21.—Henceforth the Panama Canal Commision will pay all laborers in silver. It seems that simultaneously with the previous decision to pay the men in gold the mortality among the West Indian laborers increased considerably and rumor has it that in many instances the negroes have preferred practically to starve than to spend the gold coin, little of which they had ever seen.

PUBLISHING PLANT DESTROYED BY FIRE.

San Jose, Cal., July 21.—The plant of the Pacific Press Publishing Company, at Mountain View, was destroyed by fire last night. The loss is estimated at $350,000, with insurance of only $100,000. The stock in the company is owned by Adventists throughout the State. The plant employed 125 persons, and sent out a ton of mail a day.

SAYS HE WAS DRUNK

WHEN HE MADE STATEMENT ABOUT MRS. HARTJE.

Coachman Clings To Denials of Original Deposition—Rumor of Hartje's Suicide.

Pittsburg, July 21.—It was learned to-day that Clifford Hooe, the negro coachman formerly in the employ of the Hartje family, in the sworn statement made to Assistant District Attorney John S. Robb, Jr., in the District Attorney's office, May 22, said that the deposition made by him in which he declared he had been intimate with Mrs. Mary Scott Hartje was a lie. In the statement made to Mr. Robb, Hooe said he was under the influence of liquor when he made the statement to the detectives. He goes into details as to how the deposition was taken and says that he was paid over $500 at different times for making the deposition. It was largely upon the strength of this statement that Mr. Robb caused charges of conspiracy to be entered against John L. Weishons, Edward G. Hartje, brother of the libellant, and Hooe.

Hooe clings to his denials of the original deposition, however, thus corroborating the statement made to the detectives and denying the truth of the statements reflecing upon the character of Mrs. Hartje. He swore positively in the statement to Mr. Robb that he never had been intimate with Mrs. Hartje.

A rumor to the effect that Augustus Hartje had committed suicide became current during the day and spread rapidly through the city. The rumor was quickly dispelled, however, as Hartje was with his counsel most of the afternoon and when seen later he said he believed the report was started with malicious intent. An effort will be made to find out where it originated.

BY INJUNCTION

Railroads Will Seek To Prevent Rate Reduction.

WILL OPPOSE ACTION OF STATE RAILROAD COMMISSION.

CASE MAY GO TO UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

IMPORTANT POINTS INVOLVED.

The indications are that the decision handed down by the Kentucky Railroad Commission, effective July 29, in which a general reduction is made in freight rates on all roads throughout the State, will result in a bitter and hotly contested legal fight to the very end.

The railroads are determined to exhaust every legal means available in testing the constitutionality of the action of the State Railroad Commission in making reductions in rates, in what they term, an arbitrary manner. The railroad officials assert that conditions are not the same in every locality, and that certain commodities should have preference in the matter of freight tariffs.

It is understood that the attorneys for the Illinois Central, Louisville and Nashville and Southern railroads are now preparing to try to enjoin the State Railroad Commission from putting into effect the sweeping reduction.

As to what method the railroads will pursue, it is impossible to ascertain at this time. The attorneys refused to have anything to say in regard to the matter last night.

During the long-drawn-out hearing of evidence and arguments in the case last winter and spring, the attorneys for the railroads contended that the reductions proposed in many instances meant nothing more nor less than a confiscation of the property of the railroads. They contended that the roads were carrying certain commodities which were slated for reduction at as low a price as possible without a loss.

* * *

May Enter United States Court.

It is probable, if the railroads decide to fight the case on the ground that the reduction means a confiscation of property, that a suit for injunction will be filed in the United States Court. If such a suit should be filed, it is highly probable that it would be taken to the United States Supreme Court for a final decision. At the same time, it is said that the railroads can fight the case in various ways through the State courts.

When the State Railroad Commission handed down its decision at Frankfort more than a month ago, it was agreed that the commission should notify all the railroads and file a schedule of the rate reductions at least ten days before the reduction should go into effect.

This notification was given last Thursday by the commission. It is certain that the State Railroad Commission will fight for the enforcement of its decision, and it is expected the case will attract widespread attention on account of the important precedent that probably will be established.

LIKED TRAMP LIFE BETTER THAN SCHOOL.

Son of Wealthy Parents Rescued From the Workhouse At Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Ross McKerrihan, a son of wealthy parents, was to-day rescued from the workhouse by his father, where he had landed apparently for no other reason than because the youngster disliked work and had a natural predilection for the life of a tramp. The boy is about sixteen years old and is the son of a wealthy physician of Portsmouth, O. Several months ago he was sent by his father to attend a business college in this city. His tuition was paid and he was instructed to call on his father for money for other expenses when it was needed. The boy came here, but after a few weeks at school disappeared from his classes and boarding-house. Shortly after the police were notified that a boy tramp was wandering about the city seeking odd jobs, but apparently having no money or disposition to work regularly. He was arrested as a vagrant and sent to the workhouse for one month. He gave to the police the name of Roy Jefferson. He soon tired of the routine of the workhouse and wrote to his father, who arrived here to-day, and, securing his release, took him home. He had supposed the boy was at school. The truant's only explanation was that he did not like to go to school.

LAWRENCEBURG MAN KILLED BY LIGHTNING.

IN TERROR

Foreigners Are Fleeing From Mexican Soil.

NATIVES WROUGHT TO HIGH PITCH OF EXCITEMENT.

BIG PARTY IN NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, July 21.—E. J. Mather, one of the party of fifty-two American men, women and children who left Mexico because of anti-foreign threats and passed through New Orleans late last night, said:

"One of the most alarming features of the situation is the fact that the Mexican servants have joined in the anti-foreign movement and the wives of the foreigners are in mortal terror of their families being poisoned by the servants.

"I was reluctant to leave the country, but I simply could not resist the pleading of the members of my family. I am now taking them to our former home in Ohio.

"The anti-foreign movement is strongest in the northern and central portions of Mexico, where the natives have been wrought up to a high pitch of excitement by agitators and agents of revolutionary societies. Along the Rio Grande border the movement is not so strong, because the Mexicans fear the Texans, who know how to shoot.

"The educated class of Mexicans are not in sympathy with the anti-foreign movement, but is in a hopeless minority. The army is recruited from the lower classes and cannot be relied upon. The uprising is scheduled to occur in September, and if it starts it will be necessary for the United States to throw an army across the border in order to protect American citizens.

"The anti-foreign sentiment has grown to such an extent that I do not believe the Mexican Government can cope with it successfully.

"Other members of the party include men with their families bound for Kentucky, Tennessee and States farther east. In all there are seven men, seven women and thirty-eight children."

GOVERNMENT CONFIDENT

It Will Be Able To Suppress Agitators and Keep Peace.

Mexico City, July 21.—Sensational reports telegraphed from various points on the border, regarding an alleged plot for a demonstration against foreigners in this country on September 16, which is Independence day, are calculated to give unnecessary alarm to Americans having interests in this country. The international peace of this country is assured, and there has been no conference of State Governors called at this capital, as asserted, nor are there any hotbeds of revolution at any point in the country.

It is wholly untrue that preparations are making for an anti-foreign demonstration on the part of Mexican labor unions. The labor situation is well understood by the Government, which protects workingmen in their legal rights of organizing for mutual aid and the promotion of their interests, but does not allow such organizations to transcend the bounds of public peace and decorum. A few agitators who were for some months in St. Louis, Mo., publishing a weekly newspaper in Spanish, tending toward stirring up strife in this country and to promote ill feeling between Mexican workingmen and foreign residents here, are now reported to have sought shelter in Canada. Those men are known to the authorities, and their motive is well understood. Their propaganda has had no effect on serious and intelligent laboring men here. Foreigners resident here have entire faith in the ability of the Government to maintain peace and protect life and property. Leading foreigners regret that such sensational reports have been sent over the United States as caused alarm has been the result to the prejudice of many interests. The Mexican authorities ridicule the alarm, and assure all classes of their ability to continue the reign of law and order.

WOMAN PHYSICIAN SHOOTS HERSELF.

Poor Health Supposed To Be the Cause of Dr. Gillespie's Act.

St. Louis, Mo., July 21.—[Special.]—Dr. Frederica Gillespie, a woman physician twenty-eight years old, committed suicide to-day by shooting herself in the right temple as she stood clad in her nightgown in front of a mirror at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Coddington, 813 North Eighth street, East St. Louis, where she had been boarding. Ill health is the only cause known. Miss Gillespie had recently returned from Montgomery, Ala., where she had been practicing her profession. Since her return to East St. Louis she has not been practicing. She was living with her mother, Mrs. G. E. Gillespie, and her sister, Miss Frances Gillespie, at the Coddington home.

STORE ROBBED FOR SEVERAL YEARS.

Porter and Driver of Delivery Wagon Accused By Lexington Firm.

Lexington, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—It was discovered to-day that the clothing establishment of L. & G. Straus had been, perhaps for years, systematically robbed by Will Winn and Charley Carr, negro employes, the value of the thefts, it is estimated, probably aggregating over $1,000. Winn was employed as driver for the delivery wagon and Carr was a porter in the store. Both negroes had been at the store for several years, and were considered thoroughly trustworthy, but it is now believed they have been stealing for years. Suspicion recently became aroused, and to-day Louis Straus, head of the establishment, caught them in the act of stealing a pair of trousers and a $30 rain coat, which they had smuggled into the delivery wagon. The police found about $300 worth of goods stolen from the store at the negroes' homes, the plunder embracing many overcoats.

LEGAL FIGHT ON IN ASSOCIATION

Mike Kelley Doing His Best To Get Out of Baseball.

INJUNCTION PROCEEDINGS.

Court Order Prevents Umpire Owens From Enforcing President O'Brien's Rules.

AFTER THE ROWDY PLAYERS.

MIKE KELLEY, the so-called owner of the Minneapolis team, is doing his best to fight himself out of baseball, says the Milwaukee Daily News. If he keeps on he will not only put himself out of organized baseball, but he may also succeed in giving the national game a black eye in Minneapolis, thereby losing money for those who invested in the Miller team.

For the second time Kelley has gone to fight the enforcement of the American Association rules. His latest move is injunctional proceedings restraining Umpire Owens from interfering with players suspended by President O'Brien. When the Minneapolis-Columbus game was called yesterday, Umpire Owens walked on the diamond with a court order in his pocket which prevented him from ousting Andy Oyler and Buck Freeman, who were in their positions. After one strike had been called on Ollie Pickering on a ball pitched by Gehring, Owens walked off the field. He could not, according to the court order in his pocket, order Oyler and Freeman out of the game. But he did the next best thing—walked off the field under a volley of eggs.

The game was not officially forfeited to Columbus by the umpire, but that it remains as a forfeited game is not to be doubted.

After Umpire Owens left the grounds, Mike Kelley tried to induce the Columbus team to play an exhibition game in order to save the money paid by the fans for the game and returned to them when the game was canceled. "Bobby" Quin, business manager of the Senators, and Manager Clymer decided not to play. Columbus will receive its share of the money taken in at the game, but the Minneapolis club will have to stand for it out of its own pocket.

Last night President O'Brien ordered Umpire Jack Egan to Minneapolis and assigned Owens to Kansas City. Egan's instructions when he left here last night, included one to keep Oyler and Freeman out of the game, according to the suspension order issued yesterday.

The injunctional order secured by Kelley yesterday was on Owens, and it does not prevent him from umpiring. Whether or not a restraining order will be secured to stop Egan from interfering with the suspended players is not known. Kelley is liable to do almost anything in his attempts to injure the association, and should Egan be stopped from carrying out the orders of President O'Brien it will mean that the act of yesterday is to be repeated. It also means that the Columbus club will receive its percentage of the admissions to the park and grandstands, and that the Minneapolis club will have to pay the regulation $100 which goes with each forfeited game.

The scene at Nicolet Park yesterday was just as disgraceful as the one on the previous day. Persons in the bleachers came prepared to make trouble for Umpire Owens, and when he went on the field he was hissed, jeered and hooted. When he took his place back of the plate a volley of eggs were thrown at him. Mike Kelley, alleged owner of the team, made no effort to stop the proceedings of the fans who on the previous day had, it is alleged, been urged to whip the umpire.

Efforts were made by officers of the Minneapolis club to have President O'Brien withdraw the suspension against Oyler and Freeman, but the head of the league refused. He declared the players were guilty of rowdyism, which is sure to kill the game, and that the fines and suspensions imposed would stick.

Secretary Leydiard had a long talk with O'Brien over the long-distance telephone last night and did his best to have Oyler and Freeman put back in the game.

Mr. Leydiard was told that corroborated evidence had been secured against the rowdy players and they must suffer punishment for their misdeeds. He was also informed that slugging of umpires by rowdies such as Freeman and Oyler would not be tolerated so long as O'Brien was president of the league. O'Brien was even invited to visit Minneapolis and make an effort to settle the trouble. O'Brien refused the invitation, as Minneapolis players caused the trouble, were fined, and had to stand for the fines and suspensions.

Secretary Leydiard told President O'Brien that Umpire Owens complained of being sick and walked off the field for that reason. Mr. O'Brien replied that he had the truth backed up by evidence which could not be contradicted. Even Mr. Quin, manager of the Columbus team, which is a party of the Watkins-Kelly factions, stands for the action taken by the president.

President O'Brien did not care to-day to discuss the action of Mike Kelley except to say that Oyler and Freeman were suspended and that they were fined also, and would have to suffer.

Last fall W. H. Watkins is said to have sold the Minneapolis ball team to Mike Kelley and several business men of Minneapolis. Just before that Kelley had been sold by St. Paul to St. Louis in the American League. He refused to go there, and rather than follow the laws of organized baseball, he decided to quit the game and act as bench manager. Since then he has been in the latter role. Although Kelley is said to be president of the club and a stockholder, it is generally believed that W. H. Watkins still retains considerable interest in the Millers.

The Watkins-Kelley faction has caused more trouble for the umpires than the other six clubs combined. Charge of crookedness are alleged to have been made by Kelley against umpires and he made other moves considered detrimental to the best interests of the national game. Instead of fighting his squabbles in the baseball world he has taken them to the civil courts, caring little for the National Commission. The latter body is the highest baseball court, but it was not good enough for Kelley. When the commission decided that Kelley belonged to St. Louis he practically ignored the decision.

Taken all in all, the Minneapolis club has been a troublemaker in the association and it will probably not end until Kelley is ruled out of organized baseball. Moves in that direction have been made and sooner or later he will find out that the association is not big enough to hold him. Troublemakers are not wanted in any baseball organization, and the sooner they are ousted the better it will be for all concerned.

By the failure to play yesterday's game Minneapolis fans lost a chance to see the champions play. A few more coincidents of that kind will give Minneapolis a black eye in the baseball line. The Flour City is not any too strong now so far as attendance is concerned, and unless a man is placed at the head of that club who will follow the laws of the American Association, Miller fans will have to suffer. Mike Kelley's tactics will not make friends for him or for the Minneapolis club.

King's Cup Arrives.

New York, July 21.—The King's cup, the blue ribbon of the year's yachting trophies, presented by King Edward to the New York Yacht Club, to be raced for annually by American yachts, open to the enrolled fleets of all American clubs, arrived at the New York Yacht Club yesterday from England. The cup, which is of solid gold and valued at over a thousand guineas, is the handsomest trophy that has ever been offered for international competition. It is finely chased with symbolic figures, emblazoned with a shield bearing its inscription and purpose. It stands fully forty inches high exclusive of its base and measures about twenty inches in diameter.

The cup was received on behalf of the club by Secretary George M. Cormack. Its ownership will be determined in a race off Newport on August 8, in conjunction with the New York Yacht Club cruise.

There promises to be an entry of fully twenty-five yachts in the race. The largest of these will be the old cup defender Vigilant, now converted into a yawl and owned by William E. Iselin.

Barney Oldfield Wins.

Detroit, July 21.—The finals in the Wolverine sweepstakes for a purse of $2,500 in gold furnished the feature of the second day of the automobile races. Barney Oldfield, Albert Webb and C. A. Coey, of Chicago, were the three drivers left in this event after yesterday's preliminaries. Coey was pitted against Oldfield in the three-mile semi-final and Barney won in 3:18 4-5. The final heat was at five miles with Oldfield and Webb driving against each other.

Oldfield succeeded in pulling ahead slightly in the stretch of the last mile, and won the heat and event by about three feet. Time for the five miles 5:11 1-5. Albert Webb, C. A. Coey and H. W. Freeberg, of Jackson, Mich., met in the five-mile handicap, which Coey won in 5:58 1-5.

Annual Tennis Tournament.

Chicago, July 21.—The nineteenth annual tournament for the Western tennis championship was begun on the Kenwood Country Club courts here to-day with the biggest field of first-class experts ever seen in this event. To-day's play was devoted to the weeding-out process in singles. The best match of the afternoon was that between O. C. Vernon, of Kansas City, who beat P. R. Lynch, of the Wanderers Cricket Club, of Chicago, 6-0, 6-4.

In the other preliminaries good tennis resulted, although the winners won with comparative ease.

Nat Emerson, of Cincinnati, and several other tennis experts of the same city did not play to-day, being unable to reach Chicago in time. They will play their preliminary rounds Monday.

JOHN D. ECONOMIZES WHEN GOING ABROAD.

Richest Man In World Takes Modest Room On Big Steamer.

"Feeling like a rich man" did not make John D. Rockefeller unduly extravagant when it came to engaging his passage for Europe, says the New York World. Mr. Rockefeller, his wife, his wife's sister, Miss Spellman, and his physician, Dr. H. F. Biggar, of Cleveland, are all going on the Deutschland to-morrow.

The Deutschland has four "chambres de luxe," large suites with bathrooms attached, for which persons who "feel rich" pay $2,500 or even more for the passage, whether of one or three passengers. Mr. Rockefeller has not engaged any of these.

In fact, neither Mr. Rockefeller's name nor that of any of his party is on the Hamburg-American Line's booking list. The officers of the Deutschland don't know—officially—that these four will be passengers.

Nevertheless three staterooms and berths for two servants have been engaged for an unannounced party, and it is a safe bet that these are the rooms. Mr. Rockefeller and his wife will have room 101, on the starboard side of the upper deck—there are two decks more "upper" than that one. It is a good, comfortable, outside room, with deadlights, and it will cost $700 for the two passengers who occupy it plus whatever it is the richest man's custom to give in tips. That is not an extravagant sum, according to all accounts.

Chambres de luxe C and D are close by No. 101. The occupants of these will have the satisfaction that they are traveling in greater luxury and style than a billionaire chooses to pay for.

Incidentally, Dr. Biggar's passage will cost more than his patient's, and Miss Spellman's more than her sister's. They too, have rooms 90 and 82 on the port side, same deck, as the Rockefellers, and the price of each room is $500.

On his return Mr. Rockefeller will sail on the Amerika.

ALL HUNTING WIVES.

2,000 BACHELORS SWARM IN ONE VILLAGE.

Yearly Marriage Mart as Established by Maids of Ecaussines.

Two thousand bachelors from all parts of Belgium, many from France and some from Germany, swept down on the village of Ecaussines-Lalaing to-day to find brides, says the London Express.

It was the fourth yearly marriage mart as established by the maids of Ecaussines, and as there are only ninety-seven marriageable young ladies in the quaint little place, the supply of matrimonial partners fell deplorably short of the demand. All the same, the proceedings were a great success.

The men began to arrive early in the morning, but it was towards noon before trainloads of them appeared. There were all sorts and conditions of men. One man of seventy-two had traveled all the way from Luxemburg to find a wife, to whom he promised a dowry that would place her beyond want. There were tradesmen, clerks, mechanics, miners, laborers—indeed, no branch of trade appeared to be unrepresented.

Gay banners of welcome, triumphal arches with mottoes of encouragement for prospective husbands, figures of Cupid and hearts pierced by arrows were to be seen everywhere; but the local authority had not accepted the young ladies' proposal to name the main streets "Place des Fiancailles," "Place Conjugale" and "Place de la Concorde."

At noon the bachelors were formally welcomed at the gates of the village by the Spinster Committee. Last year's president and several members of the committee are now married as the result of the festivities twelve months ago, and others had been elected in their place.

All marched to the "Grande Place," where there was an open-air concert. The bands played nothing but nuptial marches and love songs. At the close an adjournment was made to the town hall, where the young ladies took their places at tables on which stood bowls of pink roses with such mottoes as "Hope on," "Love," "Be trusting" and "Have faith."

A vacant chair was left beside each girl, and at a given signal the men with matrimonial intent made a rush to secure the seats. Then coffee and a sweet cake were served, followed by a bon-bon tasting of licorice. When this was over the lady president made a speech on "The art of pleasing man," which was wildly applauded. Dancing in the open air ended the programme of the festivities.

Hundreds of letters, many of them very amusing, were received this year from intending husbands. A railway official from Paris anxiously inquired whether, in the event of not finding a girl to his taste, he could refuse to marry and would be allowed to leave quietly.

Some bachelors from Gilly (France) explained that they were young, good looking and earning £12 a month, and were anxious to find wives from Ecaussines, where the girls are known for their good looks and quiet domestic life.

Two friends, a butcher and a hairdresser, asked to be recommended to two nice girls by the president, but so mixed up their qualifications that it seemed as if the butcher shaved his animals with antiseptic treatment, and the hairdresser slaughtered his customers humanely.

THE NEW STATE OF OKLAHOMA.

The new State of Oklahoma, just authorized by Congress, comprising the Territory of that name and Indian Territory, will start out with more than 1,500,000 population. This is four times as many inhabitants as any previous Territory or Territories had when admitted to statehood. Virginia, which was by far the largest of the original thirteen States, had less than half this population when the first national census of the Government was taken. On the roll of States in 1906, Oklahoma holds the twenty-second place in inhabitants. Population has been rushing into Oklahoma at the rate of 2,000 a week. Statehood will increase the inflow. The opening, soon to take place of the Kiowa and Comanche pasture lands and wood reserve in the southwestern part of Oklahoma proper, will bring in thousands of settlers. The 91,000 Indians in the Indian Territory end of the State are all civilized. Moreover, they are outnumbered five to one by the whites in that community.

Both ends of the new State have schools, churches, newspapers, farms, mines, factories, mercantile houses, banks, and the rest of the accompaniments of an advanced and well-balanced civilization. They have, in combination, 5,000 miles of railway, and are in direct and constant communication with all parts of the United States. More railway mileage is being built in the new State than in any other part of the country. The Indian Territory part is particularly rich in coal, iron, lead and zinc lands. Its wealth in coal has recently been brought out conspicuously by Senators La Follette and others in the legislation relating to the Five Civilized Tribes. The corn and cotton production of the new State is large, and is increasing with great speed. Every agricultural product of the temperate zone thrives there.

Oklahoma, the forty-sixth star on the national flag, has a particularly bright future.—[Leslie's Weekly.

COLONELS WIN TWO GAMES

Sullivan's Men Defeat Kansas City By Very Close Scores.

ED KENNA IN RARE SHAPE.

Crutcher Loses Second Game For the Blues By Forcing In the Winning Run.

M'CLOSKEY IS AFTER PHYLE.

KANSAS CITY, July 21.—[Special.]—Louisville won both games of the double-header to-day with Kansas City by the close scores of 3 to 2. The second contest was called by consent at the end of the fifth inning, as the Louisville team had only an hour's time to catch a train for Milwaukee, where the Colonels play a double-header to-morrow. Both games were hotly contested, especially the first, in which the locals came within an ace of tieing the score and with a possible victory in sight.

Kenna, who held the Blues down to three hits up to the ninth inning, showed the effects of working too hard in the early part of the game. After Leahy had been retired in this inning Frantz, who batted for Sullivan, laced out a clean single and scored a moment later on Bohannon's three-base hit to the center-field fence. After Kenna had thrown three balls to Hill, the next batter, Capt. Sullivan took him out and called Dunkle to the slab.

In the meantime Puttmann was out in the field warming up with Shaw, which puzzled the spectators. Dunkle and the other Louisville players dallied around the pitcher's slab for about five minutes, after which the former walked off the field and Puttmann went in to pitch.

It was another case where Capt. Sullivan showed good judgment, as Puttmann would have had to gone to the slab immediately he would naturally have lacked the control which he had at the time he went in to twirl and which was necessary at this important point of the game. Hill hit the first ball Puttmann pitched to Sullivan, who tagged him out, and Waldron ended the game by hitting a hot liner to Quinlan.

Sullivan put in the big left-hander because the left-handed batsmen on the Kansas City team were then due to bat. Quinlan and Hallman had considerable to do with the Colonels winning the first game. The former playing a sensational game at short and scored the winning run on hits by himself and Hallman.

Crutcher lost the second game for Kansas City by his wildness, forcing in the winning run in the third inning by issuing four straight passes. Durham then relieved him. The Colonels scored their other two tallies in the first inning of this game on a hit by Hallman and a pass to Brashear, followed by Kerwin's double.

Manager McCloskey, of the St. Louis National League Club, witnessed the game for the purpose of watching some of the players on both teams who have been tipped off to him as being of big league caliber. It is believed that he made a proposition for some of the men, especially Phyle, who is wanted badly by St. Louis. The scores:

Bardstown Defeats Springfield.

Bardstown, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Bardstown and Springfield hooked up in a one-sided game here to-day, the home team, by excellent team work, winning the game 8 to 0. Fulton and Fulton were the battery for Bardstown and Manly and Medley for Springfield. George Welsh, George Hanninger and George Lally, of Louisville, worked with the Bardstown team. Will Houston Fulton, son of Judge Fulton, pitched a remarkable game. He had excellent control and wonderful speed. At the end of the game he had ten strike-outs to his credit. He is only seventeen years old, and Bardstown thinks she has made a baseball discovery. A crowd as big as the banner crowd of the Bardstown Fair saw the game.

Elizabethtown Wins.

Horse Cave, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—Horse Cave and Elizabethtown played an exciting game of ball to-day, taking ten innings to decide it. Elizabethtown won out in the last half of the tenth. The score was 4 to 3.

AMERICAN WORDS HAVE MANY MEANINGS.

That "policy" which a man gets from an insurance company is no relative of that other word "policy" which the President, for instance, may use in dealing with the beef question. They afford a curious instance of the ability of two entirely distinct English words to look like one. The latter is a lineal descendant, along with "polity" and "police," of the Greek "polis," a city. But the former is the late Latin "polticum," "poleticum" or "poleaticum," a register wherein dues were enrolled, which is believed to be really the Greek "polyptychum," a document folded into many leaves. If so, the development of the word may be paralleled by that of "diploma," the parent of "diplomatist," which meant simply a document folded double.

"Spanking" did not suggest chastisement originally. It was unknown to Johnson in this sense; to him a "spanker" meant "a person who takes long steps with agility." Rapid motion seems to be the root idea of the word "spank," which is not merely representative of the sound of the act, as "slap" and "smack" are. The low German "spakkern," or "spenkern," to run and spring about quickly, is close to the original meaning. Hence a "spanking pace," a "spanking breeze," and a "spanker," in the sense of an active and sturdy person.

Strictly speaking a "journal" should be a daily publication, although the word no longer has that limited use. The case of "journey" is exactly comparable. Even to Chaucer it still meant a day's progress, and in the Fourteenth century it was possible to speak of one country as being "fifty-two jorneyes" distant from another—a "journey" being reckoned usually as twenty miles. But "journey" calls up no suggestion whatever of a day now.—[Chicago Daily News.

FOUR-FOOTED TRAMPS.

RATS WANDER ABOUT OVER FACE OF EARTH.

Lower Animals Have Roving Tendency the Same As Mankind.

This is the time of the year when the two-legged tramp leaves the jail and starts off for his summer saunter round the counties, says the Los Angeles Herald. The weather is pleasant, or will be, and he has no objection to sleeping under a haystack or a hedge. To him it is a glorious holiday.

In just the same way the town rats will soon be moving. They do not start so early as their human congeners, for there is the food question to consider, but as soon as fruit begins to ripen off they go. They move at night, or in the small hours of the morning, traveling by ones and twos so quietly and so carefully that they are seldom seen. But once out in the country, they can move at a more rapid rate.

They greatly enjoy the change of diet which nuts, fresh fruit and young birds afford them, and for weeks they roam the countryside, seldom sleeping in the same place two nights in succession, and only returning to winter quarters in town sewers and cellars when the first frosts begin to nip the green leaves.

Rats are the greatest roamers in the world. The brown or Hanoverian rat has now reached almost every country on earth. The great increase in modern trade has provided them with means of transport all round the world, and from Singapore to Rio, and Melbourne to New York, these ugly, quarrelsome, disease-laden loafers are always on the move.

To prove that this is no fancy, it may be mentioned that a London rat-catcher caught a large China rat on board a Chinese steamer in the East India docks, and having attached a tin label to its neck, set it free. Two weeks later the same rat was caught in Wellington street, Strand. The Far Eastern rats usually transship at Singapore, where long lines of them may be seen climbing ashore along the ships' hawsers.

Up in Lapland the reindeer are moving now. They have been spending the winter in the low grounds where grass and moss could be found by scratching under the snow. Now that the snow is melting from the hills the reindeer in little bands are climbing higher day by day. The Greenland reindeer, too, are on the move. But they go northwards until about the middle of August. After that they will turn and come southwards once more for the winter. A favorable climate means everything to them.

Several Arctic animals are always on the tramp in this manner, the reason being, of course, the change of season and the pursuit of food. The musk ox and the Arctic fox are typical Northern tramps.

Across the steppes of Central Asia the wild ass, one of the swiftest and most untamable of animals, is also on its travels. By twos and threes they are gradually drifting up into the loftier table-lands of the roof of the world. There they will find fresh green grass sprouting, and at the same time will be able to bring up their young families in comparative safety from two-leged foes.

Monkeys, except the large apes, such as the gorilla and chimpanzee, have no settled homes. They rove in small bands over huge areas of forest.

But there are scores of animal tramps. Seals are always on the move, except during their brief breeding season. Salmon, shad, trout, eels—all are constantly traveling, sometimes in fresh, sometimes in salt water. Comparatively few of the lower creation are respectable stay-at-homes.

These two teams were scheduled to play a double-header, but only one game was played on account of wet grounds. # RACES SUFFER BY SCRATCHES

COL. JIM DOUGLAS BEATEN.

Thousands of Dollars Lost On Albert Fir When He Refuses To Run.

WHAT DAVE BARNES SAYS.

LATONIA SELECTIONS.

First Race — Lady March, McCutcheon, Captor.
Second Race—Oasis, Mayor Johnson, Potter.
Third Race—Debar, Elastic, Nonie Lucille.
Fourth Race—Ohio King, Class Leader, War Chief.
Fifth Race—Lens, Ovelando, Lexoline.
Sixth Race — Miss Anxious, Mint Boy, Field Lark.
Seventh Race—Ida Davis, Docile, The Gadfly.
The one best bet of the day is Lens, in the fifth race.

LATONIA, Ky., July 21.—[Special.]—The card which was offered for this afternoon fairly bristled with good things, and gave promise of one of the best day's sport of the meeting, but the continued heavy rains which fell during the night and the greater part of the morning was the means of badly depleting the card, no less than thirty-two scratches adorning the board.

The races to suffer most by the withdrawals were the day's headliner, the handicap, at one mile, and the fourth on the card, and the third, which was a condition affair, at seven furlongs. The handicap, however, proved a spanking contest, The Minks and Col Jim Douglas, equal choices in the betting, at 9 to 5, fighting the issue out the whole length of the stretch, The Minks getting the decision by the shortest of margins.

With the track a veritable quagmire and resembling a plowed field more than a course over which the thoroughbreds raced, it is little wonder that the layers had the better of the day's argument.

Only one favorite, Sister Frances, which won the third race, rewarded the form players, and as the shifty daughter of Ben Strome and Sarah Ramey was held at odds on, it is quite unlikely that the talent profited by her victory.

A coup of gigantic proportions failed utterly in the sixth race of the day, when Albert Fir was supposed to be the real "oil in the can." Backed for thousands in the poolrooms throughout the country, and also in the local ring, the Jones & Lusk trick refused to untrack himself in the sticky going, finishing last.

Dave Barnes, of City Park fame, and a stockholder at the latter plant, dropped into the course this afternoon.

"Just came up to look after some ironwork that I had ordered and which hadn't arrived at the Southern plant," said Barnes, when questioned as to his mission. "I am glad that an amicable arrangements of dates has been arrived at between the two turf governing bodies. I believe that the prospects were never brighter for a successful winter's racing than they are at the Crescent City for the coming winter. I believe that City Park will open its gates first, probably on Thanksgiving day."

Senator Joseph Rhinock is in New York perfecting the details and putting the finishing touches in the equitable division of dates at the Crescent City for this winter's racing.

Dr. Burch a Surprise.

The talent found some difficulty in locating a choice in the day's opener, which brought together the baker's dozen of platers. After a few minutes, however, Scotch Dame, mainly on the presence of Nicol, was selected, the latter trick soon ruling the public choice. Alma Gardia, on her impressive race of yesterday, was also favored by a few, but the wise bettors side-stepped the Newman trick this afternoon, fearing that her stiff race of yesterday would do her no good. In this they had the correct cue, as the mare ran very disappointingly. Dr. Burch was the hot paddock tip, and after being backed from 10s to 8s rewarded his backers by romping home an easy winner by a length and a half. J. Hicks, who had the mount on the Kunz horse, rode a very clever race. Laying away from the early pace, he sent his mount up with a rattle turning for home and after a short brush with Scotch Dance, which had been the pacemaker from the first jump, raced the latter down, winning rather cleverly. In the last sixteenth Scotch Dance backed up badly and Nicol had to ride her out to the limit to stall off the determined challenge of Self Reliant, which closed strong under punishment.

Good Thing Makes Good.

"Jim" Arthur and a few friends got busy just previous to the running of the second. The cause of all the commotion was that Jim was starting Hybrid, a real spanking-looking youngster, by Sempronious and Bridget Keaton, in the second, which was at five furlongs. On dope the colt seemed to have a royal chance of bringing home the long end of the purse, but the bookies evidently did not fancy Heffernon, who had the leg up, and accordingly laid 8 to 1 against his chances. The way Arthur and his friends pounded down the price about the youngster lent color to the belief that he knew whereof he was doing, and the odds quickly were cut to 6s, then to 5s and finally when the field paraded 4s were tops. Demo at 4s and Froward at 5s were next in demand, while Avondow, which had shown a disposition for the going, had a following at 8s.

Beautiful Mayo, which had timid little Oregar up, was well supported by Owner Hudson. Whatever chance she may have had was destroyed shortly after the release of the barrier by Oregar pulling her up. This rider has grown very timid of late and is a very poor betting proposition. The good thing, Hybrid, was returned the winner, but the impressive manner in which he turned the trick will be the means of cutting his price several points for the next time. Off tenth he ran around his field entering the stretch and, after racing down Avondow and Demo, won eased up by five lengths. The latter under the careful guidance of Nicol beat the barrier and, saving ground all the way had no excuses and was an easy second. Handspike came from a long way back in the stretch and annexed the short end.

Favorite Wins One.

After Alma Dufour, Ethel Day and Wee Lass had been eliminated by the scratch route, the books made Sister Francis, which ran such a creditable race to Content in the Latonia Oaks, in exactly this kind of going, was an odds-on favorite. The Baker trick was well supported by the big bettors, who agreed that the track was made to order. Of the balance Matador, a superior mudder, was well played at 6 to 5 for the place, while Meadowbreeze was fancied by a following, both to win and to place. The running of the race proved little more than exercise gallop for Sister Francis, who outbroke and outran her field all the way, winning pulled to a common canter by three lengths. The fight for the place was more exciting. A furlong from home, Meadowbreeze seemed to have the place cinched, but little Griffith put up a very slovenly finish, and allowed Perkins, on Matador, to come up on the outside and nip him on the wire by a whisker.

The Minks First By a Neck.

Although withdrawals reduced the fourth, which was the feature of to-day's card, to four starters, the running paid a glowing tribute to the ability of Lyman Davis, racing secretary and handicapper. The finish brought The Minks and Col. Jim Douglas so close in alignment at the end that it was only in the last couple of jumps that the black son of Top Gallant and Isabinda got the decision over the pride of Louisville by the scant margin of a neck. In the betting these two opened and closed equal favorite, the closing quotation being 9 to 5. Concert, which was a wild horse to-day, received liberal support, being backed from 7 to 2 to 16 to 5, while Gus Heidorn was the medium of a plunge at post time, which forced his price from 8 to 6. Nicol got the Colonel off flying, and, setting a pretty stiff pace, opened up a gap of two lengths going down the back stretch, with Gus Heidorn, which kept closer up to-day, forcing the pace. The Minks, well in hand, was rated back a length and a half. Rounding the far turn there was a closing up, and The Minks, coming up on the inside, challenged and raced down Gus Heidorn, and, coming with a well-timed rush entering the stretch, overhauled Col. Jim, entering the final furlong and outgaming him when the pinch came. The latter ran to his best form, received a well-judged ride, but simply was not good enough to concede the ten pounds, which he was doing to the winner. Concert, caught in a jam at the start, ran like a crazy horse, never at any stage being a contender. Gus Heidorn easily annexed the short end.

La Veita Disappoints.

La Veita, the smart Kingston gelding which has been thought to possess stake qualities, looked to be so much the best of the other five youngsters stacked up against her in the fifth, which was at five furlongs, that she always ruled an odds-on favorite in the betting, while Bud Hill, on whom D. Hall had the leg up, was only a lukewarm second choice at 3s. The only other to be accorded support was Webber. This trick, on the consistency which he has shown of late, was well supported for the place and show. The running saw the odds-on favorite fail to display speed at any stage of the journey, and the contest narrowed down to a gruelling drive between Webber and Bud Hill, the latter annexing the long end by at least half a length. Webber, running a good race, looked the winner at the furlong pole, but in the final effort he tired and stumbled badly. La Veita dropped into the third hole without an effort.

* * *

Albert Fir Not Good.

Albert Fir, the one best bet of the day, the paddock tip, the hotel lobby tip, the tipsters' tip, so strong was it that everybody that ever played a race horse and was at the track to-day got aboard the good thing—and each and every one went down with a dull, sickening thud—as Albert, although well meant and well supported by the stable connections, refused to try a lick in the sticky mud, finishing absolutely last. Albert seemed so much the best of the very ordinary field of platers that he was stacked up against that to take the 7 to 10 laid against his chances seemed almost a shame to take the money. It, nevertheless, was eagerly eaten up by talent and wise paddock contingent alike. But, oh, the running. Banposal, which has shown steady improvement of late, took the track when the flag fell, and, romping along out in front, several lengths in advance of The Mate, which was the runner-up at all stages, simply rolled home, an easy winner by four lengths. The latter trick, running to his best form, had to be whipped out to the last ounce at the end to stall off the rush of Knowledge, which had been backed from 20 to 1 down to 8.

Fonsoluca Wins Again.

"Big Chief" Pugh dropped over a very warm one in the closing race of the day, in old Fonsoluca, which found track and distance, which was at one mile, to his liking. Although getting off very poorly, the aged gelding closed strong under a gruelling drive, and racing down Daring, which had been the early pacemaker, entering the final furlong, won rather cleverly by half a length from Belden, which came from a long way behind in the stretch, and which, in turn, disposed of Daring. The latter trick, favored by a running start, set a sizzling pace, but in the run home the effects of the pace told, and the Jones' trick backed up badly, dropping into the three hole.

DISHABILLE WINS HANDICAP

Heavily-Backed Favorite Beats Tokalon In Islip Handicap.

VON TROMP FINISHES THIRD.

Ballot Concedes Much Weight To Opponents and Takes Neptune Stakes.

GOLD COIN DISQUALIFIED.

NEW YORK, July 21.—Dishabille, played down from 2 to 1 to 8 to 5, won the Islip Handicap, one and one-eighth miles, at Brighton Beach to-day, defeating Tokalon, winner of the Brooklyn Handicap, with Von Tromp third. Cedarstrome rushed into the lead and showed the way for a quarter of a mile, when Coy Maid took the lead, attended by Dishabille and Tokalon. This was the order to the far turn, Coy Maid maintaining a slight advantage to the stretch, where Tokalon and Dishabille drew away, and in a driving finish the favorite won by half a length. Tokalon was second, five lengths in front of Von Tromp.

Ballot won the $7,500 Neptune Stakes, at six furlongs. Ballot carried 125 pounds and conceded eighteen pounds to each of his rivals.

FIRST TRIPLE PLAY AND HOW IT WAS MADE.

An old baseball score book has been found at the home of E. G. Allen, a retired Marion banker, of Marion, O., who is the father of Bob Allen, at one time the leading shortstop of the big league, giving indisputable proof that John Darmody, of this city, made the first triple play, unassisted, in the history of the great national game.

Darmody played second base for the Marion Stars, a local team, which won thirty-two out of thirty-five games during the season of 1874. The game in which the play was made was against Delaware and took place on the local grounds. In the first inning Delaware shut out Marion and then made ten runs in its half of the inning. In the second inning Marion again failed to get a run and Delaware started in with another batting bee. Three men were on bases, with no men out, when Delaware's heaviest batter stepped up and drove out a line hit, which started far above the infielders' heads.

Every man on base started to run, thinking that the hit was good for at least two bases. Darmody, who is over six feet tall, leaped to a seemingly impossible height and brought down the drive. He touched second, retiring the man who had left that base, and then ran down the man who started from first and who had no time to recover.

Baseball publications in the past have given Hinds, third baseman for the Cincinnati Reds in 1876, the credit of having made, during that year, the first triple play on record. Marion fans have always disputed this, but were never able to furnish any proof to show that the distinction belongs to Darmody until the old score book was found.

Darmody disputes the claim that old time ball players were better hitters than the game's chief votaries to-day. He says that in those days the regulation balls, "The Cock of the Walk" and "The Bounding Rocket," were made mostly of rubber and were much more active than the ball used to-day and declares that this fact accounts for the multiplicity of long hits made during the pioneer days.

"If Lajoie, Wagner or any of the present day sluggers should face one of the old time twirlers," says Darmody, "with his straight arm pitch and 'Cock of the Walk' ball, the outfielders would have to move out in the next county."

Darmody is now a retired business man and owns several local business blocks.

A REGULAR BAROMETER IS THE PITCHER'S ARM.

"A veteran pitcher who has seen service in a good league for several seasons doesn't need a barometer to tell when the weather is going to change," said "Tacks" Parrott, the old-time twirler. "His pitching arm will tell him about the coming change. It isn't that I am subject to rheumatism," he continued, "for I am not, but I'll bet that every old pitcher is affected every time the weather is preparing to change."

Mike Kahoe, the well-known catcher, declares that the old catchers can also give a pretty fair line on the weather by the feeling in their throwing arms. "I never had even a twinge any place until after several years' catching. Then my arm and shoulder got so that every time the weather changed I would get notification of the impending transition several hours in advance of the occurrence. I consulted a physician, who said the pains were not caused by rheumatism, as that affliction always comes in the joints. The only way I can account for it is the contraction and expansion of the muscles caused by the weather."

RAREST GOLD COINS.

$5 PIECE SELLS FOR SUM OF $2,165.

Only Three 1822 Half-Eagles Known—Other Big Prices Paid.

When $2,165 was paid the other day for a five dollar gold piece of 1822 that coin took its place as the rarest of American coins, eclipsing the 1804 dollar, which for many years had that distinction, says the N. Y. Sun. The price surprised coin dealers and collectors, for it exceeded by more than $1,000 the greatest sum previously paid for a specimen of this denomination and year.

A curious phase of the history of this gold piece is that even those well informed about coins did not know of the rarity of the 1822 half eagle until about twenty years ago. It is a matter of record that the last owner of the coin bought it from a New York dealer in old coins for $6. Yet at that time only three specimens were known of.

No one knows why there are so few left, for the mint records show that 17,796 half eagles were struck in 1822. One of the two other specimens is in the coin cabinet at the Philadelphia Mint, while the private collection of Virgil M. Brand contains the third.

The half eagle is the most popular coin with the collectors of all the American series of gold coins, and it leads all the rest in the number of varieties. Some 250 varieties of this denomination have been issued. Of other gold coins there have been issued 177 varieties of the eagle, 132 of the double eagle, seventy-nine of the gold dollars, sixty-five of the quarter eagles, and forty-seven of the three dollar piece.

The design of the rare 1822 five dollar gold piece was not different from the other dates of the period. The design on the obverse has the head of Liberty, of about the same character as that used on all the silver coins up to the time of the change of general design in 1836. A cap surmounts the head, on the band of which is the word "Liberty," while around the border are thirteen stars.

The first time this coin was offered at public sale was in 1890, when the specimen owned by Lorin G. Parmelee, of Boston, brought $900.

The half eagle is the oldest of the gold coins, having first been issued in 1795, the second year of the operation of the United States mint. From that date it was issued steadily until 1801, in which year none was issued. Their coinage was resumed in 1802 and continued until 1816, during which year and 1817 none was struck. In 1818 their coinage again began, and they have been issued regularly each year ever since.

A great many varieties and dates of the half eagle are held in high esteem besides the 1822 issue. There were two varieties of the 1795 half eagles. Recently these varieties in superb condition brought $160 each.

Three varieties were produced in the year 1797. Two varieties of the date sold not long ago for $320, but they looked as if they had come direct from the coinage press, which accounts for the very high premium. Those in ordinary condition are worth a great deal less.

In 1815 only 635 coins of the five dollar value were coined, and up to the present time this piece has been regarded as the rarest of the gold coins. The King of Sweden, who owns one of the world's greatest coin collections, made the record for this coin some years ago when he paid $2,000 for a specimen to complete his series of American issues. At a recent sale $1,050 was paid for a specimen of the same date, which makes the 1804 dollar now rank third in point of rarity.

Only five of the 635 coins originally issued are now known. The value of this coin also was not appreciated until recent years, for it was not very long ago that a good specimen could be bought for $50.

A remarkable coin in the five dollar series is that of 1819. The mint records show that 51,273 were struck, and yet a single one brought $550. The scarcity of this coin presents another problem hard to solve.

The 1821 half eagle has brought $300, which is still another source of wonderment, for 36,641 were issued. Another rarity is that of 1826, which brought $100, yet 18,000 were coined originally.

The winner, seemingly favored by the going, forced the pace in the early stages, and, racing down Scotch Dance entering the final furlong, won with something to spare. The latter, well ridden, had the foot in the early stages, but tired badly in the final furlong and was lucky to beat Self Reliant. The latter was a contender at all stages and better ridden would have been closer up. Prince of Pless closed strong after overcoming a lot of interference. Clover Hampton about ran his race. Alma Gardia had no speed. Captor ran his race in the paddock.

473—SECOND RACE—Five furlongs; purse $400; for two-year-olds; selling. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Winner, J. Arthur's b. c., 2, by Sempronius—Bridget Keaton; trained by owner. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :25 1-5, :50 2-5, 1:04 2-5.

The winner was much the best; off poorly, ran over his field as if they were tied, winning under double wraps. Demo, well ridden, ran his race. Handspike, suffering considerable bad luck, closed strong. Avendow was very poorly ridden and should have been as good as second. La Thorpe closed very strong. Beautiful Mayo, pulled up at the start, ran all around her field, running a very impressive race. Hughes was far from ready.

474—THIRD RACE—Six furlongs; purse $500; for three-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; second and third driving. Winner, A. Baker & Co.'s ch. f., 3, by Ben Strome—Sarah Ramey; trained by A. Baker. Value to winner, $400. Fractional time: :25, :50 3-5, 1:16 3-5.

The winner ran as if she outclassed her field. Reveling in the going she romped into a long lead rounding the far turn, winning with lots in reserve. Matador, outrun in the early stages, closed strong in the run home, nipping Meadowbreeze in the last stride. The latter was badly ridden; messed about all through the final furlong; Griffith allowed himself to be caught napping in the last few strides. Maj. Daingerfield should improve from this; was given a very easy ride. Stephen was outrun all the way.

475—FOURTH RACE—One mile; purse $600; for three-year-olds and upward; handicap. Start good. Won driving; second and third same. Winner, D. N. Prewitt's blk. c., 3, by Topgallant—Isabinda; trained by W. Wells. Value to winner, $450. Fractional time: :25 3-5, :51 2-5, 1:18 2-5, 1:46.

The winner was best at the weights; cleverly rated during the early stages, moved up strong rounding the far turn, raced down Col. Jim Douglas entering the final furlong and outgaming him when the pinch came. The latter ran to his best form, was well ridden, but could not concede the weight to the winner. Gus Heidorn, running in improved form, ran forwardly for three-quarters, but hung in the final furlong. Concert, a crazy horse to-day, ran as such.

476—FIFTH RACE—Five furlongs. Purse $400. For two-year-olds. Start good; won driving; second and third same. Winner, G. L. Macey & Co.'s ch. c. 2, by Orimar—Young Thistle. Trained by G. L. Macey. Value to winner, $300. Fractional time: :25, :51 2-5, 1:05.

The winner, running to his best form, fought it out the whole of the way with Webber, outgaming the latter when the pinch came. The latter stumbled repeatedly in the last seventy yards, otherwise had no excuses. La Veita, rated along at one clip, can do much better. Sir Vagrant, slow to get into his stride, closed like a wild horse. Other two never contenders.

The latter, poorly ridden, was unlucky not to be second. Dr. Dan tired badly in the final furlong. Albert Fir, well meant, could not untrack himself in the going.

COBURN UNIQUE

FARMER WHO DECLINED SEAT IN UNITED STATES SENATE.

Kansas Man Has Enriched Crops of the Whole World and Is Content.

Mr. F. D. Coburn, who declined the United States Senatorship from Kansas, is a practical farmer, who has enriched the world's crops with lessons from the farmers of his State, says the World's Work. He started when a boy from his home in Wisconsin to make a career in the West. One cold morning in February he walked across the Missouri river into Kansas and got a job as cattle herder on a farm. In five years he owned a little farm of his own. He began to study cattle raising and agriculture. The State Board of Agriculture, impressed by an article on stock raising that he had written, engaged him to tabulate some reports. These proved so accurate and comprehensive that when a vacancy occurred he was made State Secretary of Agriculture. Then began his remarkable work as reconstructor and upbuilder of agriculture, not only in Kansas, but in the whole country. Mr. Coburn was not satisfied with the ordinary methods of collecting facts about farms and crops. "What the State needs is a farm census," he said. He got the Legislature to enact a farm census law making every county clerk responsible for the gathering of facts in his county. He devised a system of blanks adaptable for every kind of farm. Each farm census was not only a measure of the State's agriculture, but an index to the people's lives.

One summer a withering drouth parched the corn crop. The farmers were in despair. Mr. Coburn made experiments with Kaffir corn, a hardy crop that needed little rain. The result was the introduction of Kaffir corn which is immune against drouth, into the State crops. Wheat is Kansas' greatest crop. Mr. Coburn showed the farmers how certain kinds of wheat were adapted to certain kinds of the State. The result was an increase of millions of dollars in the farmers' coffers. Ten years ago scarcely an acre of alfalfa had been planted east of the Rockies. "If this crop can grow west of the Rockies and in the Far East, it ought to thrive in Kansas," said Mr. Coburn. He proved on his own farm that it could. Then he wrote a book on alfalfa which is now one of the standard works on the subject. To-day on millions of acres in Kansas and many other States, alfalfa is produced that is paying the farmers from $50 to $70 an acre.

Mr. Coburn's books and reports are now read in a dozen countries. He refuses the highest honor in the gift of his State to continue his work for the farmers.

"AS MUCH as $80 a yard is often paid for gold and silver tissue—cloth of gold, as it is called—though it is not really," said a dressmaker, "cloth of gold at all. For cloth of gold, the real thing, is made of pure gold, drawn into fire wire, and then woven by hand. Such cloth was often used during the Middle Age. It is now used only in Sumatra. Its cost is quite $200 a yard.

"That seems high, doesn't it? It is nothing, though, beside the cost of lace. A court train of moire antique, decorated with gold thread and pearls, was made in Paris for an American lady last year at a cost of $7,500.

"To the Empress of Russia not long ago the nobles of the province of Kherson presented an ermine mantle worth $50,000.

"There are lace handkerchiefs worth $5,000. Even the thread of which lace is made, comes ridiculously high. The fine hand-made thread used in the best Brussels lace is spun from flax grown at Rebecq-Rognon, and fetches, in good seasons, as much as $2,500 a pound."

"ELECTRIC fans in stables, horse shower baths, and screens to keep out flies and mosquitoes are not uncommon nowadays in rich men's establishments," said a coachman. "The world is improving. Animals are now treated better than men used to be.

"Look at the drinking-troughs for dogs and cats. You find them everywhere in our big cities during the hot season. And they are continually in service.

"Look at the straw bonnets that horses wear on hot days. These bonnets, with a moist sponge inside them, are an immense protection against the heat. And look at the many costly and excellent kinds of fly nets that are continually being patented.

"Then there are innumerable boarding-houses in the country for dogs and cats and horses, where these animals may be sent in July and August if the hot weather runs them down.

"Yes, undoubtedly the world treats animals nowadays better than it treated men in the past."

THE landlord of the Surf House, having withdrawn his advertisement from the local dailies, noticed a forbidding change in their treatment of himself and his hotel.

Tearing down Ocean street, he burst like a westerly gale the other morning into the office of the Morning Spray.

"Did this paper say my place was on the bum?" he roared.

"No," said the editor.

"Did it call me a thief?"

"Of course not."

He frowned in perplexity.

"Well, some paper did," he growled.

"Perhaps," hazarded the editor, "it was our contemporary, the Wave. We never print stale news ourselves."

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MONETARY.

Saturday Evening, July 21.—Figures of the weekly New York bank statement, issued to-day, proved to be decidedly better than the preliminary estimates indicated and imparts a more hopeful feeling to the market. A large increase in surplus reserve was shown, together with a heavier gain in cash than had been expected, and only a moderate expansion in the loan account. The actual gain in cash reflected in the statement amounted to $11,762,000, larger by $5,000,000 than the so-called known movements of money had foreshadowed. Loans increased $9,425,300 and deposits increased $20,807,200. The net result of these changes was an addition to the surplus reserve of $6,560,200. This item now stands at $19,391,000. Call money ruled easy in New York during the week. Time funds developed an easier tone, showing slight recessions in quotations the latter part of the week. The Secretary of the Treasury has intimated very plainly that he will increase deposits of public funds during the crop-moving season in such a way as to minimize drafts upon New York for currency. It is certain that Secretary Shaw considers that he has the situation well in hand, and he is confident that the movement of the crops will be accomplished this year without more than the usual unavoidable inconvenience, provided speculation is restrained within reasonable bounds.

The local money market continues in a healthy condition. Banks are having a good demand for credit, but their reserves are ample. Interest rates are quoted at 5 to 6 per cent. The week's clearings amounted to $11,841,051, as compared with $10,082,366 for the corresponding week a year ago, an increase of $1,758,685.

New York exchange has ruled at 25c to 50c premium.

| | |
|---|---|
| Day's clearing | $1,796,902 |
| Balance | 238,522 |
| Week's clearing | 11,841,051 |
| Corresponding week last year | 10,082,366 |
| Balances for week | 1,592,051 |

Very little trading was done in the local security market during the past week, but a better tone was in evidence and the outlook is very promising. About the only effect of the long period of weakness in the New York market on the local market was to cause dullness, holders of local securities apparently not worrying. At any rate they did not offer stocks at sacrifice prices and the trading has usually been at firm prices. Now that New York is showing improvement the local market is expected to soon show activity and strength. The June statement of the Springfield Railway and Light Company was a pleasant surprise to local stockholders. It showed the company to be getting back to its normal operating basis, and practically assures a dividend on the stock in October. While the stock sold yesterday at 82, it is believed that much higher prices will be seen for it in the next month or so. There were orders for it at 84 to-day and only a small lot for sale at 85. St. Louis United Railways, after receding to 44, showed strength and advanced to 49¾ bid and 50 asked. Louisville Traction common was rather quiet. West Penn common attracted most attention at the Stock Exchange and showed a good advance. Louisville Home Telephone was in demand around 55, with sales reported at 57. Central Home Telephone is holding its strength and sold at 19½.

The splendid showing of the Turner, Day & Woolworth Handle Company for the fiscal year and the increase in the common dividend for the half year from 4 to 6 per cent., practically placing the common on a 12 per cent. basis, and the statement that an amount equal to the year's disbursements had been added to the surplus was reflected in a strong demand for the company's securities. There was good investment buying of East St. Louis and Suburban and Portland preferred stocks, and a better inquiry for the common stock of these companies. Kansas City Railway and Light common, after selling at 56⅝ on Thursday, recovered and sold at 58 to-day, closing at 58 bid and 58½ asked.

At the Stock Exchange Louisville Traction common was seven shares (50 per cent. paid) offered at 87½. Five shares of Rochester Railway and Light preferred were offered at 92½ and 91 was bid and sold. A bid of 92 was made for five shares and sold. For five shares more 92¼ was bid. Springfield was 82 bid for 100 shares, 82¼ bid for 100 shares, 82⅜ bid for sixteen shares, 82½ bid for 100 and twenty-five offered at 85. For ten shares of San Francisco common 58 was bid. West Penn common was 30¾ bid for ten shares and fifty offered at 31½.

Twenty-five shares of Louisville Gas were offered at 144. For twenty-five shares of Heating common (ex-dividend) 51½ was bid. Thirty shares of Louisville Tobacco Warehouse preferred were offered at 121. Seven shares of Kentucky Wagon were offered at 172 and eight shares at 173. For ten shares of Merchants' Ice 98¾ was bid. Rochester Railway and Light 5s any three $2,000 offered at 103 and interest, 102½ bid for $1,000 and $1,000 offered at 102¾. For $2,000 Springfield 5s 97⅝ and interest was bid. Louisville Home Telephone 5s were $100 offered at 88 and interest and 87 bid for $100.

St. Louis United Railways common scored another sharp advance. At the opening of the St. Louis Stock Exchange it was quoted at 48¾ bid and at the close was quoted at 49¾ bid and 50 asked. The preferred was a shade firmer, closing at 81¼ bid and 81¾ asked. The bonds were 85½ to 85⅝. Kansas City common was strong at 58 to 58¼, with sales at 58. Subway was 44⅝ to 45½. San Francisco common sold in New York at 58¼ and the preferred at 69¼. Detroit United was 90 to 92. New Orleans common was 33 to 33¼, the preferred 80¼ to 80⅝ and the 4½s 90 asked. Central Home Telephone was wanted at 19½, with no offerings under 19¾.

The changes at the Stock Exchange for the week were as follows:

Avanced.—Rochester Railway and Light 5s ¼, Nashville Railway and Light 5s 1¾, Knoxville Railway and Light 5s ¼, Birmingham Railway, Light and Power 4½s ¼, New Orleans Railway and Light 4½s ¼, Western National Bank 4, Louisville Home Telephone 1, B. The proposition of the old line street railway companies of Cleveland to the City Council for an extension of franchise was formally submitted Wednesday. The railway companies offer to bind themselves to sell seven tickets for twenty-five cents and to give universal transfers. The proposition will come up for consideration before the Council at its next meeting, when the ordinances granting franchises to the new rival lines, backed by Mayor Johnson, and which are understood to be for municipal ownership ultimately, will also come up.

Decided strength has developed in Tennessee Coal and Iron stock within the last few days on comparatively small dealings. It is regarded as natural that increased attention should be paid to this property now that it is commonly believed in well-informed circles that the Great Northern ore deal has been consummated and merely awaits official announcement, says the Wall Street Summary. With the securing of the immense iron ore deposits owned by Great Northern railway interest by the United States Steel Corporation, the Tennessee Company is left as the only other great holder of iron ore deposits in the country. The withdrawal from the open market of so great a holding of ore as that of the Great Northern railway interests will, it is argued, tend to stiffen the prices of ore and will give the United States Steel Corporation practically complete mastery of the iron and steel situation. The announcement of the terms of the deal has not yet been made and many persons think that they will be given out when least expected, as is often the case with important corporate announcements. The bearing of the transaction upon the value of Great Northern securities continues to be discussed with interest and some large holders of that stock intimate that when the facts are known it will be recognized that the Great Northern has obtained values and advantages that could be represented easily by a rise of 50 points in the stock.

James J. Hill, while in Portland this week, said of the road he is building down the north bank of the Columbia river:

"It is likely the Portland and Seattle will be extended to Spokane. We cannot say definitely, but there are surveyors in the field, and if we can get a low grade we will no doubt build. We could use the Northern Pacific line from Pasco, but it is expected that the line will extend from Portland to Spokane. The Portland and Seattle will be the best new road that was ever built in the United States. For a part of the way, at least, it will probably be electric. I brought an electric engineer along on this trip to look the situation over. Mr. Hutchinson is interested in the electrical problems in this country. We are considering the electrification of the Cascade tunnel."

At a recent meeting of the stockholders of the Nashville Railway and Light Company the issuance of $15,000,000 5 per cent. bonds was authorized. Of this amount $7,500,000 will be marketed at once, $6,000,000 of proceeds to be used in retiring old securities, and $1,500,000 for improvements and extensions of the plant. A committee was appointed to investigate and report on the proposition for a holding company for what are known as the Newman properties, the plants in Nashville, Birmingham, Memphis, Little Rock, Knoxville and Houston. The committee report is expected in a day or two.

MARKET LETTERS.

New York.—A very great change in sentiment has occurred during the latter part of the present week and we now believe that the market has turned for some time to come. The cause of the change of sentiment has been the oversold condition of the market and the gradual picking up of securities by investors, also the undaunted attitude taken by leading financiers on the market situation. The bears are beginning to realize that they have overdone the matter and find it difficult to buy back stocks. The bank statement was very much better than was expected, showing the figures in reserves of over six millions and a half. This will probably have a very beneficial effect upon the money market, which has been so disturbing for the last six or eight months.—(Dominick & Dominick to Halsey & Halsey.

New York.—The market during the early trading continued strong. Material advances were made in a number of the leading issues. The buying was of the same character that has been the dominating influence in the last two days.—(Ex. Norton & Co. to J. J. B. Hilliard & Son.

New York.—The market to-day continued very strong and prices closed at fractional advances in most cases. Quite a little speculative activity was noticeable during the short session. Everything seems to point to higher prices for the time at least, and we believe stocks should be bought on setbacks. Foreign exchange is very strong, this being due to the trouble in Russia and consequent financial demands from France. We think this Russian situation will bear close watching, but unless actual revolution takes place we do not expect it to seriously affect our market here.—(Post & Flagg to John W. & D. S. Green.

New York.—For several days sentiment generally has been in favor of an advance, in order to obtain better prices, both for long stocks and short contracts, though what interests are expected to buy the stocks at the higher figures is something of a puzzle. At present the gossip sheets are unanimous in the declaration that there has been extensive short covering and also heavy buying for important interests. Where the selling comes from is a mystery, but it is quite likely the floating supply of stocks will have largely increased when the present rally is over.—(A. O. Brown & Co. to Hunt, Bridgeford & Co.

New York.—Yesterday's tone was continued right through to-day's session, with the close showing some improvement, with the Harriman stocks pronouncedly strong. The bank statement was fully as good as expected, and added to the desire of shorts to cover their lines. Sentiment seems much improved. The aggressive buying yesterday was taken as a warning by at least a portion of the short interest that conditions marketwise had improved enough to warrant a better price range. We thing the market will do better and feel like buying stocks on recessions from this level.—(W. L. Lyons & Co.

New York.—The market opened active and strong, with a renewal of the short covering so strongly in evidence yesterday. The buying was general and seemed to come not only from the shorts but from the very best interest in the street. The steel stocks, as well as sugar, were also strong and advanced on good buying. The London market was fractionally lower, but had no influence on our prices. The bank statement reflects the heavy flow of currency to this center in preparation for the crop-moving period. Although the Russian situation seems to grow daily more precarious and Continental Bourses seem to reflect the prevailing conditions at those centers, our market ignores the foreign situation completely and this fact would lead us to conclude that the very best interests are on the bull side of the market and temporarily we look for higher prices.—(J. S. Bache & Co. to Washington Flexner & Co.

New York.—We think insiders were selling to-day all that the market would absorb. They may put them up a little more Monday, but if they do we would sell them. We have not discovered much public buying to-day. It will take an extended rise to convince people that the big people are buying rather than liquidating, as we think they are. The rise in Steel is more than likely preliminary to a good quarterly report and is calculated to lead some persons to think that there will be an early dividend on the common stock. We think it is a yet a long way off. What is back of the move in Southern Pacific is not clear, unless it is mere manipulation to help the insiders to sell their Union Pacific, which they have been carrying since the San Francisco fire. They are all said to have loaded up before the disaster for another big rise and have not been able to get out. We would not buy any stocks at this level.—(C. I. Hudson & Co. to S. C. Henning & Co.

New York.—The gain in cash by banks being very much more than expected added to the bullish feeling and the market closed at about the best figures.—(Kelley, Miller & Co.

New York.—In the face of what Wall street regards as unfavorable news, mainly applying to affairs abroad, a peculiar situation is made apparent by rather substantial recoveries in the active stocks for a dull market, and it would imply oversold conditions, judging from the manner in which they are marked up. The declaration of the regular dividend on Amalgamated Copper, while not unexpected, created a good effect among conservative people and did much toward creating optimism on Copper shares generally. It is the consensus of opinion that United States Steel shares are destined for improvement, a reflection of unparalleled trade conditions, while the impression prevails that the Harriman Pacifics are soon to share in a melon cutting, in addition to valuable rights on St. Paul. In this connection it must not be lost sight of that Atchison common shares are slated for 5 per cent. next autumn, and should all these good things materialize it will exercise beneficial effects in various other quarters of the market. When the powers that be extend support it is rather significant, and the home coming of Mr. J. P. Morgan Wednesday next is likely to be attended with greater activities in the way of aggressiveness against the short interest. Professional bears, however, do not seem to be at all alarmed over the situation, and stand ready to renew their former tactics whenever favorable opportunity offers. An advancing market of any magnitude can hardly be classed as a possibility just now rather than one of specialties with room traders and out-of-town operators working for quick turns.—(Ware & Leland.

WEEKLY GRAIN LETTER.

Chicago.—Wheat: The Jones report wired here from the Northwest to-day more than anything took 1c off the price of wheat for both September and December and forced a new low point for these months. The report went far out of the ordinary course to emphasize the fact that the writer thought the present prospect the greatest ever seen on American soil. No doubt the report had exactly the effect intended, to demoralize the trade and depress prices and affording an excellent opportunity for the lines of the big bears in the Northwest to be covered on the break. The level-headed people in the trade will hesitate before accepting a conclusion that claims 300,000,000 bushels surplus wheat for this country, which would mean a total yield of about 825,000,000. Moreover, much of the spring wheat country has yet three weeks to go to harvest, with more than ordinary chances of injury from extreme heat and rust, because of the tender condition of the plant produced by a long spell of rainy weather. World's shipments will be again small. The trade is between two important facts, either of which may greatly help buyers at this level; the one very heavy foreign purchases of fine quality wheat, the other a positive let-up in the farmers' offerings because of unsatisfactory prices. We think one or the other influences, coupled with any change to less favorable spring wheat prospect, should turn the market at this level.

Corn.—The trade and the country have been so accustomed to high prices for corn for two or three years past, even in the face of enormous yields, that they are slow to give up on the buying side, now that the prices have dropped well under 50c for all months. There is little doubt that the fine weather for all the corn States, with a fair supply of moisture for the present, has caused the general selling on the present decline.

Oats.—It is quite the thing to sell a grain market lower when the point is reached where the new crop begins to come forward. This is done in the wheat trade regularly. It is being done in oats at the present time. It is doubtful whether the low prices now being made will be much inducement to farmers to part with their new oats, in view of the fact that the country will raise 200,000,000 bushels less than in 1905. We believe those buyers who attempt to find bottom around this level will not have long to wait for an improved market.—(Logan & Bryan to W. L. Lyons & Co.

STOCK MARKET REVIEW.

New York, July 21.—Money on call nominal; no loans. Time loans irregular; sixty days 3½@4 per cent.; ninety days 4½; six months 5½. Prime mercantile paper 5½@5¾ per cent. Sterling exchange firm at $4.8470@4.8480 for demand and at $4.8190@4.82 for sixty-day bills; posted rates $4.82½ and $4.85½; commercial bills $4.81½@4.81⅝. Bar silver 65½c. Mexican dollars 50½c. Government bonds steady; railroad bonds irregular.

The bank statement to-day showed that there had been substantial ground for the hopes of a strong bank return which lay at the bottom of yesterday's upward movement of stocks and the improved feeling over the money outlook. But the sources of the added strength of the banking position were obscure. An estimate of a $6,000,000 cash gain, based on the known movements of money, was realized by almost double that amount. Commentators were perplexed to find an explanation and were driven back upon the old assumption of operations with trust companies allied with the banks to account for this great increase in cash. The $9,435,300 loan increase was taken as an intimation of stock market needs and gave point to some of the week's rumors of large borrowing for account of interests closely related to some of the great railroads whose stocks have figured in the week's revived strength. Quotations of short time loans, although nominal on a Saturday, were substantially reduced to-day, the bid rate for sixty days falling to 3½ per cent., with offerings at 4 per cent. A good effect is looked for on the money market from the deposits of Panama canal bond subscriptions, which are offered by the Secretary of the Treasury. Hopes are entertained also of securing part of next week's $5,000,000 gold arrivals expected in London. Money lenders are inclined to look for easier money rates in consequence. Foreign exchange rates, however, were advanced sharply, with possible effect upon New York's command of the London gold supply.

It appeared that most of the speculative buying based on the favorable bank statement had been anticipated, and prices advanced for only half an hour. After that time they lost ground and the demand was insufficient after the bank statement to absorb the traders' profit-taking. The closing was irregular, with only part of the early gains retained.

The pressure of liquidation was lifted from the market again this week and the movement of prices left to the devices of the professional traders almost altogether. This movement reflected an extremely uncertain frame of mind on their part, prices backing and filling continually, but with an average tendency upward. It was the commonly accepted opinion that the buying came to a large extent from the uncovered short interest, and any material rise in the level of prices led to a marked subsidence of the buying, without, however, any notable increase of the selling pressure.

The feeling over the money situation was more confident, and this was the substantial factor in the better tone of the stock market, and also operated to give play to some of the influences from the highly prosperous conditions of trade and industry. Money on call ruled decidedly easy and there was some ultimate effect also on the rates for time loans for the shorter periods. This was the normal effect of the passing of the July settlement period and between seasons period in the active demand for money in circulation. But the firm maintenance of the rate for time loans for six months, carrying over the end of the year, was a measure of the solicitude over the facilities at command for getting through the crop-moving season. The restraint upon the demand for stocks, even with the depressing influence removed of immediate money necessities, was thus accounted for. Government operations played an important part in the week's money market and their course gave rise to confidence that help rather than detriment to the money situation was to result. Large disbursements were made by the Treasury Department on account of mail transportation and other contracts, and also for pensions, and these helped to offset the preparations for the return of $10,000,000 of Government deposits called for the 20th inst. Offers were made of the deposit of the Government funds with banks subscribing to the Panama canal bonds to the extent of one-third of the subscriptions, and this also helped to ease the strain of the withdrawal of deposits secured by State and municipal bonds. It was assumed also that there would be important increase of bank note issue through the wider supply of Government bonds available for that purpose. Gold was secured for New York in London early in the week and engagements were also made in Australia for shipment to San Francisco without carrying the foreign exchange rate away from the level of profit on gold imports. This kept alive a belief that next week's large arrivals of gold in London, estimated at $5,000,000, would yield further supplies for the New York market.

The withdrawal of gold from London was not achieved without evidence of opposition in that market to the movement. Foreign markets have their own requirements and their own troubles to consider. The growing strain of the situation in Russia has told on the Paris and Berlin markets and has forced sterling exchange in Paris down to a level that makes that center a competitor with New York for gold in London. Anxiety is manifest over the speculative position in London and there has been liquidation of accounts that had to be helped through the last Stock Exchange settlement there, the trouble being aggravated by the death of a capitalist largely concerned in South African properties.

Advices from the domestic interior foreshadow an early start of the periodical money requirement. St. Louis and Chicago banks report withdrawals of deposits by their correspondents, and the state of their own reserves does not allow the hope that the usual demand upon Eastern banks in response will be withheld. This outlook keeps attention fixed on the large capital requirements before the market and does not permit the spirit of caution to sleep. The enormous amount of capital going into fixed investments commands growing attention. Economists recognize the tendency of large diversion of capital supplies into fixed forms to encroach on the available supply of circulation of liquid capital. Heavy outlay for construction, equipment, buildings, machinery and such more permanent forms may pinch the needs for capital which circulates quickly on payment of wages, material for productive consumption, ordinary mercantile transactions and the like. Moreover, capital reproduces itself with an increment in a brief period in the latter form of employment, while in a fixed form its renewal is more gradual in the form of depreciation charges each year in a small proportion to the total outlay.

Published plans of railroads and great industrial corporations make clear to the extent of which capital has been going into fixed forms and help to explain the strained condition of the money market and its repressive influence upon the market for securities, in spite of the high tide of prosperity in the country. This week's items of the exhibit of prosperity include the fiscal year's record showing for both imports and exports, with the total foreign trade practically established at three billion dollars; the dissipation of the slight hesitation reported in the iron market; railroad earnings well sustained above preceding records and gathering confidence in the prosperous outturn of the crops, in spite of the week's reports of black rust damage to spring wheat.

BOND QUOTATIONS.

New York, July 21.—Total sales of bonds to-day (par value) $637,000. The week's bond market continued lethargic. The par value of the sales for the week amounts to $7,028,500 compared with $11,143,000 in the corresponding week of last year, itself a week of dull demand for bonds. United States 2s have declined ¼ and the 3s, the old 4s and the new 4s have advanced ¼ on call, during the week.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, July 21.—The estimate of a crop expert, giving 400,000,000 bushels as the amount of this year's wheat crop which will be available for export from the United States and Canada, resulted in extreme weakness to-day, the closing quotations on the September delivery being off 1c. Corn was off ⅜@½c. Oats were down ⅜c. Provisions were 5 to 12½c lower.

The weakness in the wheat market developed during the first hour, and during the remainder of the session the bulls were in full retreat. A fair demand by commission houses, based upon a steady market at Liverpool, caused some firmness immediately after the opening, but the foreign situation was ignored when the estimate of the Minneapolis crop expert became generally known. Pit traders and local longs sold freely and there was much selling of wheat by commission houses on stop-loss orders. The market was also affected by liberal receipts here and at other primary points. Local receipts for Monday were estimated at 802 cars, which was considered a very liberal supply, and this caused additional weakness late in the day. Shorts were the chief buyers. The market closed very weak with prices almost at the lowest point. September opened ⅛@¼c higher, at 77⅛@78c, sold up to 78@78⅛c and then declined to 76½c. Final quotations were at 76⅝c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 121,800 bu. Primary receipts were 1,104,000 bu., against 1,049,000 for the corresponding time last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 614 cars against 623 cars last week and 214 cars one year ago.

The corn market was steady for a few minutes early in the day, but the sharp break in wheat, excellent weather and increased country offerings caused a considerable decline. The market closed weak with prices near the lowest prices of the day. September opened ⅛@¼c lower to ⅛@⅜c higher, at 49⅝@50⅛c, sold off to 49⅛c and closed at 49⅛c. Local receipts were 178 cars, with 79 of contract grade.

Oats were weak in sympathy with other grain and also because of reports from the Northwest indicating a heavy yield. The volume of trading was not large. September opened unchanged to ⅛c higher, at 32⅝@32¾c, sold up to 33@33⅛c and declined to 32c. The close was at 32⅜c. Local receipts were 103 cars.

Provisions were inclined to be weak in sympathy with grain and because of a 5c decline in the price of live hogs. Trading was rather quiet. At the close September pork was off 10c, at $17.30. Lard was down 5c, at $8.85. Ribs were 12½c lower, at $9.15.

Estimated receipts for Monday are: Wheat 802 cars; corn 266 cars; oats 142 cars; hogs 45,000 head.

Manchester Dry Goods.

Manchester, July 21.—A shade more business in the cloth market was transacted for the Mediterranean and South Americas at steady rates. Indiana inquiries are still too low and the acceptances of business in that direction were small. China only bought a few shirtings, owing to heavy stocks, but the home trade absorbed good quantities of cloths at steady rates. Yarns experienced a quiet week. American caps and fine wefts were badly wanted, but owing to the delivery difficulty the transactions were small. Quotations were unchanged.

Seattle-Boston Copper Co.

A leading New York banking journal has recently stated that "Dividends paid by Copper Mines are greater than all the dividends from railroads in the country—think of it."

$100 invested in United Verde twelve years ago at $1.00 per share is now worth $30,000 and paying dividends at rate of $1,200 a year.

The same amount in Green Consolidated less than two years ago is now worth $8,700, besides large dividends.

ABOUT TOUTS AND VICTIMS

How Butters-in At Race Tracks Get Alleged Tips.

AN OLD-TIME TRAINER TALKS.

Says Paddock Nuisances Make Horsemen Angry and Work Acquaintanceship Game To Fool Public.

HIS PERSONAL EXPERIENCES.

A TRAINER was speaking of that much talked about rule requiring trainers to remain within the paddock during the running of the races.

"I heard a fellow say a while back that we're getting too many laws from Congress and the Legislatures," he commented.

"I don't profess to know anything about that, but we're sure getting plenty of new turf law and rules of late years, especially rules. But they can't make any rules that I won't abide by, if I can. There's no use in kicking. If they make a rule requiring trainers to use their teeth alone in saddling horses, I'm there with a stab at it, anyway. I never knew a horseman to get anything by bucking these edicts. I'm here to stay in the business, even if they frame up a rule requiring us to school our horses to run their races backward.

"But while they're sitting up overtime to roll these rule pills, why wouldn't it be a pretty god job to keep everybody out of the paddock except the people directly connected with the handling of the horses?

"I never could see any good reason why, for the payment of a few bits more, the general public should be admitted to the paddocks of race tracks. Most of the people who nudge into a paddock have no business whatever there. They're simply in the way.

"Not one out of a hundred of them knows anybody in the paddock who's connected with the running of the horses. They simply stand around and pose and look wise. A good many of them ask fool questions. Others butt in with suggestions to trainers that would earn them sound kickings elsewhere. Some of the fat conks fan up acquaintanceships with rubbers and stable hands, from whom they get punk tips, and then they hotfoot out into the grandstand and betting ring and drool that they've got these tips direct from the trainers.

Paddock Visits Make Liars.

"The paddock-visiting habit is calculated to make great liars out of men who are ordinarily as truthful as their neighbors. Not a few of these wise owls who prowl around race track paddocks because their badges give them that privilege take it for granted that everybody connected with the horse racing business is a crook and say things in acting upon that presumption that would fetch them many a hard slap right on the cuff if the folks handling horses didn't fear the rule off thing for getting into altercations of this kind.

"Just why one of these critters in a paddock should expect people engaged in racing horses as a business to answer their idiotic and often impertinent questions is a thing I could never dope out. I wouldn't walk into a shoe or a hat store and ask the proprietor if he expected to have his books show him a profit at the end of the season. I wouldn't tap a bank president on the left shoulder blade and inquire if he considered his plant solvent. But people that trainers of race horses have never before seen in their lives consider it the right kink to bulge along and toss the sauciest kind of questions at them, and when they get a hot come-back for theirs they look as absurd as if somebody had spanked them on the pulse with a mash mixer.

"I was saddling one of my string for the promenade to the post the other afternoon when an airy looking duck wearing one of those Leghorn hats with a piece of pink Turkish toweling draped around it came up behind me and got me to look around by poking me in the small of the back with the ferrule of his swish stick. That move along was enough to get me some feverish around the fichu—it was just as if he'd seen a field terrapin struggling on his back and had used his cane to turn him over, shell up. When I turned around he was there with all the gentality.

Wonderful Familiarity of Touts.

"'Well, Dave,' he said to me—and you're to remember that I'd never clapped a lamp on him in my life before—'Well, Dave, is this one meant to-day?' pointing to the horse I was saddling for the race.

"I ask you, man to man, were the boots coming to that fatnut, or weren't they?

"I couldn't trust myself to say one word to that one. If I'd opened my face at him at all I'd have burnt that Leghorn hat and the hair under it right off his head, and I knew it. So I kept still and went ahead with my saddling, and he strolled away, swishing his stick and whistling with much enjoyment. They can't be snubbed, you see. That one probably tackled half a dozen trainers in about the same way after he left me, and all of them, no doubt, had the same difficulty to restrain themselves from kicking his necktie around sideways.

"Another of the same breed nudged into my stable office before the first race on an afternoon at Gravesend last year. I'd never seen him before, but I thought he might be a friend of somebody for whom I was training, and so I got up from my desk. He held up a warning finger, and then he whispered to me to get the four or five stable hands hanging around in front away from the stable entrance. I began to get hep then.

"'What for?' I asked him. 'They're working here. They know everything that goes on around here, as well as I do. I'm pretty busy. What do you want?'

"'Sh-sh!' he hissed, tiptoeing over to my desk. 'She-sh! Not so loud. This thing can be done quietly. No need for anybody to know a thing about it but us.'

"'Out with it,' said I. 'I'm a busy man to-day. What do you want?'

"'Well,' he whispered, then leaning over my desk, 'you've got one in the third race to-day that'll be a sure favorite and that'll probably win, haven't you?'

"'I'm running a horse in the third race to-day,' I said. 'What's that to you?'

"'Ssh-sh!' he went again. 'Wait a minute. Lookee. Now, I've got a friend—finest fellow you ever met, too—you'll like him if you meet him—I've got a friend who took 5 to 1 against the one that'll be second choice in that third race. He bet $1,000 on it last night. Now, you see? It means six thousand bucks to this friend of mine—bulliest fellow you ever saw, too—if your horse—er—you know—just happens to—er—well, you savvy all right, don't you? And this friend of mine always does the right thing. He's no snitcher. If the thing fell out the right way, why—er—you'd get—well, he'd treat you right; understand?'

"'Uh-huh—I understand,' I said to him. If ever a man longed to make another one into buttonholes, I longed to rig that one that way. But I got up and put on my hat and coat and said to him, 'Come on, where we can talk this thing over privately, and he looked delighted and said, 'I was sure you'd see it the right way, old pal—dead sure of it.'

"I walked him out of the paddock and right to the main gate, he imagining, I suppose, that I was conducting him to some roadhouse across the way for a backroom buzz. At the main gate I pulled Bob Pinkerton aside and staked him to a brief whisper. Then Pinkerton strolled over to my gay dog with the sh-sh' line of conversation, gently nudged him out of the gate, and told him in a voice that wasn't a bit peevish that if he ever saw him show his nap on a race track around New York again he'd stake him to the saddest quarter of an hour that he'd ever heard about in all his life.

"Another time one of these chipper wedge ins gayly boned me for the straight junk, as he called it, about a mare that I was going to saddle for a stake race that afternoon.

"'I know that you haven't the advantage of my acquaintance,' was his larky way of coming at me, 'but what's the dif between good fellers? Are you out for it with that mare to-day? Is she the melons? Aw, come on, now, and slip it to me right. I ain't such bad people. I sure want to get the live one in that race.'

"I was so keen to turn upon that mad wag and pump the hot lava at him that my whole chest was throbbing like the works of a racing buzz wagon. I never let myself go when I feel that way, and so I just walked away.

"Five minutes later I strolled into the betting ring to take a peek at the prices. And in the middle of the betting ring that gay dog that had tackled me only a few minutes before had a friend of his pinned against a stanchion, and, as I paused, I overheard him saying something like this to him:

"'Pipesky. Moral. I was in the paddock only a minute ago, and I got the straight goods from Dave Blank,' naming me. 'Dave's an old side kicker of mine—used to go on bats together—and Dave, he told me that it was in. Said for me to go as far as I liked. Couldn't lose. And any time Dave tells me a thing like that, why——'

"I took that smudge by the collar and yanked him around—couldn't help it.

* * *

Got His Tip Straight From Dave.

"'I've cut the trail of a whole acre of liars in my time, Bud,' I said to him, 'but you've got 'em all burnt to the ground and their ashes put away in sealed jars. Take it all in all, you're the thunderingest liar that I ever even heard——'

"'Aw, stop y'r kiddin', Dave,' he broke in on me, merrily. 'Come an' have a drink.'

"Oh, I just had to turn around and walk away again. Who could stack up against such an unbustable bunch of serenity as that?

"Permission to prowl around the paddocks of race tracks has always been a swell graft for the touts. Not that they ever get anything in the paddocks, for all the horsemen know them and flag them whenever they get within forty yards. But the touts make the pinhead good thing clients think that they're all the candy when it comes to getting the correct nudges in the paddock.

"'Now, I'm not dead certain about this race,' the tout says in that sage confidential way to the mark he's got on his staff. 'One of the big trainers is going to put me hep in a few minutes, and I'm waiting. Might as well go into the paddock and look him up now. Come on,' and into the paddock he swings, with the mark tagging along after him.

"When they get to the saddling inclosure. 'Wait a minute,' the tout says to his sucker. 'Just you stay right here. There's your man over there now—I'll be right back,' and the tout prances over to where he sees another tout standing and buzzes him in a low tone for a minute or so.

"'It's all right,'" the tout says when he returns to where he has planted his good thing, who by this time imagines he's away deep in the inner mysteries of the game. 'I've got the right one—come on and go to it with all your might,' and he leads the sucker into the betting ring. Then the tout gets hold of another one of his softies and goes through the same paddock performance with him, landing mark No. 2 upon some other contender in the race. He gets the credit for being one of the mystic shriners of the game and pulpheads will bite time and again because his good things feel certain that a fellow who's on such chummy terms with the paddock folks has got to be right sooner or later.

Public Continues To Be Suckers.

"It would be the sad day for the stable hands and the kids in sweaters around the paddock, though, if they ever adopted a rule shutting the general public from the paddocks. You see, all they've got to do is to stand still and chew a straw and look wise, and the paddock prowlers are just naturally bound to walk up to 'em and hand 'em money.

"There may be funnier gags in life than this, but I never happened to ram into the funnier ones. A snipe of an exercise boy in a red and green sweater will be leaning against the fence, ruminating on a piece of hay, when one of these foxy dogs will edge over to him and give him the deep and dark poke in the rib. At the same time he'll slip the stable kid a note—a ten or twenty- sometimes more. The stable hands have learned to control their features and to look deadly solemn when this thing happens, although they ache to laugh out loud.

"'Hey, son, put us hep, will you?'" the crafty one says to the snipe of a kid in the sweater, and then the boy unreels a little bunch of patter, the gist of which is that such-and-such a horse is already in, his number out, and paid off on.

"'Git out, is that so?' says the note slipper, and then he all but breaks the arms of a whole lot of men rushing to the betting ring to get his kale down on that one. Great gag for the boys in the sweaters hanging around the paddocks. They're in good both ends from the middle. If by any chance the one they've named offhand to the note slipper wins, they're there at his side when the number goes up for a little piece of the winning change, and they get it every time. But however the break falls, they get theirs in advance, anyway.

"And this little game will go on just as long as idiots wearing the clothes and hats and shoes of grown up men accept the sweater and the straw-chewing habit as badges and symbols of a prophetic knowledge of what's going to happen in a horse race."

Rain Prevents the Trots.

Albany, N. Y., July 21.—Owing to a heavy rain this morning and early afternoon the schedule of games arranged for the Island Park track this afternoon was postponed. The special race between Sweet Marie and Wentworth may not take place, though efforts are being made to arrange it for next Thursday.

TO FIGHT RABBITS.

INOCULATION WILL BE USED FOR EXTERMINATION.

Australia Tries Every Other Method Without Avail—Menace to Crops.

Bunny has raised himself to the dignity of a national question in Australia, says a Paris special to the Chicago Tribune. In the expressive phraseology of a Western squatter: "It's a fight to the finish between sheep and rabbits, and one must go under."

The rabbit has hitherto mocked the efforts of experts to suppress him. Some idea of the magnitude of the problem may be gathered from the fact that the doe has her first litter, which averages half a dozen, at the age of four months, and her fecundity is such that in three years the progeny of two rabbits is numbered not merely by hundreds of thousands but by millions.

Everything has been tried to keep them down. Poison, fumigation, trapping, wire netting and scalp rewards have alike been powerless to check their multiplication, and the continent is overrun with them.

In the last twenty years millions of dollars have thus been squandered without return. In some districts these rodents consume 40 per cent. of the green food which would otherwise serve for rearing purposes, and the loss thus suffered by the graziers is reckoned at $65,000,000 a year.

Some years ago a prize of $25,000 was offered to any one, scientist or otherwise, who could devise a means of extirpating the destructive rodent. The late M. Pasteur was among the numerous competitors for the prize, but even his profound science proved unavailing. About a year ago negotiations were entered into with Dr. Danysz, of the Pasteur Institute at Paris, and that eminent bacteriologist has just arrived in New South Wales with an assistant and all the necessary apparatus for conducting his experiments, which may extend over a period of two years.

Dr. Danysz is to be well remunerated for his services. His fee paid in advance is $5,000, and he will receive in addition $1,000 for every month of his stay in Australia. His assistant receives a monthly salary of $170 for the same period.

The pretty island of Broughton, which is situated about thirty-one miles north of Newcastle and ten miles beyond Port Stephens, has been set aside for the experiment. Its area is about 1,000 acres, and the inoculated rabbits will have to be imported, as there are none at present on the island. It is an essential condition, of course, that the germ cultures shall be fatal to rabbits only. The disease must be innocuous to human beings, sheep, cattle, horses and other live stock.

It could hardly be expected that such drastic measures would leave the rabbit skin and frozen meat industries indifferent, and these are already signs of a strong agitation against the experiments. Pressure is being put upon the Federal Government to prohibit the landing of the germ cultures, scientific opinion is loudly proclaimed to be hostile to Dr. Danysz, and the industries affected declare that they will take legal action against those who thus threaten their existence.

Whatever be the legal means of redress, at the command of the agitators, whether they be entitled to claim indemnity or not, all that is a question for ultimate consideration, for it is not yet proved that Dr. Danysz will be able to fulfill the conditions imposed upon him. At all events, it must be borne in mind that the relative interests at stake are vastly in favor of the sheep farmers and squatters. The product of the rabbit industry is insignificant when compared to the loss annually suffered through the rabbit plague, and it must be recollected that this loss is constantly attaining more alarming proportions.

PROMINENT SWIMMERS OF THE WORLD IDENTIFIED WITH ATTEMPTS TO SWIM THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

WILL ATTEMPT TO SWIM ACROSS

Two Americans To Try Most Difficult Aquatic Feat.

KISTLER AND GLOVER THE MEN

Distance Across English Channel Is Twenty-one Miles and Very Dangerous.

ONLY ACCOMPLISHED ONCE.

TWO Americans, George Kistler, of Philadelphia, and William J. Glover, of Elkton, Maryland, are now preparing for an attempt at the blue ribbon feat of natation, swimming the English channel, an undertaking fit for a Leander, and which, although many have tried, has only been once accomplished.

They are not working together. In fact their ventures are entirely separate. Kistler is getting ready in Philadelphia, the funds for his trip are being raised by the University of Pennsylvania students, at which institution he is instructor in swimming.

Glover, accompanied by Carlisle D. Graham, will get ready by practicing in the strong currents of the St. Lawrence river, where he thinks are more nearly duplicated than anywhere in the world, the conditions that prevail in the narrow stretch of water that separates England from France.

These two men are undoubtedly the best distance swimmers in the United States, and both have the endurance and courage which are requisite to the great task.

It is only about twenty miles across the channel, and a good swimmer could navigate the distance without difficulty but for the perverse currents, which put it out of question for even a big ship to pursue an absolutely straight course.

When Capt. Matthew Webb won undying fame by swimming the channel way back in 1875, it was estimated that he had covered not less than forty miles in his trip between Dover and Calais.

Kistler is now forty-two years old, but he is still a magnificent athlete, tall and bleet with a chest that can be the reservoir for an immense supply of air.

His best known feat was his swim on the Delaware river, between Philadelphia and Chester and return. He accomplished this in eleven hours, a distance of thirty-two miles, on the day that Czolgosz shot President McKinley. He can swim with his hands and feet tied for ten miles, so there is no danger that cramp will ever incapacitate him.

Kistler is going to make his start from the Admiralty Pier, Dover, whence Webb plunged into the sea thirty-one years ago.

Kistler has invented a head mask, with which he will protect himself from the effects of the sun and salt water.

He will also plentifully anoint himself with oil to reduce the friction.

Glover has performed some notable feats, including his race through the Niagara rapids with Carlisle D. Graham, whom he defeated. He is a younger man than Kistler, and like the Philadelphian, has a deep chest and is powerfully muscled.

Should either of these men succeed he will not only win the $5,000 offered by an English paper for anyone accomplishing the performance, but he will come in for fame and popularity such as has been the portion so far of but one man.

When Webb accomplished the bridging of the channel, he aroused such enthusiasm that the people of London promptly subscribed £1,300 for him.

It was Capt. Webb's desire to emulate and surpass Johnson that led to the first conquest of the channel, Johnson made the effort in 1872, and failed signally. Then Webb, who had learned the art of swimming in the Severn, and was at that time twenty-six years of age, announced his intention of succeeding where Johnson had failed.

This attracted to England an American named Paul Boynton, who had a queer rubber contrivance with paddles. In it he succeeded in making the transit, though his trip was not considered unaided swimming.

Webb was forced to abandon his first efforts to swim the channel at the time Boynton crossed, by reason of the extra strong current and bad weather, but twelve days later, August 24, 1875, he plunged off the Admiralty Pier, Dover. He was twenty-two hours in the water, and suffered a little during the night hours, but emerged from the terrific test of strength, courage and endurance in excellent condition.

On the trip he wore an American and an English flag intertwined.

Webb's subsequent career was full of pathos. His funds were soon exhausted, and to maintain himself he was forced to give exhibitions of swimming. So great was the popularity that for a two days' exhibition he could get a thousand dollars.

Coming to the United States he developed the ambition to swim across the Niagara rapids and lost his life there July 24, 1882.

Cavill, a pupil of Webb, claimed to have made the swim across the Channel, but was never credited, and twenty years later an American, Davis Dalton, said he had been over the route traversed by Webb, but he was never believed.

In 1901 Frank Holmes, of Birmingham, a daring amateur swimmer, gave up after going about two-thirds of the way. This was the fourth attempt which Mr. Holmes had made to cross the channel, covering a period of five years.

It has remained for Mantagu Holbein to come nearer than any present-day swimmer to succeeding. On August 27, 1902, he started from Cape Grisnez and managed to get to within two miles of Dover. He was in the sea for twenty-two hours and a half, and would have succeeded but for his misfortune in striking a perverse current when he was only a short distance from land.

Earlier in the swim he might have managed to breast it, but at that late time when his energies had been flagged by the long effort, he lacked the power, and had not his friends interfered and pulled him from the water he would have drowned.

On September 1, 1903, Holbein tried it again, and this time he progressed to within seven miles of the French coast before being forced to give up.

Holbein swims a great deal on his back, taking advantage of a very powerful leg stroke.

During his efforts Mrs. Holbein has always been close to him in the accompanying boat, and has personally prepared his meals of raw eggs, hot milk and hot coffee. All this he has to eat from a bottle.

Holbein is an enthusiast on the subject of swimming, and next to crossing the Channel himself his greatest desire is to see some one else make the trip. He has offered to give to either Kistler or Glover all possible advice, and he may even swim with them.

If the three men could be brought into a race across the Channel it would be one of the most interesting sporting events ever planned.

It was not until 1900 that any woman became ambitious to swim the Channel, and then an attempt was made by Mme. Walburga von Isacescu, a Viennese swimmer. She swam twenty miles from Calais in a rough sea before being forced to give in.

The next woman to seek fame in the same direction was Miss Annette Kellerman, the Australian long distance swimmer, who, though only a girl of twenty, is one of the greatest swimmers in the world to-day, male or female.

She leaped into the turbulent waters just about one year ago, July 25, 1905, and was accompanied by Edward Heaton, of Liverpool.

After six hours of the hardest kind of swimming, and a record of one one-third of the distance covered, Heaton collapsed but Miss Kellerman refused to yield, and maintained her battle with the waves.

Finally she too was forced to give up, but not until she had gone a mile further than her companion.

Miss Kellerman already has a record swim of twenty miles between Ramsgate and Dover, covering it in four hours and twenty-eight minutes.

Glover is counting on the aid of a new preparation he has invented, which, applied to the skin, will prevent the irritation that comes from the long immersion in salt water.

He also has a new set of goggles that keep the water absolutely out of the eyes.

In his long swim to Chester, Pa., five years ago, Kistler was very poorly guided, and had to swim pretty nearly double the distance. In that test he displayed the kind of grit that marks the successful long distance swimmer.

He is confident of success. So is Glover. With Holbein still a candidate, the laurels that Webb has so long worn seem to be in danger for sure this summer.

BOX FACTORY BURNS IN CRESCENT CITY.

New Orleans, July 21.—The large box factory of S. T. Alcus & Company, on the river front at the foot of Napoleon avenue, was destroyed by fire tonight, involving a loss estimated at $100,000. The factory was situated near the Illinois Central's immense new docks and elevators, but this property was undamaged.

DEATH WATCH SET OVER CORNELIUS JOHNSON.

Spends His Time In Prayer and In Reading the Bible.

Cornelius Johnson, colored, who is sentenced to hang next Friday, was placed under the death watch yesterday morning at the county jail, where he is confined, and from now until he leaves his cell to ascend the gallows he will be under constant surveillance. Four guards will alternate in watching him night and day, in hourly watches.

Johnson was moved to the isolated hospital on the third floor, where he will be kept in solitary confinement. During the day James Guthrie and Jos. Shipp will watch him to see that he does not harm himself. After dark Patrick Behman and Charles Landermann are stationed at the door to his cell with a hand searchlight, which they constantly train upon him.

According to the guards, he is holding out remarkably well. He spends his time in prayer and in reading his Bible. He was baptized several days ago by the Rev. C. C. Bates, colored, and says that he is prepared to die. Occasionally he would exhort the other prisoners to read the Bible, but otherwise he kept quietly to himself. Now he has no opportunity to communicate with anyone but the guards, and they say that he talks to them as calmly as an acquaintance on the street would. He discusses religious topics with them, and speaks dispassionately of death.

The crime for which Johnson is to pay the penalty with his life was committed several months ago. He shot and killed Conrad Kaiser, who conducted a saloon out in the county.

FRACTURED SKULL RESULT OF WHEELMAN'S COLLISION.

While riding his bicycle on Bank street near Twenty-sixth yesterday morning, John Norton, nineteen years old, of 2717 Slevin avenue, a telegraph operator in the employ of the Southern railroad, collided with an east-bound car and was thrown to the pavement, sustaining a fractured skull and severe cuts and bruises on the right knee and right shoulder. Dr. W. M. Dwyer dressed the injuries while awaiting the Deaconess Hospital ambulance. At the hospital, Norton's skull was trephined by Dr. J. Hunter Peak, assisted by Drs. Dwyer and Humphrey. The operation was a successful one and the physicians are hopeful of his recovery.

ANOTHER ARREST IN WIRE-TAPPING CASE.

St. Louis, July 21.—As a result of the police investigation into the alleged wire tapping at the Merchants' Exchange, another arrest was made today. Thomas P. Lahey, employed by a local brokerage firm, was arrested on a warrant charging "meddling with a telegraph line." He was released on bond. Neither Lahey nor the police would discuss the arrest.

Critics Think Big Sam Berger Will Do For Jeffries.

HIS CREDITABLE SHOWING.

Tommy Burns, Hart's Conqueror, and Al Kauffman To Furnish Next Big Bout.

JOE THOMAS MAKES GOOD.

NEW YORK, July 21.—[Special.]—Big Sam Berger will do. He must be considered eligible to try for the championship toga laid aside by Jim Jeffries, and is rightfully entitled to a seat in the front row of the heavyweight division. All this on account of the remarkable showing he made against that wise old ring general, Jack O'Brien, Monday night. It was one of the biggest ring surprises that ever took place in Philadelphia. Ninety per cent. of the fight bugs thought the shifty O'Brien would tie him into knots, and when they saw Berger carry fight to the old fox they were dumfounded. At first glance one isn't likely to appreciate the full merit of the Californian's performance. Here was a young amateur, 3,500 miles away from home and in the home town of his adversary. He is only twenty-two years of age, and will not reach the twenty-third milestone until next Christmas. He hadn't had on a glove in a year and a half, and had done absolutely no training during that period. When he started to work for the O'Brien bout he was as soft as a marshmellow and was obliged to take off twenty-five pounds within the three weeks. With a little more time and about fifteen pounds more weight taken he would have been a great deal faster. Berger had never fought a professional fight before and had never engaged in a bout of more than four rounds in all his life. He was pitted against the acknowledged fastest and cleverest big man in the ring to-day, a fact that would take the heart out of a less brave man. Instead of being nervous, Berger was as cool and collected as a veteran. He didn't wait for his cagey opponent to carry fight to him, but took a hand at that game himself. He landed the first and last blows of the fight. He cut the pace whenever he had the opportunity, never took a backward step in the whole contest, unless he was knocked back, and was after his man all the time.

* * *

It is probably the first time in the history of Queensberry contests in this country that an amateur heavy-weight broke out of that class and went against a man of O'Brien's caliber in his first bout and made such a creditable showing. It is little short of marvelous. Both Berger and his manager, Jack Gleason, were elated over the former's showing, and they are open to take on any heavyweight in the business. They make a wise pair and do not need a chaperon. When Gleason picked out O'Brien for Berger's first opponent, it was only after careful thought. He was confident Berger would put up a creditable contest, and he figured that, after boxing so fast and scientific a man as O'Brien, all subsequent opponents would seem slow to his man. It was wise dope. If Philadelphia Jack had his hands full, it looks as though those less talented than the Quaker will need a steamer trunk to hold their troubles when they stack up against this new Richmond who has jumped to the first row in one battle. What puzzled big the most was Berger's perfect confidence in his own ability and a perceptible lack of nervousness. We were with him before and after the bout, and had a good opportunity to judge. Along about noon the day of the contest Gleason, Berger and some friends were in Harry Edwards' wet goods bazar to see about some tickets. Shortly after O'Brien walked in. He and Berger shook hands and a chat of a few minutes followed. When O'Brien left, Berger said: "Honestly, fellows, he's too small to lick me." After the contest Berger was as happy as an infant with a new toy. He admitted that O'Brien was as fast as a streak of lightning, but said that few of the punches distressed him. He said he felt as strong as an ox at the finish, and was hoping it had been ten instead of six rounds. With the exception of a darkened eye and an abrasion of the skin about two inches wide on the left side of his neck, there wasn't a mark on Berger to show that he had just emerged from six strenuous rounds with a past master of the boxing game. The mark on his neck was caused by O'Brien's left glove as it scraped by. Himself, he admitted, he would pull his head to the right to get away from Jack's wicked left-hand jabs.

O'Brien's speed, ability and general tactics are so well known that it might be of some interest to boxing devotees to know a little something about this total stranger who came in from the Far West and put up a grand battle against the Napoleon of the prize ring. Except that Billy Rodenbach went to San Francisco three years ago and defeated Berger for the amateur championship of America, nothing was known of the Westerner around these diggins. Berger stands six feet two inches, weighed 205 pounds when he boxed O'Brien, and would likely be at his best about 190 pounds. He is dark complexioned, has black hair, and reminds one of Jeffries when the boilermaker came East eight years ago to box Bob Armstrong and Steve O'Donnell in the same ring at the old Lenox Club. He is bubbling over with confidence and "fly" in all that the word implies. When O'Brien tried to kid and string him along during the contest with wise remarks, Berger was "there" with a return speech, and not once did he lose his equanimity. He has big shoulders, deep chest and an exceedingly long reach. He is fast on his feet, a good boxer, careful; keeps well covered up; is a free, clean hitter, and is on top of his man all of the time. He showed that, beyond the question of a doubt, he is game clean through. He is willing, boxes in, proved he can stand a wicked punch on the jaw because O'Brien hung a couple of right handers there with all of his might without shaking him up much, and he is ambitious to some day win the championship. Personally, he is a big, handsome, good-natured, boyish-looking fellow; well-dressed, mild-mannered; a booster rather than a knocker; is above the average in intellectuality; is not imbued with his own importance and made a good impression generally. There is also a notable lack of toughology in his general make-up, and, if he does not make his mark in the ring, many close followers of ring affairs, like Jim Bagley, Jack Bad, Bob Edgren, Sam Fitzpatrick and a long list of others, will miss their guess. O'Brien himself admits that Berger is a fighter of great promise, and after the contest gave him a world of credit.

In speaking of the bout the next morning, Jack Gleason, Berger's managerial guide, said: "I am tickled to death over Sam's showing against the scientific O'Brien. Before the bout few believed he would do so well, and it was gratifying to have people come up after the fight and say it was the surprise of their lives. The next time Berger fights he will weigh about 190 pounds, and I believe he will be a great deal faster. He learned considerable in his six rounds with O'Brien, and he should do well against any heavyweight in the ring. I know he has considerable to learn, and the only way he can learn is by fighting. I am going to leave him box with fast light and middleweights, and in this way he can pick up a vast knowledge in the art of feinting. He will go a long way before he is again called upon to meet a man so clever as O'Brien, and you will notice a big improvement the next time he fights. I expect him to be a big factor in the championship scramble and honestly believe he will be the successor of those two other California champions, Jim Corbett and Jim Jeffries."

Monday night will witness another big tumult in the ring of the National Club in Philadelphia. Spike Robinson and Tommy Murphy will meet in their second battle and there is no doubt but that it will prove a gruueling contest. Their previous one is too well remembered to need any comment, and it goes without saying that those who saw it will want to see the next one. Both have trained hard and will be fit when the bell rings. It is the aim of Murphy's life to win back the laurels he lost to the Englishman, and he says he will try every way in his power to stop the foreigner. The sale of seats is enormous and points to a packed house. That it was a judicious move on the part of Matchmaker McGuigan to bring them together again is proved by the orders for seats from New York, Baltimore, Washington, Trenton and Wilmington, to say nothing of the Philadelphia orders. Great bout that.

* * *

Al Kauffman's next opponent will in all probability, be Tommy Burns. They are as good as matched, and unless something unforeseen happens in the meantime, they will meet the latter part of August for twenty rounds before the Pacific A. C., of Los Angeles. Manager McCarey, of the club has been in communication with Bob Deady, Kauffman's manager, and all of the terms have been agreed to. Kauffman has been trying to get Burns for sometime, and has been training every day in anticipation of getting on with the Detroiter. He has been boxing with Joe Thomas, the California welter-weight, who recently bested that tough, punishment-absorbing Philadelphian, Joe Grim, and has also done some gymnasium work. If the match with Burns is a surety, Kauffman will start for California in about a week, to put on the finishing touches to his training.

* * *

The resurrection of Joe Walcott, who has been out of the ring for about two years on account of a pistol wound in his right hand, came in the nature of a surprise to many. It was thought Walcott was "all in" and his manager, Billy Pierce, to think of the "hard-bandages" and the victories over Jack Dougherty followed. Strapping down the fingers is not an entirely new wrinkle, however. Charley Vokes, now deceased, did the same thing in nearly all of his fights. Dougherty is a pretty good sort of a fighter, and it shows that Walcott must be in rather fair shape. The former, who comes originally from England, has beaten such men as Maurice Sayres, Charlie Neary, Tommy Sullivan, Billy Moore, Martin Judge and Eddie Santry, and is highly thought of around Michigan and Wisconsin, where he has done most of his fighting. Pierce says he will keep Walcott busy and send him after big game.

* * *

Ike Bradley, the little Englishman now in this country, who was bested several weeks ago by Tommy O'Toole, showed improved form in his second bout, the one with Tommy Langdon. While he didn't best Langdon, he showed much better than he did with O'Toole and when he becomes a little more familiar with the American style of rough boxing, is liable to make the little fellows step lively. His gameness and willingness pleased the spectators when he met Langdon, and strange to say, he was the favorite with the crowd, who cheered him every time he landed a blow. This was due to the fact that Langdon was the taller, heavier and had a big advantage in reach. To all appearances in Philadelphia are fair, and no matter how great a favorite a local man be, the visitor is always sure of a fair deal and will receive his share of applause and encouragement if he shows any ability. Bradley has a long record in England and Jack O'Brien says that while he was over there he saw him knock out at least twenty men.

Another Californian, Joe Thomas, has made good in the East. In fact, the "native sons" have a peculiar faculty of delivering the goods when they reach this part of the country. Jim Jeffries, Jim Corbett, Dal Hawkins, Joe Choynski, Sam Berger, Alex Greggains, Solly Smith, Spider Kelly, Frankie Neil, Eddie Hanlon, Aurelio Herrera, Kid McFadden and a score of others who hail from the extreme West have made good in this section. Thomas met the human punishing bag, Joe Grim, at Lew Bailey's club in Philadelphia, and while he didn't knock him out, he gave him a thorough lacing. But when Bob Fitzsimmons, Joe Walcott, Joe Gans, Jack O'Brien and others could turn the trick in six rounds it is no surprise that Thomas failed to accomplish it. Thomas made a big hit with those who saw him box by his clever, shifty work and also his clean hitting. All through the bout he displayed good generalship and made every blow count. It is barely possible that he did not put all of his force back of the blows, because he had heard about how difficult the task of knocking Grim out would be, was absolutely sure of besting the Italian after he had boxed a round with him and didn't care to take the risk of breaking his hands in view of the fact that he has several important matches in view. In the fourth and fifth rounds Thomas unwound a few wicked blows and it looked like a case of "may pie" for Grim, but the latter weathered the rounds. Taking Thomas' style and general work into consideration, he seems to be a man of considerable ability, and his next bout will be watched with no little interest by Eastern ring followers.

"We were all over in Tom Sharkey's the other night," said Sam Fitzpatrick, "dicussing ring affairs, bravery, courage, gameness and all that, when an argument arose as to whether it required more courage to go to war or to enter the ring. Nobody could decide it to the satisfaction of all present, and finally the argument shifted to the bravery of soldiers. Somebody asked Sharkey which country, in his opinion, had contributed the bravest and best soldiers to the battlefield and which country the poorest. 'Why, there is no question about it,' replied the ex-seaman. 'Ireland, by all means, has furnished the best soldiers and China the worst.' When asked for an explanation, Sharkey said: 'You see, it's this way. Before an Irishman goes into battle he says his prayers, then wades in and fights like a lion or a tiger.' 'If that is the case and prayers make a brave man,' said one of the gang, 'Why don't the Chinese say their prayers before engaging in battle?' 'Ah, what good would that do?' replied Sharkey, 'nobody would understand 'em.'"

OUTFIELDER JUDE, the Toledo recruit with the Cincinnati Reds, is already reported as being the best base runner on the team.
WITH his pitchers coming right, Clark Griffith says he does not see how he can be beaten for the American League pennant.

OWEN is the only Chicago twirler to feel the sting of defeat at the hands of the Beaneaters in every game he has pitched against them.
THE consensus of St. Louis opinion is that "McCloskey is the greatest hustling manager that ever struck St. Louis, and every fan is for him; he is a capable, hard-working, honest gentleman."
LUMLEY says the only condition on which he would go to the Tri-State would be for Williamsport to guarantee him $5,000 a year for four years, and put the entire $20,000 in bank to his order in advance.

Fetters On the Road.

The Fetters have been on the road since July 4, and will return August 5. They have played fourteen games and have won ten of them. They play at Hopkinsville to-day; at Princeton and at Jackson, Tenn., Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Sam Ramsey, the Georgia League pitcher, has joined the Fetters. The Fetters will play the Reecius when they return for the championship of the city, and if successful will go to Cincinnati and play the Weidemann team, which recently defeated Reecius. The following players are on the trip: Marmolotte, c.; Peterson, l. f.; F. Harper, first base; Crimmins, second base; Gysel, shortstop; O'Hearn, third base; O'Bannon, Fay and Ramsay, pitchers; Key, r. f.; Vance, c. f.

DEATHS DUE TO BASEBALL.

Twelve Men Killed By Pitched or Batted Balls This Season.

THE baseball season is just about half over. In the past three months twelve men have met their death as a result of the game and over twenty have been seriously injured; some fatally. This is but a partial list, gleaned from the various press dispatches from day to day. And the list of those hurt does not include the innumerable broken legs, fingers, arms and noses received every week.

The list as it stands now is almost as serious as the one flaunted by the hysterical football reformers of last fall. No doubt another list, telling of those who died from running, walking or playing tag is equally appalling.

In the Texas State League this spring an umpire had his skull crushed by players, who, protesting against his decision, lost control of themselves.

The football reformers said that any game where a man forgot his individuality and forgot everything but victory, was sure to bring harmful results. It is not on record that any player on the gridiron has yet been murdered in the pursuit of victory.

On July 4 at Cumberland, Md., players in the Pennsylvania, Ohio and Maryland League got into a fight over a decision. Eddy Sapp, a Butler second baseman, was hit over the head with two bats. A riot followed, in which many were hurt. Sapp is still in the hospital in a critical condition, and some of the crowd are still in jail.

At Bedford, Ind., July 8, a West Baden player resented the rooting by a negro and a fight followed. The negro had his head split open with a bat. He is in a serious condition.

All three fights were not on the sand lot, but in organized baseball leagues.

Some of the more noticeable deaths during the year are as follows:

John Koscielmak, a Detroit boy, was killed by receiving a batted ball on the jaw. He died in terrible agony.

Jesse Robertson, United States sailor, died of fractured skull at Norfolk, Va. He was hit with a pitched ball.

Patrick Cosgrove, Spring Valley, Ill., was spiked to death. He got in the way of a base runner.

Sam Woodward, star player of the Georgia Tech. College, died while playing in the Cotton State League. He was hit on the head by a pitched ball.

Eddie Geers, son of the famous driver, was killed by a batted ball while playing in Tennessee.

Carl Stauber, Saginaw, dropped dead from over-exertion in running bases.

A good dozen men have died from heart trouble as the result of rooting at games.

In big league company no men have been killed. The players are alert and know enough to keep out of the way of danger for the most part. However, men have been hurt.

More noticeable than the rest are the injuries of Otis Clymer and Mike Donlin, out with a broken leg. Charlie Schmidt, the Detroit catcher, with a broken ankle, and "Kid" Elberfeld, with his thigh ripped open by spikes.

Two pitchers in Pennsylvania have suffered broken arms in the same manner. They threw the ball so hard that they snapped their elbows in two.

SAYS BERGER HAS NO CHANCE

Bat Masterson Says Public Would Not Stand For Bout.

MONEY QUESTION IMPORTANT.

One Six-Round Victory Over Jack O'Brien Does Not Make a Champion.

JEFF IN HIS OWN CLASS.

"IF my present plans don't miscarry," said Sam Berger, "my next prize-ring engagement will be with the retired heavyweight champion of the world, Jim Jeffries." writes Bat Masterson in the New York Telegraph.

"Yes, I have received private assurances that the big fellow would fight me for the title in the near future, provided, of course, that I made good in the East, and, as I have made good, I expect Jeff to keep his promise.

"It has been my ambition in life to get a crack at Jeffries in the ring, and I think I am about to have that ambition gratified, and for that reason I will be compelled to turn down all challenges that may be hurled at me by ambitious pugs who aspire to wear the Jeffries crown.

"I understand perfectly well," said Mr. Berger, "that the stand I have taken will not only be assailed but ridiculed by both the press and public, but I don't care. It is Jeff or nobody with me.

"You see, it is like this," continued the late amateur heavyweight from the City of the Golden Gate, "I don't have to fight for a living, as I am a fairly rich man, having lately inherited quite a large fortune, and I expect to get a lot more as soon as some more of my relatives die, and I am only in the ring for pastime. Of course, I would like to be the heavyweight champion of the world; and, make no mistake, I will be if I ever get Jeff in the ring with me, for I really look on him now as being dead easy.

"I Know My Business."

"Certainly I know they will say that I have a lot of gall for wanting to fight Jeff, with only one six-round professional bout to my credit, and that with a man fully twenty-five pounds lighter than myself, but I can't help what they say. I know my business and I am not going to let anyone tell me what to do, either. You can bet on that."

"What about Kauffmann? Billy Delaney says he can fight and would be sure to beat you in a twenty-round battle."

"Kauffmann is all right. He is a nice fellow, and I really don't care to talk about him, but he will have to go and get a reputation before he could expect me to fight him.

"Of course, if he is still on the pugilistic map after I have disposed of Jeff, I may be induced to give him some consideration, but not before I have annexed the big Los Angeles farmer's scalp to my belt, that's sure.

"I knew you were going to spring that Rodenbach affair on me. I knew it, because I am continually hearing about that matter, and I guess I will continue to hear about it even after I have given Jeff a good trouncing. I don't see why people are always so anxious to cast up things to a fellow when they know it annoys him. I have been trying to forget that Rodenbach affair ever since it happened, but somehow or other it always keeps popping up. Well, such is the penalty of fame. I guess if I had not walloped the 'stuffin'' out of Jack O'Brien the other night I might never have heard the name of Rodenbach again."

"Supposing," he was asked, "that the grandchildren of Jack O'Brien, with several well preserved copies of the Philadelphia papers in their possession containing a description of the contest, should, in a hundred years from now, run across some of your grandchildren with a bundle of New York papers under their arms, also purporting to give an accurate account of this terrific six-round battle of last Monday night, what then?"

"Well," said Sam, "I guess the grandchildren would have to fight it out among themselves."

Take 'Em All On.

I'll tell you, Sam, what would be a good thing for you to do during the year to come. Just throw down the gauntlet to any and all of the present crop of heavies and tell them to come on, first come first served, and never mind bothering with Jeffries. Perhaps at the end of another year, if you have succeeded in trimming up the O'Briens, the Burns, the Kauffmanns and the Ruhlins, all of which you should be able to do, if you are really as good as you appear on the surface, then perhaps Jeff could be induced to abandon his bucolic mode of living long enough to convince you that you don't know any more about fighting than you do about making a match. A battle for the heavyweight championship title between Jeffries and yourself with nothing more in your pugilistic record than your recent 6-round contest with Jack O'Brien, would be regarded by the thinking public as nothing short of a bald-headed fake, and for that reason, if for no other, the retired champion could not afford to listen to you for one moment regarding a battle that would involve the title.

Another very good reason why Jeffries could not be expected to give you a battle at this time, and that is the question of money. It can be safely assumed that there is not a club manager in America that would be willing to guarantee a purse of sufficient size to induce the big fellow to go into training. Not alone to fight you, but any other member of the heavyweight brigade that is now in the business.

ARBUCKLES

GIVE THE PEOPLE WHAT THEY WANT AT THE RIGHT PRICE.

If your grocer refuses to sell Arbuckles Ariosa Coffee we will send you 10 pounds direct

Millions of homes in every section use only Arbuckles Ariosa Coffee

It is a grocery wrong to deny the public the right coffee at the right price. Tell your grocer plainly that you must have Arbuckles' ARIOSA Coffee, and if he offers you a substitute, or tries to sell you his loose scoop coffee, send directly to us. We tell you right here, in unmistakable terms, that we buy and sell more coffee than any four other concerns in the world combined, that we drink ARIOSA Coffee ourselves, with the best coffee in the world to choose from, and that ARIOSA Coffee is the greatest coffee value in the world for the money.

Isn't that straight talk? Another thing—

We are the same old firm, not a corporation or stock company, but the same old firm that introduced ARIOSA Coffee thirty-seven years ago; and the sales of ARIOSA have grown to exceed those of all the other packaged coffees in the United States combined, just because it is better coffee for the money than anybody else can sell. The flavor and wholesomeness cannot be matched in any other coffee, nor be bought under another name, or loose out of a bag, bin or tin!

Do not let yourself be deceived by any imitation, but demand the genuine, which is sold only in one-pound packages, sealed, to prevent your being deceived and given something inferior for your money and to preserve the coffee from the contamination and handling to which loose grocery store coffee is exposed.

We sell several hundred million pounds of coffee a year, and our business justifies the employment of the men most skilled in selecting, blending and roasting coffees. We can afford the best at the smallest minimum of expense, and the aroma and flavor of our skilled roast is preserved to you intact, no matter where you live, by the coating of eggs and sugar that we give the coffee after roasting. This is the original "mother's" process, patented by this firm. Were our business smaller than it is, we could not afford to give such coffee for the price.

You can buy direct from us if your grocer will not supply—that is, you can buy ARIOSA Coffee—but not furniture, nor dishes, nor other commodities. We give presents, 'tis true, but for sentiment, not for money. We will send you ten pounds of ARIOSA in a wood box from our nearest depot, transportation paid to your freight station. Price will be $1.80; you can send express or postal money order. The price fluctuates and cannot be guaranteed for any period. The $1.80 pays for both transportation and coffee—there will be nothing more to pay. The coffee will be in the original wrappers, bearing signature of Arbuckle Bros.—ten packages, ten signatures—which entitle you to presents. New book of the ninety-seven presents in colors free, if you write. Write for the book anyway, and see what beautiful and useful presents we give.
